To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers
 in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

New Year's Greetings

"The grace of Our Lord Jesus Christ and the charity of God and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with you all." This is the wish which St. Paul addressed to the Christians of Corinth (II Cor. xii, 13); it is the wish which the Fathers of the Church of the Gesu extend to all the members of the congregation as their solemn New Year's felicitations.

May God be with you with the abundance of His grace and the fullness of His love and may He infuse into your souls the richest gifts of His Holy Spirit!

May He bless you and bless your children and your homes!

May He bless your labors and all your undertakings and bring them to a successful issue in accordance with His Holy and Adorable Will!

May He be with you in prosperity and abundance, that you may not abuse the gifts of His bounty!

May He be with you in sorrow, in sickness and poverty, giving you strength and patience to bear them with resignation.

May Sin never find entrance into your hearts and may the grace of God be the brightest ornament of your souls!

A Happy New Year to all

Fathers from the Jesuit Missionary Band will conduct a Mission in this Church from Sunday, February 2nd, to Sunday, February 16th, inclusive.

In Honor of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal

Beginning in February there will be a Novena of Masses offered each month in honor of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal. The Novena of Masses will begin on the First Friday of each month and continue for nine mornings, the Mass being offered on the Altar of the Blessed Virgin at 7 o'clock each morning. Leaflets and envelopes in which to place your written intentions will be had in the rear of the Church and these intentions will be placed on the Altar during the Novena. These Holy Masses will be a fitting complement to our regular Sunday evening Novena and all are asked to make both and hand in their written intentions to be placed on the Altar.

The Card Parties

As was stated in the October Bulletin, there will be four Sectional and two General Card Parties.

The Sectional Party means that the workers will be named on the Committees from the particular Section assigned to the definite date as noted below and the tickets will be sent to all in the parish. The Section will be in charge of the Party for all the details, but the whole parish is asked to support each Party by cashing the tickets and being present at the Card Parties.

The Committee for the General Parties will be chosen from the four Sections. The tickets are thirty-five cents and we expect our parishioners to support each Card Party to benefit your church which needs your help now.

The Rev. J. Charles Davey, S.J.

On Monday, November 4, 1935, the Rev. J. Charles Davey, S.J., former President of St. Joseph's College and Rector of the Church of the Gesu, died in St. Joseph's Hospital after a short illness, at the age of sixty-six. Father Davey was born in Brooklyn, New York, on September 19, 1869, and entered the Society of Jesus on September 7, 1893. After Ordination, Father Davey was appointed the first Principal of the Brooklyn Preparatory School. Later he was assigned as Vice-President of St. Joseph's College in this city, becoming President of the College and Rector of the Church of the Gesu in 1912. At the time of his death he was engaged in Parochial duties at Old St. Joseph's, Willings Alley.

Requiescat in pace.

Gesu Boy Scouts

Troop No. 299, meets each Friday, at 7.30 P. M. in the Boy Scouts' rooms in the basement of the high school. We hope it is of interest to parents and their boys to know we are prepared at this time to increase our membership.

Any boy residing in the Parish and having reached his twelfth birthday may call at any meeting and see Father Rohleder, S.J., the Spiritual Director or Mr. Foley, the Scoutmaster. Stop around fellows, and see for yourselves how much fun you can get out of scouting.

The proceeds from the candy and chewing gum sold by the scouts at the entrance to the basketball games in the Kenny Gymnasium are for the benefit of this Parish Troop.

Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

The Gesu Alumnae Association was formally reorganized with its first meeting on Sunday, October 6, 1935. Since that day, much progress has been realized in various fields of activity.

The club room at Seventeenth and Stiles Streets has been painted, and linoleum laid and furnishings put in, but further gifts of new or used household articles: furniture, pictures, dishes, etc., will be gratefully accepted.

Basketball practice is conducted every Monday and Thursday evenings under the able supervision of Miss Eleanor McKenna as coach. Any team desiring a game with the Gesu Alumnae varsity can do so by getting in touch with Miss McKenna at 1417 N. Sixteenth Street.

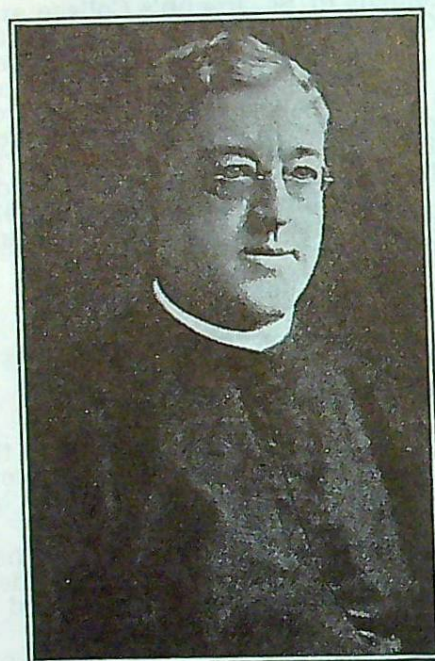

All who are graduates of the Gesu school are invited to renew old acquaintances by joining the budding organization which already has shown marked success, and which promises much enjoyment to its members. New members are requested to see Miss Harriet Mehl, or write her at 957 N. Nineteenth Street.

Feasts of the Month

The Circumcision

JANUARY 1

New Year's Day is a Holyday of Obligation. All the faithful are bound under pain of mortal sin to hear Mass on this day the same as on Sunday.

We exhort all to begin the New Year well. All can if they will. Many a life has been changed by the memory of a good resolution. Start out by hearing Mass, and, if possible, by receiving Holy Communion. Resolve to cultivate the unselfishness that is helpful in the love of our neighbor; subdue the passions that lead to sinful excesses; check the tongue, especially in profanity and impurity, and avoid bad company.

What we call "New Year's Day" because it is the first day of a new year, is in the liturgy of the Church, the feast of the Circumcision of Our Lord.

The gospel read in the Mass of this day is the shortest gospel read in any Mass throughout the year. It is taken from the holy gospel according to St. Luke (II. 1): "At that time, after eight days were accomplished that the Child should be circumcised, His name was called Jesus, which was called by the Angel before He was conceived in the womb."

For Each Day of the New Year

Do you really know what it is to thrill with the joy of doing things? Do you often experience the keen satisfaction of accomplishing some special task you have set out to do?

It's something that every one can enjoy, rich or poor, it's something no one can take from you and it's one of the most "worth while" things in all this world.

We may take wrong steps at first in our effort to make practical application of our dream, but at least we are not passive, not idle, we are doing and we'll learn to step right.

The mere effort brings pleasure, for work is the portion of all, no matter what our station, nor in what figures we count our wealth. Then, when increasing effort brings its reward, the consequent joy to the worker is one of heaven's own blessings.

The man whose picture has been hung on the line, the author whose book has been accepted and is running its 'steenth edition, the child who wins a prize at school—each has experienced the great joy of doing and envies no one. No kingly crown, no millions of money—nothing in this world can bring to the true soul quite the same thrill that such an experience brings.

This great blessing is ours, not exactly for the asking, but for the reaching for it, for the trying. Life can hold nothing much greater than this realization—this striving and striving, with its final reward. Nothing worth while comes without effort—it's just the sum total of the good work we do each day which finally brings us this intense satisfaction.

The Most Holy Name of Jesus

JANUARY 5

Our Divine Lord received His Name from His Heavenly Father. St. Paul tells us that it is a Name above all names and through it alone we are to be saved. The Name JESUS means Savior and it was given to Our Lord because He is the Savior of men.

A Name of Power

It reminds us of Him by Whom all things were made. The Word of God Who holds all things in the hollow of His Hand; the King of kings and the Lord of lords whose spiritual kingdom is of all times and all climes; the Lamb for Whom the centuries succeed one another, for Whom kings and peoples, whether willingly or unwillingly are like a staff in the hands of a traveler, or like servants under the authority of a master, servants whom He exalts and glorifies if they are faithful and whom He destroys as a vessel of clay if they dare to rebel against Him.

A Name of Love

The sweet sounds of the two syllables that make up the Name of Jesus rouse our attention and awaken our gratitude towards the Author of our salvation Who became Man to bring us near Him; Who was born in a stable; Who wept; Who was persecuted, calumniated, laden with reproaches, mocked and crucified for us; Who, to reconcile us with His Father, rose from the dead; Who ascended into Heaven where He is our Advocate and Mediator; Who, in fine, to console and strengthen us, made himself the Companion of our pilgrimage by remaining day and night on our altars.

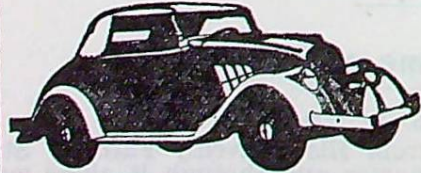

A Name of Victory

Jesus Means Savior, Conqueror, Triumpher. Man and the world had fallen into the power of the devil who strong and well armed held his prey in chains for four thousand years. And God knows the use he made of his power! The Son of God came down from heaven to drive out the usurper; and His Name reminds us of this victory. Jesus is our Savior in the fullest sense of the word.

Savior of Man in Every Respect

He saves our mind from the galling yoke of cruel, infamous, humiliating errors and superstitions. He saves our heart from the thralldom of its passions; He saves our body from the evils that oppressed it under paganism and communicates to it the germ of a glorious immortality. He saves the child, the father, the wife, society; He saves all. He prevents us from falling back into the abyss into which he had fallen. He is always our Savior and the Savior of the world. Without Him the physical world would immediately return to chaos, outraged by our crimes; without Him the intellectual world would immediately shroud itself in the darkness of error, a darkness drearier than the gloom of midnight; without Him the moral world would immediately plunge into a sea of vice and corruption as a body hastens to dissolution when quitted by the soul. The histories of people are at hand to give testimony of these truths.

Our hearts should be filled with the most perfect confidence, the most tender love, the most lively joy, and the most profound respect whenever we pronounce the Adorable Name of Jesus. It should be our first word on awakening and our last when going to rest; we should let it lie all the night long as a seal on our lips. We should invoke the Name of Jesus in temptations, dangers and afflictions. It is all powerful to gladden the soul and to put the devil to flight. We should acquire the blessed habit of using this Name often in life so that we may be filled with a holy confidence when we pronounce it for the last time in death.—Ex.

The Epiphany

The church on this day celebrates at the same time three mysteries: The adoration of the Magi, the baptism of Our Lord, and the changing of water into wine at the wedding feast of Cana. Let us pause a while at the crib of the Child God, with the princes of the East.

"When Jesus therefore was born in Bethlehem of Juda in the days of king Herod, behold there came Wise men from the East to Jerusalem saying where is he that is born king of the Jews? For we have seen His star in the East and are coming to adore Him." St. Matthew, chap. 2. The poor, the shepherds, were the first called to the crib of the child Jesus. It was only afterwards that the rich, the great, the kings were called in their turn. In this call of the Magi to the crib at Bethlehem is manifested the commencement of the vocation of the Gentiles of whom the Magi are the precursors.—This therefore is our feast. Let us consider their virtues and especially the faith of which they offer us an excellent model. A star shone in the heavens, but men either saw it not, or heeded it not, or simply regarded it as a mere natural phenomenon.

Of the whole human race only three men are found who recognize the mystery which this star announces.

Were the Magi merely learned observers of the stars, or did they know the prophecy of Balaam in which it is said "a star shall rise out of Jacob." On this question the Holy Scripture and Tradition are equally silent. Enlightened by an interior light of grace more vivid than any exterior light, they knew that the star which shone before their eyes announced to them the drawing of a new day, and the rising up of the sun of justice and of truth.

This star which God places in the heavens to announce the birth of the Incarnate Word, is according to the holy Fathers the image of the light of faith which God causes to shine in our souls. Let us then learn from the conduct of the Magi how we ought to follow this light.

They, unlike us, had not the motives to love and strengthen their faith which Jesus Christ has since granted to us—the sanctity of His life, the sublimity of His doctrine, the splendor of His miracles, the prodigy of His resurrection, the blood of millions of martyrs, the conversion of the world and the belief of nineteen centuries. Although deprived of these helps, how pure and lively was their faith!

This faith of the Magi is above all a submissive faith. It shows itself in the promptitude of their obedience. As soon as they had known the will of God they submitted without hesitation.

God has spoken, hence there was no room for doubt—we have seen His star and we have come to adore Him. This is the language of the Magi. Do we obey in this manner?

Moreover, the faith of the Magi is generous. It displays itself in the sacrifices they make. To obey God's will they sacrifice their repose, they suffer the fatigue of a long and painful journey, leave their country, their friends and their family—they sacrifice all for God.

It is thus that those who wish to be Christians truly and sincerely should like the Magi, sacrifice their inordinate inclinations for the love of God, and not, like sinners, sacrifice God to their sinful desires.

The faith of the Magi is unshaken: neither jibes nor mockery check their journey to Bethlehem. Animated by their example we must conquer human respect and despise the ideas of worldlings if we desire to be faithful to the voice of Jesus Christ.

Finally the faith of the Magi is fearless—it displays a sublime courage, overcomes all fear and boldly proclaims to Herod the truth which God has made known to them. In this pilgrimage which the Magi made to Bethlehem we see a striking conformity with our pilgrimage in life. We have with them the same end in view—it is toward God we tend—it is He whom we seek—He searches after us, and calls us as He called the Magi. He guides us by a celestial light which illumines our souls, and by the instructions of those who have the charge of teaching us. Like the Magi we shall find Him, if we seek Him with the same zeal and purity of intention.

When, O Lord, shall all nations, with those whom they govern, follow in the only path which leads to you!

LIMOUSINES TO HIRE

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

The Power of Prayer

Prayer is like a wondrous garden, blooming with a fragrance rare,
Every prayer a flower growing, in the Master's Sight so fair;
And He walks within this garden, which of all things He loves best,
For 'tis there, in prayer, His children come to Him with love to rest;
Prayer is food to make souls stronger on their journey Home to God,
It will guide us and sustain us as we daily onward plod;
It is links and chains that bind us in the bonds of sweetest love
To a God Whose Heart is yearning that we share His Home above;

Oh! the blessing of that privilege that we sinners all may share,
Quietly to go to Jesus and commune with Him in prayer;
Then He is not God or Master, but the Friend Who loves us well,
Who knows all our cares and heartaches, Who would with us always dwell;
There the sad and heavy-laden find the solace that they crave,
There the sinner, weak, disheartened, strength is given to be brave;
Prayer is like a lovely incense, rising to God's Throne on high
From the hearts of faithful children, to a God Who for them died;

Prayer will comfort, soothe, console us, when the world has been unkind,
At the Feet of Christ, the Saviour, peace and hope, through prayer, we find;
In our glad days, in our sad days, let us go to Him in prayer,
Tell Him all our joys and pleasures, all our worries and our care;
"Watch and Pray" is what He told us, and He taught us how to pray;
Ask Him to stay near us always 'til the end of life's short day;
When He calls and we must answer, when we stand in judgment there,
He will be both Friend and Father to the ones He knew in Prayer.

—William F. Sheridan.

for more than 42 years, died at his home, 524 N. 22nd St. He was a native of St. Francis Xavier's Parish and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Brien.He began studying music at the age of 10 years under David Woods, noted blind organist. He was organist at the Visitation Church at the age of 17. Two years later he assumed the position as organist of the Gesu, where he was brought by Father Theobald McNamara, S.J.

He pursued his musical studies in England at Oxford University. While in England, he frequently visited his mother's birthplace in Manchester. She was the late Agnes Marie Fern. He also studied at the U. of P. and the Musical Center, Chicago. During the World's Fair he presided at the organ in the Chicago Exposition Building. He spent one year in Boston at the Redemptorist Mission Church. He played for the last time at the 10.45 o'clock Mass on Christmas Day at the Gesu, after which he was stricken with his final illness.

REQUIESCAT IN PACE!

Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

The Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae wish to extend their appreciation to all those parishioners who have so generously donated furnishings, etc., for our Club Rooms, 18th and Thompson Sts., which are now open to all our members.

If you have not already come back to the Alumnae, why not do so at once? See Father Rohleder, S.J., or Miss Harriet Mehl. We assure you that you will enjoy it—club room, card games, basketball and socials.

Holy Name Society

At a recent meeting of the Holy Name Society of the Gesu Parish the following officers were elected: James D. Rand, President; Charles Murray, Secretary; Walter Lawler, Treasurer.

The following were named as delegates to the meetings of the Archdiocesan Union of the Holy Name Societies: James A. Murray, Frank A. McGuckin, John A. Oebbecke, Anthony Cericola, Joseph F. Monaghan, W. J. Ford. A few of the consultants were appointed: James A. Murray, J. A. Monaghan, Frank McCabe, Sr., Francis X. Murray, Walter Lawler, James D. Ramp. This number will be increased later to at least fifty and the parish will be divided into as many sections.

The Holy Name Society is making slow but sure progress, and the officers with the Spiritual Director, Rev. James I. Maguire, S.J., hope to put the Gesu branch in the first place. Accordingly they appeal to all the men of the parish to line up beneath the banner of the Holy Name in order to let the enemies of the Holy Name see that there are real men in the Gesu Parish, who are ready to die, if necessary, for their King and Captain.

There never was a time in the history of the Church when there was greater need of militant Catholics than today, when the enemies of the Church are banded together beneath the banner of Russian Communism to bring about the destruction of Christ's kingdom. Men of the Gesu Parish, let us be up and doing and attend the next Communion of the Holy Name Society on the second Sunday of February.

Gesu Girl Scouts

Six weeks ago, about 10 o'clock on a Friday night, a casual observer may have noticed what looked like a can of paint on feet emerge from the middle door on Stiles Street. Now, that same casual observer may notice a nice looking girl scout go in that same door about 7.45 on any Friday night. Let us imagine that the observer has stopped being casual and follows the girl scout. What does he see?

He sees her go down a flight of "rhythmical" steps and enter the Girl Scout Rooms.

His curiosity now gets the better of him and he asks to be shown the "apartment." Of course, the girl scout is delighted and—she begins:

"This narrow room we call our reception hall. That book-case contains our library and patrol leaders' record books. This is our zoo (china animals so don't be alarmed), and this is some of the nature work done at a recent meeting." Then the visitor is led into the next, but larger rooms, beyond the arches—the scout continues:

"This is our meeting room. We entertain our company here and play games here, too. Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Heisinger made these benches, in fact, they did all the carpenter work. The younger girls from Troop 39 made the pillows, and the older scouts from Troop 25 hemmed the curtains, table covers and bench 'skirts.'

"The third room is the kitchen and work room. We keep all our tools here and also our dishes and silver."

The rooms are painted, with very light blue ceilings, pale green walls and a rust-colored floor. Troop 25 and Troop 39 are proud of their rooms, but one and all they pause in their exultation to offer a grateful "Thank you" to Father Rohleder, S.J., Brother Stengel, S.J., and the Captain, Miss Agnes M. Sweeney, S.J.

A Bit of History

Here is a bit of history that is not often mentioned in our textbooks.

Benjamin Franklin was sent by Congress to France to intercede with the King in behalf of the colonies. He was not successful. One bright morning he was sitting in the waiting room of the King's palace for an audience, looking down-hearted and forsaken, for he had received a letter from Washington, saying:

"If France did not send over her army the cause must fail, for his troops were commencing to mutiny, and he could not raise funds to pay them; they had no rations, and their feet were on the ground, and cut and bleeding from the cold."

Franklin, looking downcast and woebegone, and revolving Washington's last official letter in his mind, was aroused from his melancholy stupor by a voice calling: "Mr. Franklin! Oh! Mr. Franklin!" He jumped to his feet and looking around he saw the Papal Nuncio, who said to him: "I have good news for you. I have just obtained consent of the King to send over a French army and navy to aid your countrymen."

Franklin, astonished, threw himself on his knees and clasped the hand of the Nuncio, kissing it over and over again. "Oh!" he exclaimed, "Rome has saved my country! America will never forget it of Rome! Convey to His Holiness the Pope my thanks for all the American people."

The Nuncio replied: "Mr. Franklin, you must thank Father Carroll, for it was he who induced the Pope to send me here in the interest of the American people. His letters in favor of your cause were laid by me before the French King and Cabinet, and success has crowned his efforts."

If any wish to learn something of the man, who next to Almighty God and Washington gave us a flag and a country, let them turn to the Catholic Cathedral in Baltimore and see his tomb. Washington himself said: "Of all the men whose influence was most potent in securing the success of the revolution, Bishop Carroll of Baltimore was the man."

In Honor of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal

Beginning in February there will be a Novena of Masses offered each month in honor of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal. The Novena of Masses will begin on the First Friday of each month and continue for nine mornings, the Mass being offered on the Altar of the Blessed Virgin at 7 o'clock each morning. Leaflets and envelopes in which to place your written intentions will be had in the rear of the Church and these intentions will be placed on the Altar during the Novena. These Holy Masses will be a fitting complement to our regular Sunday evening Novena and all are asked to make both and hand in their written intentions to be placed on the Altar.

The Card Parties

As was stated in the October Bulletin, there will be four Sectional and two General Card Parties.

The Sectional Party means that the workers will be named on the Committees from the particular Section assigned to the definite date as noted below and the tickets will be sent to all in the parish. The Section will be in charge of the Party for all the details, but the whole parish is asked to support each Party by cashing the tickets and being present at the Card Parties.

The Committee for the General Parties will be chosen from the four Sections. The tickets are thirty-five cents and we expect our parishioners to support each Card Party to benefit your church which needs your help now.

Feasts of the Month

FEAST OF THE PURIFICATION OF OUR LADY

Forty days after the birth of Christ we find the Blessed Virgin making her first formal appearance in the Temple. The mystery of the Nativity had crowned Mary as the greatest of women, whom all generations would call blessed. Yet, observe how Mary enters the Temple—in lowliness and silence.

In lowliness, because, though needing not the legal purification of the Jews, she nevertheless chooses to appear exactly as the other mothers of Israel. She puts herself above no one, she claims no exemption, makes not the slightest pretention to majesty. Because she knows that of herself she has no more than others, but owed all she had to the bounty of the Lord. And she follows out her knowledge in action. Hence, the modest little party moving into the Temple—Joseph with the Child, Mary carrying the simple offering of the poor, a pair of turtle doves. They were observed by only two persons, Simeon, the "just and devout," and Anna, the prophetess, and these would not have noticed the three, had they not been inspired by the Holy Spirit, so free was Mary from the slightest ostentation.

She came in silence. Silence and lowliness move together, but there is a silence which can mean chagrin or haughtiness or sullenness, or self-consciousness. None of these was Mary's. Her's was the silence of wonder, the Scripture tells us. She "wondered at those things that were spoken concerning Him" and she spoke no word, but was stirred to her heart's depths, that the Lord had so regarded the humble little handmaid.

Silence and lowliness! "What weak tools these," the worldly-wise will say, "to produce any lasting effect in this busy world of ours. Be silent and be forgotten, be lowly and be trampled under foot. This modern world of progress demands that we assert ourselves, advertise ourselves, that we lift ourselves above the common mass and so be seen and heard. Efficiency demands it—progress is impossible without it."

And yet, if we were asked to name the one woman in all the world whose name is a synonym for efficiency, the one woman whose presence in the world has done more for the world's uplifting than that of all other women together, if we were asked to name the one progressive woman, we must name no other than Mary, the Mother of God!

Her divine Son alone excepted, no human being has ever rivaled the work Mary has done for this world; none has every approached the inspiration she has given, the strength and the consolation and the steady courage she has filled them with this single untwinkling star of purity, shining down, with the glory of motherhood and the serene clearness of virgin womanhood, upon the sore-tried, distraught and all but hopeless hearts of man. Cast but a glance over her presence among us these past score of centuries and try to estimate what a spiritual force she has been in the lives of multitudes in every clime and time and circumstance, who have looked up and called upon her as their Mother. Even the non-Catholic heart is lifted into song at the sudden realization of what Mary means in the life of the soul.

Mother! Whose virgin bosom was uncrosted
 With the least shade of thought to sin allied;
 Woman! above all women glorified,
 Our tainted nature's solitary boast, is the cry of Wordsworth as the vision of Mary wins through the mists of prejudice; and from the welter of passion, Byron, at the thought of Mary, turned at once to prayer:

Ave Maria! o'er the earth and sea
 The loveliest hour of Heaven is worthiest thee—

Ave Maria! 'tis the hour of prayer!
Ave Maria. May our spirits dare
Look up to thine and to thy Son's above!

And silence and lowliness can produce such wonderful effects? Yes, but Mary's silence was a silence among men, not a silence toward God. Her soul was rapturous with the thought of God. "My soul," she said, "doth magnify the Lord, and my spirit hath rejoiced in God, my Savior." She had so many things to talk of with God, that she had little time for the gossip and the chatter of the world.

And Mary's lowliness was not the lowliness of apathy or idleness. "Behold the Handmaid of the Lord," she said to the Angel. A handmaid—a maid who is at the beckoning of the Lord's hand and eager to do whatever work the finger of God points out to her. And her life history proves that she was one who fulfilled difficult tasks with the perfect quiet that results from frictionless obedience to God.

Mary loved to work for God, not to talk at men. Mary went silently to her duties and did not cry out in the market place about her rights. She knew that if she attended to her duties God would see to her rights. Mary exalted the name of the Lord, and did not drag down the name of her neighbors. In all her sorrows we hear from her lips no word of bitter carping, no hint of sour criticism. Mary thought more of being close to God and at the same time never dreamed of taking the "holier than thou" attitude toward any about her.

So it is we see her in the Temple silently bearing her turtle doves, and wondering at God's goodness to her. So it is all her life long, the woman who teaches us best what progress means—the upward path to God; the one woman who tells the generations of men to hope through their sorrows, to pray in their temptation, to walk hand in hand with God through every vicissitude. And looking up to her, and loving her, and following steadily after her upon her upward, undeviating path, the generations of man shall call her blessed.

BLESSED JOHN de BRITTO FEBRUARY 4

One of the glorious Beati of the Society of Jesus is Blessed John de Britto. He labored in the Kingdom of Maravia in the East Indies, after St. Francis Xavier had opened the way for his apostolate. He endured many labors and hardships and encountered almost constant dangers. He succeeded in converting a great number of idolators, but was finally seized by the tyrant and twice put to torture. Remaining firm in the confession of the Faith, he was at last beheaded and thus won the palm of martyrdom on the 4th of February, 1693. He was beatified by Pope Pius IX.

SS. PAUL, JAMES AND JOHN FEBRUARY 5

On the fifth day of February, the Society of Jesus commemorates the glorious death at Nangasaki, in Japan, of the blessed Martyrs Paul Fiki, John de Goto, and James Kisai, native Japanese, the first members of the Society, who under Taiko-Sama, being crucified for the Faith and pierced through with lances, together with twenty-three other martyrs, fertilized by their blood the Christianity planted by the Apostle of Japan. They were beatified by Pope Urban the eighth, and canonized in 1862 by Pius IX.

BLESSED JAMES DE SALES AND WILLIAM SALTAMOUCHE FEBRUARY 7

On the seventh day of February we have the commemoration of two martyrs of the Blessed Sacrament. They were Blessed James de Sales and Blessed William Saltamouche, slain at Aubenas in France in the year of 1593 out of hatred of the faith. Falling into the hands of the heretics they were for many days tortured with hunger, thirst, and other pains, and then put to death. Father James was first shot through the body and then as he prayed for his murderers, run through the heart with a sword. William, who was a lay-brother, embracing the Father as he fell was stabbed with daggers. Both had made good preparation to deserve their crown. Father de Sales, though subject to many infirmities, labored as if in strong health. He adored the Blessed Sacrament hourly and asked for the grace of martyrdom from the King of Martyrs, the good Jesus, Whose name was ever on his lips and in his heart.

BLESSED CLAUDE de la COLOMBIERE, S.J. FEBRUARY 15

On June 16th of the year 1929, a band of pilgrims representing the League of the Sacred Heart in the United States, joined with Associates of the League from all parts of the world, to attend the ceremonies in St. Peter's at Rome, during which "the apostle of the Sacred Heart," Claude de la Colombiere, S.J., was raised to the honors of the altar.

Our readers, who have read the life of St. Margaret Mary Alacoque, the Visitation nun whom our Lord chose as His instrument to make known to the world the devotion to the Sacred Heart, will remember that he was the Jesuit Superior of the Residence at Paray-le-Monial, who guided her at the time of the great apparition of 1675 about the Feast of the Sacred Heart. Blessed Claude was born in 1641, and died on February 15, 1682. The Jesuit Fathers will celebrate his Feast each year on that date. After his death his notes of retreats were published and through them the world learned of the devotion to the Sacred Heart and of our Lord's desire to have it spread throughout the world.

Associates of the League will continue to pray to the Sacred Heart that many miracles may be granted through the intercession of Blessed Claude and that he may obtain for us the grace to be fervent lovers of the Sacred Heart and earnest in our reparation for the neglect and indifference with which our Lord meets, especially in the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist.

BLESSED DIEGO CARVALHO FEBRUARY 26

The martyrdom of Blessed Diego Carvalho is honored on the twenty-sixth of February. He was a priest of the Society of Jesus and was put to death in the Kingdom of Ozu in Japan in a most inhuman manner. He was plunged into freezing water and allowed to stay there for several hours. Then he was released for a time to test his constancy. Then he was immersed again in the icy waters and continued to endure his sufferings for twelve hours. He died at last with unshaken constancy in the confession of the Faith.

THE HOLY SEASON OF LENT ASH WEDNESDAY—FEBRUARY 26

The Retreat Master is the Holy Spirit who speaks to us through the Gospels of the Masses of the days of Lent. In these Gospels we shall find a beautiful mosaic of wholesome counsels and thoughts depicted for us individually by the divine Retreat Master, the Spirit of Holiness and the sanctifier of the hearts of men. For some of us there will be in this mosaic thoughts of death and sin and the punishment of sin, for others there will be thoughts of peace and eternal joy, for others again counsels and inspirations to consecrate ourselves to greater service and higher perfection in the court of the King and Lord of the universe.

We may divide the holy season of Lent into several stages. The first stage will be from Ash Wednesday until the Third Sunday of Lent. Here we shall find thoughts of sin and eternal punishment, serious suggestions and reflections about death and judgment. We may call this first stage the Preparation or Foundation. It would be practical at this time to make a serious and earnest confession. The second stage or division of the season of Lent begins with the third Sunday. Here we see Christ in His power, casting out the prince of devils. Christ, the King, is before us through this period and announces His doctrine and principles to us. We shall be witnesses to the wonderful miracle of the multiplication of the loaves and we shall see Christ on the very next day casting the buyers and sellers from the temple. Those of us who wish to follow this King and who wish to excel in His service must be willing to take up the cross. The third stage of the season will show us Christ, our King and Model, in His passion. This period begins with the fifth Sunday of Lent, Passion Sunday. The enemies of Christ will conspire against Him. They will plan His death, and the terrible Deicide will come to pass on Good Friday.

The holy season of Lent, then, is built up in a logical manner, and is a season of retreat for all Catholics. To derive the greatest good from this Retreat we must be generous, we must make sacrifices, we must follow the King even to Calvary.

Washington's Birthday

The twenty-second day of February is not a holy day of obligation nor even a holy day of devotion; it is a civic holiday observed in honor of him whom all patriotic Americans regard as the father of his country. There is this difference between this holiday and the holy days which we observe in honor of the saints: a difference between the world's heroes and the heroes of Christianity. The world has put the hero's garland on the brow of one, the Church has put a halo over the head of the other. We join with our fellow citizens in honoring the memory of our country's heroes and erecting statues and monuments in their honor. We are scoffed at and derided as idolators for doing the same for the heroes of Christianity. And yet, all the glory of the world's heroes, though it may shine as the splendor of the sun, as long as the world lasts, it, nevertheless, also like the splendor of the sun, will shine only while on its course, and will one day be completely enveloped in the darkness of the world's last hour. Not so with the heroes of Christianity. Their glory will outlive the wreck of the world and rise above its ruins to continue in undimmed splendor throughout undying ages.

WASHINGTON'S PRAYER

There is so much bigotry and intolerance on the one hand, and so much atheism on the other amongst the citizens of this land that we need not go far afield to find causes for the social sores that are becoming more serious every day. At a time like this it might be well for all of us to study at close range the ideals of those men who laid the foundations of our country. From their attitude towards God and their consequent conduct towards their fellows we can learn precious lessons for ourselves today.

Perhaps the soulful prayer used by George Washington will help us as much as anything else. It is as follows:

Almighty God, we make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy holy protection; that Thou wilt incline the hearts of the citizens to cultivate a spirit of subordination and obedience to government; and entertain a brother's affection and love for one another and for their fellow citizens of the United States at large. And, finally, that Thou wilt most graciously be pleased to dispose us all to do justice, to love mercy and to deport ourselves with that charity, humility and pacific temper of mind which were the characteristics of the Divine Author of our blessed religion, and without a humble imitation of whose example in these things we can never hope to be a happy nation. Grant our supplication, we beseech Thee, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

And Follow Me—

In this dim temple where the silence sings,
Where Dusk remembers the forgotten things—
The valiant, stricken like a wounded dove,
Creeps to the haven of Thy promised love.
But when he, vanquished, comes at vesper hour
Before the Tabernacle door to cower,
And cry Thy mercy on his bitter loss,
The fading light illumines but a Cross.

The altar soon becomes a blazing throne;
By thousand candles is Thy beauty shown;
White incense rises like an angel's prayer,
And glad Te Deums crowd the perfumed air.
Consoled, the suppliant lifts his eyes. Behold!
Above the monstrosity gleams a Cross of gold.

Vision entrancing is his portion then—
Bright angels bear Thee back to heaven's ken;
Ravished, he watches through the ether rise
The glory tempered to his mortal eyes.
Gone is the glamour from his earthly dress—
Thy safe, swift chariot is blood-stained Cross!

—Marie Shields Halvey, in St. Francis Home Journal.

Sanctifying the Lord's Day

We read in the life of Blessed Thomas More, the martyred Chancellor of England, that one day some one asked how it was he was so particular in his dress on Sunday, as there were so few to see him in prison; and he at once made answer: "I have always dressed myself with care on Sundays and on festivals, not to please the world or through respect for any mortal, but through respect and love for God."

This great and holy man had the right idea of Sunday as a day specially consecrated to God, a holy day, and not merely a day of rest. He was accustomed to spend it in hearing Mass, saying extra prayers, reading pious books and taking wholesome recreation. In this way he looked after both his bodily and spiritual health.

Most Catholics — and they call themselves good ones at that — are satisfied on Sundays to abstain from servile works and to hear Mass, and that Mass must be the shortest and most convenient one to be had—if possible, one without a sermon or instruction. The remainder of the day they spend in lounging about, or hunting, fishing, or other amusements with no further thought of the Lord's Day. Thus they no doubt avoid grievous sin, but what more do they do? They most assuredly do not keep holy the Day.

To such Catholics we condemn most emphatically the growing tendency towards non-observance of the Sunday, evidenced not only among the unbelieving and among Christians of other than Catholic confession, but also among Catholics. Although attendance at Low Mass is still being observed, the holiness of the Sunday is desecrated by the performance of unnecessary manual labor, by all too frequent Sunday excursions, by immoderate and extravagant amusements, and by an utter neglect of attendance at the sermon, and the afternoon or evening devotions.

"Therefore, we plead with our members most earnestly to reintroduce into their families the time-honored, praiseworthy custom of properly observing the Sunday, and to begin again to live, not according to the letter, but according to the spirit, of the commandment of God and the Church."

THE FIRST LEGION

In the New High School Auditorium, on Thursday evening, February 20th, the Cap and Bells Club of St. Joseph's College, under the direction of Mr. Arthur Behrens, will present that very remarkable play, "The First Legion." The work is from the pen of Mr. Emmet Lavery and is unique in the fact that the characters and action portray the lives of members of the Society of Jesus. Our parishioners and their friends who have known the Jesuits for so many years, will be more than pleased to see them in this drama of community life. The members of the Cap and Bells Club need no introduction or recommendation to our parishioners. We all recall their magnificent productions of "Journey's End" and "The Tavern." The current attraction, "The First Legion," will far surpass any previous efforts and hence I sincerely urge each and every parishioner and their friends to be present at this magnificent play.

The Place—New High School Auditorium, 17th and Stiles Sts.

The Play—"The First Legion."

The Date—February 20th, 1936, 8.30 P. M.

Whatever you do—don't miss it.

Principle

A Catholic lawyer was invited by some non-Catholics of wealth and prominence to dine with them on a Friday evening. He went to the dinner, ate the fish that was served as one of the courses and abstained from all the meat dishes. The next day the son of his hostess said to him: "Mr. W., I am very glad that you touched no meat last night. My mother was watching you and, if you had eaten meat, she would have lost all respect for you."

Weak-kneed Catholic men sometimes think they can win favor by concealing their religion. Even the world respects the man who is faithful to principle.

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

First the Cross and then the Crown

"Art thou weary, heavy-hearted, from the crosses thou hast borne;
Is thy soul oppressed and troubled, on thy face smiles seldom worn?
Dost thou think that I forget thee, that My Love for thee grows cold,
Thou dost little know how precious in My Sight is thy dear soul.
Of the crosses thou must carry, I shall send none like My Own,
Thou shalt never bear an anguish that My Own Heart hast not known;
I am ever watching o'er thee, filled with Love My Eyes look down,
Child, remember that there cometh First the Cross and then the Crown.

"Wouldst thou live with Me, thy Father? Wouldst thou dwell at length with God?

Then to reach Me thou must follow on the Way that I have trod;
Thou shalt find the road so thorny, it shall make thy poor heart sore,
When the world shall bruise and scourge thee, as it did thy God before;
I shall give thee strength and, with Love, heal thy wounds and near thee stay,

And, like Simon, I shall help thee bear thy cross along the way;
And My Mother, saints and martyrs, shall with love be watching down,
For in life they, too, didst carry First the Cross to wear the Crown.

Days pass quickly, time is fleeting, but Eternity ne'er ends,
And thy crown doth shine more brightly with each cross God to thee sends;
Stretched upon a cross, I gladly gave My Life for love of thee,
All I had for thee I offered; wilt thou bear thy cross for Me?
When life's journey shall be over, I shall call thee to My Throne,
And thy cross shall be thy glory when I greet thee as My Own;
Find a solace sweet in suffering, know that I am looking down,
And 'tis Love that makes Me send thee First the Cross and then the Crown."

To Our Parishioners

Dear Friends:

During the Holy Season of Lent, the season of sacrifice, we are asking you to assist our Jesuit Seminaries at Woodstock, Saint Andrews and Wernersville. The need is very urgent. Members of the Single Ladies' Sodality and the Married Ladies' Sodality have kindly volunteered to visit you personally to enroll you as members of the Jesuit Seminary Fund. Each solicitor will have a letter of identification, signed and with the seal of the Church impressed. She will present the leaflet for the enrollment of living and deceased members of each family, which explains our great need and our genuine gratitude.

I am confident that each one of you will join generously in this worthy cause to share in the spirit of sacrifice of those who are giving their lives that souls may be saved for Life Eternal.

Assuring you of the daily, prayerful appreciation of Rev. Father Provincial, Rev. Father Rector and all the members of the Gesu Community.

Faithfully in our Lord,

JOSEPH T. MURPHY, S.J.

Gesu Youngs Men's Sodality

Despite several weeks of bad weather, the Socials given by the Gesu Young Men's Sodality continue to be very successful.

Many new members have been enrolled by the Reverend Moderator of the Sodality during the last month, and the installment of new activities, which have proven to be popular, has increased the activities of the members.

Basketball also still flourishes as the Sodality defeated the St. Joseph's Hospital Doctors and Male Nurses in an inaugural of a new rivalry.

More games are in view as the Sodality makes rapid strides to regain its old prestige.

Recently the Sodality sponsored a basketball game in the Gesu Gymnasium between the Male Nurses and the Doctors of St. Joseph's Hospital. The game proved to be quite thrilling to the assembly on the side lines.

Gesu Girl Scouts

The Girl Scout activities have been progressing at a great speed. Two "Kaffee Klatches" have been held by the Girl Scouts. Preparations are being made for the Girl Scout Festival, city-wide, to be held at the end of March. Each troop is to represent a country, and the Gesu Girl Scouts have chosen Ireland. Troop 39 will dance, and Troop 25 will sing.

On Friday, February 14, a St. Valentine Party was celebrated in the Scout rooms. Brother Downey and Brother Stengel received the most Valentines.

In the last issue of the Parish Monthly Calendar, the Girl Scouts by an unfortunate oversight left out Mr. Corbin's name. However, maybe they were saving the best for the last. Troops 25 and 39 extend their sincerest thanks to Mr. Corbin for his valuable assistance in helping to fix up the rooms.

Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

Many of our members and friends gathered and had two very enjoyable Socials. There was music, dancing, eating and merry-making for all. We invite more of our friends to come and join us in a delightful evening of gaiety and laughter. Sufficient proceeds were received to purchase a much needed radio.

The Alumnae Basketball Team played on February 3 with victory over the St. Joseph Nurses. This was another evening of fun and sport together. Basketball is played on Monday and Thursday evenings of each week.

The new club rooms are proving quite popular. Active membership in the Alumnae recently has increased considerably.

Gesu Boy Scouts

Troop No. 299 has been reorganized. This was made successful through the efforts of our Spiritual Director and the officers. Many boys responded to the call for new recruits by the Spiritual Director, Rev. Charles Rohleder, S.J. This makes the outlook and future of the Troop bright.

The members of the Troop Committee are: Mr. Edw. Foley, chairman; Mr. Walter Foster, treasurer of the Committee and Troop; Mr. Wm. Ford and Mr. John Gatley. The officers of the Troop are: Mr. Frank Maule, Scoutmaster; Wm. File, Assistant Scoutmaster, James Coyle, Jr., Assistant Scoutmaster, and James Ford, Senior Patrol Leader. The Junior Leaders of the Troop are: Jose De Celio, Robert Frizell, Vincent Kerr, George Burns, Scribe, and John O'Donnell, Quartermaster.

Mr. Foley had resigned as Scoutmaster so that he could go on the Committee; he was the Troop's first Scoutmaster. He was succeeded by Mr. Maule, who was formerly Assistant Scoutmaster.

Besides the regular Boy Scout activities, the boys are putting their trophy room, situated in the basement of the Prep, into a very attractive condition.

The Card Party

As was stated in the October Bulletin, there will be four Sectional and two General Card Parties.

The Sectional Party means that the workers will be named on the Committees from the particular Section assigned to the definite date as noted below and the tickets will be sent to all in the parish. The Section will be in charge of the Party for all the details, but the whole parish is asked to support each Party by cashing the tickets and being present at the Card Parties.

The Committee for the General Parties will be chosen from the four Sections. The tickets are thirty-five cents and we expect our parishioners to support each Card Party to benefit your church which needs your help now.

Dear Parishioner:

On Tuesday, March 17, at 8.30 P. M., the Gesu Parish will present "ERIN GO BRAGH," a book of Irish Varieties. Good old Irish music, dancing and stories will be presented in good measure.

In conjunction with the Varieties, we will conduct our first theatrical amateur contest, known as the GESU - MAJOR BOWES AMATEUR HOUR. Liberal cash prizes will be awarded the winners of the contest and the judging will be by popular applause. Irish dancing will follow the entertainment.

We make a special appeal for your presence on St. Patrick's Night, first of all to do honor to Erin's great Saint. Secondly, we know that you will thoroughly enjoy the entertainment. Third, come to give encouragement to any of your friends who might be appearing in the Amateur Contest. And finally, your presence will help so much, financially, the Church of the Gesu, which, as we all know, has suffered much during the past several years due to economic conditions and removals from the parish.

It is Reverend Father Rector's wish that every family in the parish be represented at the St. Patrick's Night Entertainment. God bless you.

Sincerely in Our Lord,

(REV.) LEO O'HARE, S.J.

New Indulgences for Way of the Cross

Acta Apostolicae Sedis publishes a decree of the Sacred Penitentiary by which Pius XI abolishes the indulgences accorded heretofore for the exercises of the Way of the Cross and concedes new ones. All the faithful who, particularly in groups, make the Way of the Cross as legitimately instituted and conforming to the prescriptions of the Holy See, with sentiments of true contrition, can gain:

(1) The plenary indulgence toties quoties each time they perform this pious exercise.

(2) Another plenary indulgence if they receive Holy Communion the day they make this exercise or in the current month when they have made it ten times.

(3) A partial indulgence of ten years and ten quarantines for each station if, after having commenced the Way of the Cross, one is interrupted by a reasonable motive and cannot finish.

Feasts of the Month

BL. JOHN OGILVIE, S.J., M.
 MARCH 10

At Glasgow in 1615, died Father John Ogilvie the first of the Society of Jesus in Scotland, to suffer death for the Faith. Scarcely had he been a year on the mission, when he was betrayed by one who had been admitted to hear his Mass. Incredible were the barbarities the holy man had to endure; they were scarcely paralleled by the refined cruelty of the persecutors of the first three centuries. Condemned to death, he thanked the messenger who gave him the news and went joyfully to the gallows clearly stating that he was dying merely because he was a Catholic and a Priest.

MARCH 12

On this day the Society of Jesus offers thanks to God for the canonization of Saint Ignatius and Saint Francis Xavier by Pope Gregory the fifteenth on March 12, 1622.

THE NOVENA OF GRACE IN HONOR OF ST. FRANCIS XAVIER
 MARCH 4-12

The Novena of Grace owes its origin to St. Francis Xavier. Father Marcello Mastrilli, S.J., was at the point of death when the Saint appeared to him, bade him renew a vow he had made to go to Japan, and promised, it is said, that "all those who, from the 4th to the 12th of March included, should make a Novena in his honor and worthily receive the Sacraments of Penance and the Eucharist, on one of the nine days, might hope with entire assurance to receive from God, through his intercession, any grace they should ask for the good of their souls and the glory of God."

INDULGENCES

By a brief of the 16th of June, 1898, Leo XIII granted a Plenary Indulgence to all the faithful, who, in a church of the Society of Jesus (at any time in the year), should make a Novena in honor of St. Francis Xavier, and on one of the nine days, after confession and Communion, should visit the same church and there offer up prayers according to the usual intentions of the Pope. Those who are prevented by sickness or any other lawful reason from receiving Holy Communion during the Novena, may gain the same Indulgence by confessing and Communicating as soon as possible afterwards. The Indulgence is applicable to the souls in Purgatory.

Another Plenary Indulgence may be gained on the 12th of March, the day of the Canonization of St. Ignatius and St. Francis Xavier, on the usual conditions. Confession and Communion, and visiting a church of the Society of Jesus and praying for the intention of our Holy Father.

On the 23rd of March, 1904, our Holy Father, Pius X, granted to all the Faithful, who make this Novena of Grace, publicly or in private, the following indulgence which may be applied to Souls in Purgatory (the Indulgences cannot, however, be gained more than twice in the same year):

1. An Indulgence of 300 days to all who on any day of the Novena devoutly and with sorrow for their sins, shall say the prayer: "O most lovable and loving Saint Francis Xavier, etc." If this prayer cannot readily be had, its place may be supplied by the "Our Father," "Hail Mary" and "Glory be to the Father" (said five times).

2. A Plenary Indulgence to all, who besides making the Novena, shall within eight days of the completion of the Novena, receive the Sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist, and pray devoutly for the intentions of our Holy Father.

N. B.—The privileges granted by Pope Leo XIII, and mentioned above are not changed by these recent and generous concessions made by our Holy Father Pius X.

ST. PATRICK MARCH 17

St. Patrick is Ireland's Patron Saint, and Ireland's love for St. Patrick, now 1500 years old, is today as strong and as holy as ever. He has an abiding place in Irish hearts, his memory is going to endure as long as Ireland's fame, and that can never die. He was born in 373, somewhere outside of Ireland. Brittany, part of present-day France, is, according to most writers, the favored spot. A miracle was wrought at his very baptism. The priest called to perform the function was blind. No water was at hand. Taking the child's fingers in his own, the old priest traced the sign of the cross in the sand, and forthwith a brimming fountain arose. The child was baptized, the priest washed his eyes in the Stream of Miracle, and recovered his sight. The boy was taken captive when sixteen by a band of pirates, and sold as a slave on the west coast of Ireland. He tended his master's flocks for six long years, and put the time to good use by unbroken hours of prayer in the solitude of the hills and valleys. During this blessed period he received from Heaven a plain intimation of his future apostleship. Escaping at the age of twenty-two, he at once set about preparing himself for the priesthood. After thirty-eight years spent in prayer, penance and study, he was consecrated bishop in 432, the sixtieth year of his age. On a visit to Rome, Pope Celestine had previously commissioned him to carry the faith to Ireland, and consecrated him apostle to that wild but docile people. Then began his sixty years of missionary work, extending over the length and breadth of the island. He landed at Wicklow, on the east coast, no long journey from Dublin, and by slow stages made his way along the shore to the northernmost province of Ulster. Then he retraced his steps southward to hold that decisive meeting with the king, his Druids and bards at Tara, in the County of Meath. On his way to Tara he composed his remarkable hymn to the Holy Trinity called his Lorica or Breastplate:

"Christ with me—Christ before me,—Christ behind me,—Christ within me—Christ at my right,—Christ at my left,—Christ at the fort,—Christ in the chariot seat,—Christ in the heart of every man who thinks of me,—Christ in the mouth of every man who speaks to me,—Christ in every eye that sees me,—Christ in every ear that hears me,—I bind to myself today,—the strong virtue of an invocation of the Trinity,—the Faith of the Trinity in Unity,—the Creator of the elements."

And Tara has ever since been famous in Irish song and story. It is the birthplace of Irish faith, and the Shamrock plucked that day from its green fields to illustrate the mystery of the Trinity, the divine Three in One, has been transplanted with the listening bard's golden harp to our battle-flag, and harp and shamrock are Erin's boast, the idols of our hearts' affections, the symbols of faith's first conquest, the emblems dear to men singing in their hearts in grace to God. We thank thee, St. Patrick, for dressing religion in so sweet a guise, the three wee leaves of green that smile upon us at every step we take through Ireland, and the tuneful harp with a human tongue to talk comfort to our musical natures. No cross! Oh Catholicity in Ireland has been hanging on a cross for the last 400 years and Catholics in Ireland and Irish exiles are today silent martyrs for the faith and lovingly kiss the hand of a Father, Who for reasons known to Himself prolongs their agony.

From Tara, passage was made across the Shannon to Connaught, through Roscommon, Killala, Sligo and Mayo. On the hill of St. Patrick, near Mayo, our Saint passed 40 days in fasting and prayer, and himself spent years in Connaught, and left only to revisit the North, Touching at perary. The Kings of Munster received him most hospitably, and one of years in Munster he made ready to return to Leinster. The Saint soon found himself back again in Ulster; and after founding the Church and to a life of prayer and study and virtue. He died holily at Armagh in 493, at the advanced age of 120, and was buried in Downpatrick.

ST. JOSEPH MARCH 19

Pharaoh of old commended all Egypt to the care of our Saint's namesake, and that Joseph saved Israel from all the horrors of famine. Our St. Joseph spent his manhood's energies toiling to procure nourishment for the tender body of the Child Jesus, strengthening it for the hour of trial on Calvary and shaping it for the tabernacles on our altars. Devout clients have repeatedly experienced the rare value of St. Joseph's intercession in time especially of temporal need. Jesus obeyed him on earth as a parent, and in Heaven relationships are purified and strengthened, not annihilated or destroyed. After the Child's birth Joseph fulfilled in His regard all the offices of a fond father; and Jesus abundantly rewards every token of affection rendered His friend of friends. This father's Son is omnipotent, the world's absolute owner; and a word from His father is law to this Son. No request presented at the throne of mercy and duly endorsed by St. Joseph can fail of effect. We may not know why, we may not understand how, but whatever favor asked through St. Joseph is refused, we are better off without it. God knows why, God understands how, and that is enough.

"Honor the King's father," is an old adage, and has its practical application here. St. Joseph's rank among the Saints of God cannot be a moment doubted or disputed. In the order of sainthood he stands next to the Virgin Mother of God, his lawful spouse; and between her and the God-head no creature intervenes. We Catholics know well from our Catechism the position he fills in the Saviour's regard. Mary was really and truly the Mother of Jesus. The God-man had no human father in the full and complete sense of the word. The Holy Ghost assumed the part of father, and the birth of Jesus was from this point of view a miracle. Joseph was never more than foster-father to the Child, bearing towards Him only what relations the rich patron bears to the boy or girl he adopts. The teaching of our faith is clear in this matter, and to entertain any other opinion would be wrong, nothing short of heresy.

God calls nobody to a position of trust or honor in His kingdom without at the same time equipping him with abundant graces and means to meet its requirements. He confided to St. Joseph's keeping all that He held most sacred on earth. He commissioned St. Joseph the keeper, the guardian and the support of His two most precious treasures, a well-beloved and only begotten Son and that Son's Immaculate Mother. Our Saint's virtue, therefore, must have been of so conspicuous a kind that it attracted God's notice and fixed His attention in a singular way. God had the world to choose from; He chose St. Joseph, who therefore must have quite come up to God's ideals of a man, a husband and a father. Divine motherhood sets the Blessed Virgin Mary at the head and front of women and men. His fatherhood sets Joseph at the head and front of men.

THE ANNUNCIATION MARCH 25

The feast of Our Lady's Annunciation is on March 25.

This feast recalls the occasion on which an archangel was sent by God to a lowly maiden to communicate to her God's design but left the execution dependent on her consent.

"Lady Day" was the name by which this feast was known in countries in which the English language was spoken. In the Mass of this feast we say after Communion: "Pour forth, we beseech thee, O Lord, thy grace into our hearts, that we to whom the incarnation of Christ Thy Son, was made known by the message of an angel may by His Passion and Cross be brought to the glory of His Resurrection." How often that prayer is on our lips!

The Holy Season of Lent

This holy season may well be considered as the great retreat of the Christian world in the preparation for the Easter festivals. As Jesus fasted for forty days (Gospel of the first Sunday of Lent) and later in His public life, taught us how to die to self and to conquer sin in our souls, so now in Lent the Church teaches us how to die to sin and evil. Lent, then, is principally a time for meditation on the sufferings of our Blessed Lord. We meditate on the sufferings of Christ in order to be strengthened in our struggle against the world, the flesh and the devil. Lent is a great retreat, as we have said above. By penance and mortification by prayer and almsgiving, by denying ourselves pleasures that are legitimate, we root out what is wrong and sinful in us and we adjust our lives in accordance with the divine command and example. At the end of Lent, then, we should aim to be better in soul, purer in heart, and more faithful in our service to the Divine Master. This work of self-reformation and of purifying the evil that is in us should be finished on the night before Holy Thursday. The fast of Lent continues till noon Holy Saturday, but the Lenten season as a time of retreat is over the night before Holy Thursday.

Lent is not a time of sadness and depression. Quite the contrary, since we are closer to God during the season, the Divine Presence will bring happiness, true happiness, a foretaste of heaven to our souls.

How, then, can we keep Lent in the spirit of the Church? What practices will most conduce to make this Lent a thorough reformation of soul?

Daily Attendance at Mass, and keep in mind that the Sacrifice of the Mass is the greatest act of worship that we can offer to God. The Mass is not only for the priest in the sanctuary, it is for the faithful as well. Therefore, read about the Mass and ask the priest about it. Any priest will be glad to instruct you. Obtain a pamphlet on the Mass from the stand in the rear of the Church. Read it. If we know the Mass we will love it, and to attend Mass, then, will be a very interesting and delightful treat for us.

Holy Communion Every Day During Lent. Even at a great inconvenience to yourself, try to receive Holy Communion every day, if possible.

The Law of Fast and Abstinence. Could you perhaps do a little fasting? In the early days of the Church up to the eleventh century, Mass was celebrated at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the faithful received Holy Communion at this Mass. Only after this time did they break their fast. We do not live in those days, but could we be inspired from this example to do also a little to carry out the law of the Church in this manner? Consult your confessor about the penance you intend to take up during Lent.

The Way of the Cross will obtain for us courage and generosity to serve God as He wishes it and to purify our souls from sin and from habits of sin.

Daily Recitation of the Beads, the Sorrowful Mysteries will do us much good.

Induce the family at home to have some Spiritual Reading during the Evening Meal. Five minutes reading from the Little Lives of the Saints will soon create a thoroughly Catholic atmosphere in your home.

During Lent whatever practice you adopt, you do not fail in this one: Make a Brief Examination of Your Conscience every night and try to make a fervent act of Contrition. Examine your home, too. Is your home an ideal Catholic home?

The Lenten Mass

At the hour of death, the Masses you have heard will be your greatest consolation.

Every Mass will go with you to judgment and plead for pardon.

At every Mass you can diminish the temporal punishment due to your sins, more or less, according to your fervor.

Assisting devoutly at Mass you render to the Sacred Humanity of Our Lord the greatest homage.

He supplies for many of your negligences and omissions.

He forgives you all the venial sins which you never confessed.

The power of Satan over you is diminished.

You afford the Souls in Purgatory the greatest possible relief.

One Mass heard during your life will be of more benefit to you than many heard for you after your death.

You are preserved from many dangers and misfortunes which would otherwise have befallen you.

You shorten your Purgatory by every Mass.

Every Mass wins for you a higher degree of glory in heaven.

You receive the priest's blessing, which Our Lord ratifies in heaven.

You kneel amidst a multitude of holy angels, who are present at the Adorable Sacrifice with reverential awe.

You are blessed in your temporal goods and affairs.

When we hear Mass and offer Holy Sacrifices in honor of any particular saint or angel, thanking God for favors He bestowed on him, we afford him a great degree of honor, joy and happiness, and draw his special love and protection on us.

Every time we assist at Mass we should, besides our other intentions, offer it in honor of the saint of the day.

The priest who offers the Mass receives Holy Communion. Try to do likewise every day.

Hear Mass with Reverence

When you are attending Mass, act as one who is in the presence of God. Do not be looking around here and there, when you should be looking toward the altar. When the Consecration is taking place, kneel on both knees, not on one, or scarcely at all. When the priest adores, bow the head.

Is not the manner in which some Catholics hear Mass a reproach? Their conduct from beginning to end indicates that the Mass is a burden to them. They long to be out of the church. They cannot pay homage to God for even half an hour, and this once a week.

When we think of it, such seems almost incredible. Can it be that those for whom our Lord has given His life cannot find strength to love Him in return and pay Him the adoration He deserves? Who would think of abusing the goodness of a friend? Why abuse the goodness of God? In the Mass Christ dies again! Again His blood is poured! His side is opened!

Think of this! Hear Mass with reverence. Do not be afraid to kneel. Do not be afraid to adore. Above all things, do not rush out of the church before Mass is over. If a Catholic cannot give love to our Lord, let him at least pay Him the respect due through common courtesy.

A Way of Hearing Mass

One form of devotion at Mass consists in placing before our minds that this holy Sacrifice is a commemoration of Christ's sufferings, and of that great love which He has shown us.

Christ foresaw that if we assisted at this Sacrifice, it would be a continual memorial of what He had suffered for us, and a powerful incentive to the soul to love Him and serve Him. By mediating upon the ceremonies of Mass we are reminded of the whole passion of Christ, and are able, so to speak, to walk the way of His sufferings, as may be seen by the following: Representation in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass of the Suffering of Christ

THE PRIEST

Goes to the Altar
Commences Mass
Says the Confeitor
Goes up and kisses the Altar
Goes to the Epistle Side
Reads the Introit
Goes to the middle of the Altar and says the Kyrie Eleison
Says the Dominus Vobiscum
Reads the Epistle
Says the Munda cor meum at the Middle of the Altar
Reads the Gospel
Uncovers the Chalice
Offers bread and wine
Covers the Chalice
Washes his hands
Says the Orate Frates
Prays in a low voice
Says the Preface and Sanctus
Makes the Memento for the living
Continues to pray in a low voice
Blesses the bread and wine with the sign of the Cross
Elevates the Sacred Host
Elevates the Chalice
Prays in a low voice
Says aloud, Nobis quoque peccatoribus
Says aloud the Pater Noster
Breaks and separates the Host
Lets a small portion of the Sacred Host fall into the Chalice
Says the Agnus Dei
Administers Holy Communion
Cleanses the Chalice
Prepares the Chalice again
Says the Dominus Vobiscum
Says the last prayers
Says the last Dominus Vobiscum

CHRIST

Goes to Mount Olivet.
Begins to pray.
Falls down and sweats blood.
Is betrayed by Judas with a kiss.
Is captured, bound, and taken to Annas.
Is falsely accused by Annas and blasphemed.
Is brought to Caiphas and there three times denied by Peter.
Looks at Peter and converts him.
Is brought to Pilate.
Is taken to Herod and mocked.
Is taken back to Pilate and again mocked.
Is shamefully exposed.
Is cruelly scourged.
Is crowned with thorns.
Is declared innocent by Pilate.
Is shown to the people by Pilate, with the words, Ecce Homo.
Is mocked and spit upon.
Is kept instead of Barabbas, and condemned to crucifixion.
Carries the cross to Mount Calvary.
Meets His Mother and other pious women.
Is nailed to the cross.
Is raised on the cross.
Sheds blood from the five wounds.
Sees His afflicted Mother at the cross.
Prays on the cross for men.
Says the seven words on the cross.
Gives up His spirit and dies.
Descends into Limbo.
Is acknowledged on the cross as the Son of God by many bystanders.
Is laid in the sepulchre.
Is anointed by pious women.
Arises from the dead.
Appears to His Mother and the disciples.
Teaches for forty days.
Takes leave of His disciples and ascends to heaven.

Gives the blessing to the people Sends down the Holy Ghost.
Says the Ite Missa est and the last gospel Sends the apostles into all parts of the world to preach the gospel.

In this manner we can make Christ's passion present before our eyes and unite ourselves with the sufferings of our divine Saviour, which is the leading idea of the holy Mass. We should not fail at every representation to make short acts of love, repentance, humility, submission, and thanksgiving, to all of which this mystery incites us.

Represents Christ

The Greatest Enemy

The greatest enemy of God today is not the open persecutor, but the unfaithful Christian. The greatest enemy of the kingdom of God on earth is the man who, acknowledging allegiance to his Sovereign Master, lives an unchristian life. The Greatest enemy of God today on this earth is not the infidel, is not the blasphemer, is not the free thinker, but it is the bad Catholic—the Catholic who won't come to church on Sunday; the Catholic who won't go to Confession; the Catholic who eats meat on Friday; the Catholic who by his crimes scandalizes the non-Catholic world; the Catholic who leads a filthy life; the Catholic who disgraces his baptism and brings contempt upon the religion of Him Who redeemed him.

Our life is made up of little things. It is but once in an age that occasion is offered for doing a great deed. True greatness consists in being great in little things.

Go to Holy Communion even when you have less devotion than you would wish. You do not approach the Holy Table to sanctify God, but for God to sanctify you.—St. Bonaventure.

Childlike or Childish?

Some people find it hard to reconcile the words of St. Paul: "When I became a man, I put away the things of a child," with the words of our Lord: "Unless you become as little children, you shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven." We may answer that there is a kind of infancy of mind, heart, character, which is ignorance, thoughtlessness, instability. This is childishness, which is corrected by what the Apostle calls "putting away the things of a child." But there is also an infancy and childhood, which is very holy and noble, and perfectly consistent with increasing virility. This is the infancy of mind, heart, character, which is simplicity, docility, humility. Holding on to this is childlike. Striving to regain this when lost is to "be converted and become as little children." Of this our Lord spoke when He said, "Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, he is greater in the Kingdom of Heaven." Such simplicity and humility marked the whole life of our Lord—at the Last Supper as well as in Nazareth.

Benediction

Benediction with the Blessed Sacrament is the blessing of Our Lord in the Holy Eucharist. The Sacred Host is exposed for a short time on the altar, during which the faithful present engage in acts of adoration, praise and thanksgiving, and towards the end receive the blessing with the Blessed Sacrament.

As Jesus Christ is really present in the Sacred Host, it is He Who blesses. Attend this devotion as often as possible. The spiritual benefits are very great, as may easily be understood from the fact that you are in the presence of the Eucharistic Christ. He there awaits the homage of His children, hears their devout prayers, and gives them His blessing.

To the good, practical Catholic there is nothing so touching and consoling, so full of encouragement and strength, as this rite. There is something in it which softens the hardest sinner, which warms the coldest heart, which makes the indifferent fervent and the weak strong; something so heavenly that we always come away from this beautiful service richer in love and mercy and goodness, richer in everything that makes for heaven, than when we entered.

To be present at Benediction is like spending some time in the company of Jesus and conversing with Him. It is a moment of divine companionship, and it brings into our lives a spiritual wealth, which never could come by any other means.

Benediction

Benediction with the Blessed Sacrament is the blessing of Our Lord in the Holy Eucharist. The Sacred Host is exposed for a short time on the altar, during which the faithful present engage in acts of adoration, praise and thanksgiving, and towards the end receive the blessing with the Blessed Sacrament.

As Jesus Christ is really present in the Sacred Host, it is He Who blesses. Attend this devotion as often as possible. The spiritual benefits are very great, as may easily be understood from the fact that you are in the presence of the Eucharistic Christ. He there awaits the homage of His children, hears their devout prayers, and gives them His blessing.

To the good, practical Catholic there is nothing so touching and consoling, so full of encouragement and strength, as this rite. There is something in it which softens the hardest sinner, which warms the coldest heart, which makes the indifferent fervent and the weak strong; something so heavenly that we always come away from this beautiful service richer in love and mercy and goodness, richer in everything that makes for heaven, than when we entered.

To be present at Benediction is like spending some time in the company of Jesus and conversing with Him. It is a moment of divine companionship, and it brings into our lives a spiritual wealth, which never could come by any other means.

LIMOUSINES TO HIRE

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers
 in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

There's hope and promise in the sun that shines on Easter Morn,
It bids a world sunk deep in sin to be, with Christ, re-born;
It pleads to cut sin's shackles loose, which bring death to our soul,
It begs us rise with Christ that Morn and make His Love our goal;
Despised, rejected, tortured Christ, Thy Life's work seems in vain,
To those who stand beneath Thy Cross and watch Thy dying pain;
In other days they walked with Thee, Thy praises they didst sing,
They saw Thee raise the sick and dead, they begged Thee be their King;

They see Thee now nailed, bleeding, torn; deserted and alone,
A Man of Sorrows as they watch death claim Thee as its own;
Not one believes Thy teachings then, not one there is Thy friend,
Abandoned now by God and man, Thy Life comes to an end;
Then on the world dawns Easter Morn, and with it Angels came
To give Thee worship and adore the Risen Saviour's Name;
And for the souls of men unborn, to save whom thou hadst died,
Thy death didst close the gates of hell, and opened heaven's wide;

The world didst know on Easter Morn, Whose Blood it cruelly shed,
When Thou as God didst rise that Morn in triumph from the dead;
The grave, the Cross, the Man despised, the curses and the jeers,
Where are they as the Glorified and Risen Christ appears?
The road that led to Calvary's Hill, and paused beside the Tomb,
Thy Blood did crimson to God's Throne, to save us from sin's doom;
O, let us too rise on that Morn from death and sin, to give
Our hearts in grateful love to Thee Who died so we might live.

Alumni of the Gesu Young Men's Sodality

The Alumni of the Gesu Young Men's Sodality held their regular quarterly meeting in the Sodality rooms on Tuesday evening, March 10, 1936. The meeting was presided over by Prefect Charles H. Osborn, and review of what the Alumni had done was made and plans for the future were discussed. A committee was appointed to arrange for an entertainment to be held after Easter for the benefit of the Young Men's Sodality. Father Timothy J. Coughlin, S.J., Professor of the Social Science Evening School, St. Joseph's College, and Radio Speaker on Communism spoke on Communist Activities in the United States. And the Alumni members were treated to a most interesting and instructive talk. The aims of the Communists; the various committees they have formed and the way they preach in the shops and offices were fully explained. Though not defending the manifest evils of capitalism which must be removed if it would survive, he pointed out the true Sodalists place in combating the Communists; zealous apostles of a true cause, he urged them to be true to their ideals in helping the State and Church in fighting its Arch-enemy.

Though the attendance at the meeting was fair, we would like to see a 100 percent showing at the Communion Mass and Breakfast on the first Sunday of June. So reserve that Sunday morning now. The second issue of the Sodality's booklet "Our Gesu Sodality" was recently published.

Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

The Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae has progressed in membership and activities, and have now made a division of the group into a junior and senior section. Officers for the junior section will be announced in the next Calendar.

Arrangements are also being made for the large social event a special dance to be held after Lent in early May.

All Gesu Notre Dame graduates and our friends are urged to support this. For the proceeds will go towards helping our parish towards supplying funds which it gives for the tuition of our girls and boys in High School and College.

The Alumnae basketball team lost a game to the girls of Epiphany on February 20, on our own floor. A vast improvement in the Alumnae basketball playing has come with the advent of two paid coaches recently engaged. Practice is held every Monday and Thursday evening in the lower gym in the high school building, at 7.30. Even the members of the Girl Scout Troops would rival the Alumnae for they also have taken up basketball playing.

Gesu Parochial School

An exhibition of the perseverance of the children of the Gesu Parochial School was recently displayed in selling chances for the benefit of the school.

The loyalty of the parishioners for the worthy cause made their efforts successful, for the funds go exclusively towards defraying some heavy current expenses on the school for the 850 children.

We take this opportunity to express our gratitude. We also wish to congratulate the winners and may their good fortune remain.

Gesu Boys' Choir

Preparations are being made for the coming Holy Week Services and for Easter.

The boys are faithful in attending rehearsals: in learning the Latin words of the hymns as well as improving their sweet singing. Their work is especially appreciated now while the choir is busily engaged in learning a new Credo, and also special Hymns for the Easter Services.

Gesu Boy Scouts

The troop has now formed patrols. This is one of the first important moves in our re-organized troop. The boys that were chosen as patrol leaders are: John Gallagher, David Rumer, Edward Hinchey and Walter Coward.

The new members have been faithful in attendance at troop meetings and in aiming to pass their official tests individually and as a troop. At the present rate they will not remain mere "tenderfoots" long.

Gesu Girl Scouts

Basketball has recently been added to the various Girl Scout Activities. For a few Friday nights during January and February, the girls practiced and now Miss Leslie Perkins comes to coach the girls of troop No. 25; and her ability and experience in playing and coaching is an asset to the troops.

On March 5, the troop leaders from district 12 and 13 convened in the Gesu Girl Scout meeting rooms. All those present were delighted with the latest efforts of the Gesu Troops No's 25 and 39. (This is said with pardonable pride).

Books for the Alumni Library

St. Joseph's College Alumni Library has started a collection of books, pamphlets, and letters which are concerned with the history of the College, its activities, and members of its faculty. Recently some kind benefactor presented Reverend Father Rector with a valuable letter written by Father Barbelin, a Jesuit, whose life belongs to the early days of St. Joseph's. This letter is a very interesting addition to the growing collection of historical papers. Should the friends of St. Joseph's discover any printed matter connected with the history of the College, and be willing to part with it, Reverend Father Rector would gladly accept it for the Historical Museum of the College.

Dear Parishioner:

If you have promised to become a member of our Jesuit Seminary Fund Association or have your dear ones departed enrolled, will you kindly send your subscription fee to the Rectory on or before April 6th?

The fee is $1 a year for each name enrolled. Be sure to send in NAME and ADDRESS of donor.

Gratefully in Our Lord,

Joseph T. Murphy, S.J.

Easter Greetings

Alleluia! Reverend Father Rector and all the Fathers extend sincerest Easter Greetings to all our parishioners and friends and pray that the blessings of this Holy Season may descend upon you and yours and remain forever.

Feasts of the Month

HOLY THURSDAY

Arrived at the garden entrance Jesus makes ready for the mental and bodily struggle ahead. He is a giant exulting to run His Course, and He enters the lists practically stripped of His divinity. He is setting a lesson to weak men and tender women, and He carries with Him into the battle only what arms He has mercifully vouchsafed His creatures. His divinity is, as it were, to stand one side, and, without assuaging pain, merely keep the humanity from sinking and perishing. He is to experience terrors that never yet fell to the lot of man. The fury of hell can devise no crueler torments. He is going to pour into a cup all the accumulated wrath of God and taste its infinite bitterness. His soul is sorrowful unto death, but a divinity refuses to let it die, and it lives only to undergo the agony of a thousand deaths. All the myriad pains and insults of Passion Week are before His eyes. He feels the scourge descending. He shrinks beneath the cruel weight of the crown of thorns. The cross is on His shoulders. The nails are in His hands and feet, and the spear is opening His sacred side. But these are not His heaviest woes. His soul is a prey to consuming fear. Despair of course could never touch the heart of Christ. He is God, and despair is the inheritance of demons. But nothing prevented the sacred humanity of Christ from tasting all the bitterness resident in utter hopelessness. Nothing prevented His human nature from experiencing all the wickedness that overwhelmed Judas, when after the Master's betrayal he journeyed from the city to the field of blood with the rope of self-murder in his hands.

Your ingratitude and mine provoke in Him a crushing sense of abandonment. He sees the men, the women, and the children of ages marching in long procession to hell, deriding His cross as they pass. He counts the scattered multitudes of souls, against which His Saving Blood shall have to one day rise in judgment. He derives no solace from the hosts of the elect purchased by redemption from the earth. God the Father, with seeming cruelty, hides this vision from His eyes. Defeat, failure, despair are gnawing at His heart roots and He feels as much an object of hatred in God's eyes as if the accumulated iniquity of all time were branded on His forehead, and all Heaven were come down to look at the monster. "And being in an agony He prayed the longer." Though the heavens are as brass He yields to no discouragement. He keeps knocking, knocking, knocking. What a sublime spectacle He presents there on His knees! Sublimar than when He whipped the traffickers from the temple, sublimar than when He walked the waters and bade the waves be still, sublimer than when He stood in Thabor's glory with Moses and Elias to right and left. And the prayer He uttered has ever since been the model for souls in kindred pain, "Father, if it be possible, let this chalice pass from me; yet not my will, but thine be done." Prayer reenforced by perseverance is almighty. No such prayer ever yet went unheeded. It sometimes fails of the effect we short-sighted mortals covet. But this is another mercy of God. He sees farther than we, and He withholds the object of our folly to bless our perseverance with a surpassing gift. The Father refused to comply to the letter with His divine Son's wishes. The chalice did not pass away. He had to drink it to the dregs. But that triple prayer of resignation won to Jesus the strength needed to go through the ordeal, to tread the wine press alone and all day long, to emerge from miracles of pain the conqueror of death and hell, the Redeemer of the world. And at the last God's sorrow drew an angel down to pour courage into His fainting heart. Prayer has won another victory. After His interview with this Angel of the agony, He stands ready to run again towards suffering. He takes leave of His disciples, bidding them sleep now and take their rest. That hour of loneliness beneath the cold March morn, with the far away stars of a wintry sky, and drowsy friends in the distance, has taught the Lord Jesus that human consolation is vain, that God in Heaven is the only friend on whose everlasting love we can count. He announces the near approach of His enemies. Their hour is at hand.

GOOD FRIDAY

Compassion and pity, sympathy with Christ in His sorrows, are good gifts; and we must pray for them, encourage them, and welcome them with thanks. But there are other emotions more practical and more important, rooted in contemplation of the Passion; and we must busy ourselves mainly with these. Compassion is barren when it spends itself in mere grief. Our sorrow must finish in something more substantial than mere tears. It must push us to the heroism of activity and lift us to virtue's sublimest heights. Time is wasted and opportunities are lost, unless we rise from our study of the Passion with a deep and lasting hatred of sin, with a larger and tenderer appreciation of God's kindness, with a fuller measure of hope, with an intenser love, with a more active and burning zeal, with a greedy longing to copy into our lives every single virtue occurring everywhere in the sad history.

Sin is supremely ugly, and as such, eminently provocative of emotions of hatred. And when all has been said, it forever remains true that a God dead on the cross for a world's redemption, is the last and liveliest picture of sin's horrid enormity. Had there been no sin, there had been no redemption, no Passion, no cross, no Calvary. Christ dies no more a real physical death, and His glorified body in Heaven is secure against what pangs it knew on earth. And yet sinners, as far as in them lies, daily renew His Passion; and it is no fault of theirs, if He is not repeatedly scourged, crowned and crucified. Our sins are the nails in His hands and feet, His death is our doing; and from the heights of pity He appeals to us to slay Him no more. His thirst for men's redemption is still a loud cry in our ears, and every virtue we do is another cup of cold water to moisten His parched lips. Familiarity with the Passion is a perpetual incentive to the avoidance of sin and the multiplication of good works. Even Jews resent the imputation of complicity in the death of Christ; and Christians given to habits of sin are only a little less guilty than the Jews who crucified Christ. The Passion of Jesus Christ mirrors forth in a wondrous and unique way God's fondness for men. The multitudinous beauty scattered in thick and wild profusion over the face of creation challenges us at every step we take to ponder the kindness everywhere displayed by this Father towards His sons. To escape knowledge of God's goodness, we should have to pluck out our eyes, wall up our ears, and fall to the condition of witless corpses. And yet no gift God made us can compare in magnitude with that of Redemption accomplished on Calvary. Creation, preservation and all their attendant privileges would have known a void were the single joy of Heaven missing from the list. And because redemption purchased for us this additional blessing, redemption is the crown and consummation of God's favors.

Christian hope is founded on Christ, and His Passion crowns Christ hope's angel to men, with a message of courage to them that stand and them that fall. Every prayer we utter, whatever the nature of its beginning, middle and progress, closes always at the foot of the cross. When we address Heaven, "Per Christum Dominum Nostrum," is the unvarying peroration; and our Mother, the Church, everywhere, insists on the sacred formula. With the full measure of hope the cross puts at our disposal, we cannot in reason lose courage or grow weak in temptation, we cannot despair in defeat. The cross is guarantee that God never deserts a man in need. The cross pledges Heaven's omnipotence to mankind. God our Father, poured out His Son's blood to the last drop for our redemption, He is going to stop at no smaller sacrifice, to complete the work, and lift us finally to that Heaven purchased for us by Good Friday's wealth of sorrow. As a measure of God's love for men, the Passion of Christ is without a rival. Himself set the standard at the threshold to His agony, the Last Supper, "Greater love than this no man hath, that he lay down his life for his friend." Love's test suffers no change with change of lover. It is for us, as it was for Christ, readiness to die for our friend, and willingness, while life lasts, to bear in patient silence for His sake whatever aches, and ills, and disappointments happen our way. Let nobody deceive himself. Holiness is war of the sternest kind, blossoming full of hurts, and wounds, and sorrows. Self is our sworn foe, and it pinches to do violence to so near and dear a neighbor. But love exacts of us the sacrifice. Christ can with reason suspect our love, if it is the holiday kind that eternally seeks ease and comfort. We can ourselves with right, feel afraid and ill at ease, when crosses are infrequent, and love misses its portion of tears.

"And if Christ be not risen again, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain." I Cor. 15:14.

EASTER SUNDAY

St. Paul in this short, but vigorously expressive paragraph, bases belief in the divinity of Jesus Christ on His resurrection from the dead. All through life Christ claimed to be the Son of God. In proof of His claim He wrought stupendous miracles without number. Rather than retract a single word of all that He had said in support of His divinity, He suffered an ignominious death on the cross. Blasphemy was the crime urged against Him in Pilate's court, and His blasphemy consisted in making Himself God. To remove any doubt that might have settled on the minds of sincere searchers for the truth, three years before His death He solemnly promised to prove Himself God by rising triumphant from the grave three days after His burial. His resurrection then, was to be the supreme test of His divinity. He had raised others from the dead, the daughter of Jairus, the son of the widow of Naim, the brother of Mary and Martha. He had even invested His apostles with the same tremendous power over death. It only remained for Him to raise Himself from the dead according to promise. His mission would then be accomplished, and doubt in His Godhead would then have no excuse. If He failed to keep His word, His mission would be a failure; and the doctrine He taught would deserve no recognition. But He kept His word; and, when St. Paul wrote his letter to the Corinthians, Judea was full of witnesses willing most solemnly to swear that the self same Jesus, who had for three years preached salvation to them, arose from the dead and for forty days appeared in diverse places, to instruct His disciples and comfort His friends. Our preaching, like St. Paul's, is founded on this incontestable fact, and our preaching is not vain. Your faith is founded on the same fact, and your faith is not vain. Belief in the divinity of Christ is the test of salvation, as it is the corner-stone of religion. There can be no Christianity without Christ, the Son of the living God; and the Christianity that refuses to see God in Christ is but a refinement of Judaism. For Christians of this stamp the Messiah is not yet come. By this test we stand or we fall. And it is a lamentable fact that, though Christ died, and though Christ rose again from the dead, thousands upon thousands of men and women in our land are deluded by false teachers into the belief that by holding to a few general tenets in no way inconvenient or disagreeable to human nature, they are professing the faith Jesus Christ came to teach. These are a blind people following in the footsteps of blind leaders, and the road they keep has disaster for finish. But they are a wilfully blind people. God has in many hidden ways spoken to their hearts. He has on more than one occasion caught them idle and thrust upon them doubts, the solution of which would have long since placed them where they belong. But for reasons best known to themselves, they have disregarded the inner voice of conscience, and have summarily banished these saving doubts. The voice of conscience elicits but a feeble sound, and the noise of passion can easily reduce it to silence; but such as now do violence to conscience will find on judgment-day that its strength is the strength of God, and that it takes a merciless revenge on them that unceremoniously thrust its warnings aside. They will discover, when too late to apply a remedy, that it is fatal to begrudge God the little time and effort required to search out and find His will; that he courts death, who stolidly makes up his mind to sacrifice everything to convenience and, right or wrong, jog along the road to ruin merely because he would have to keep strange company along the road to life. These men have another code of conduct when their purses are threatened. If the document, on which their title to a certain piece of property depends, contains a clause that in some obscure way casts doubt upon their ownership, they at once enlist the services of some lawyer learned in the law, and engage him to straighten out the matter and remove the doubt. If they wake up some morning with a rack-ing pain that they feel to be a sure forerunner of some dread disease, they never count it too much of a hardship to summon the physician for advice and a prescription. But because the consequences of a mistake in the matter of religion are discernible only in the next life, and because their neighbors think none the less of them, whether they belong to the true Church of Christ or not, provided only they preserve an outward air of respectability, these eminently imprudent men never think it worth while to have their doubts cleared up in matters of faith, never take the pains to have the dread disease of heresy expelled from their souls. And yet to make a mistake in the matter of religion is to live with a flaw in one's title not to a house, or a lot, or a bank account, but to a seat in the Kingdom of God. And for him who loses his seat in Heaven, eternity has but one place left, the pit of fire God's wrath hollowed out in the bowels of the earth for rebel angels and for rebel men. And rebel men are not they alone who make open avowal of impiety and unbelief, but they too, who, endeavoring to effect a compromise between God and the world, strive to serve God without at the same time inconveniencing themselves. They are not willing to be heart and soul with Christ, and yet would take it ill to be considered part and parcel of those who are against Christ. But their conduct belies their profession, and Christ had them in mind that day He declared in unmistakable language, "He that is not with me, is against me" (St. Luke 11, 23). Christ is as much displeased with the half-hearted homage of insincere Christians as He is with the bold defiance of thorough unbelievers.

PATRONAGE OF ST. JOSEPH—APRIL 29

On April 29, the Feast of the Patronage of St. Joseph, Holy Mother Church gives additional honor to him whom the Vicar of Christ has chosen as the Patron of the Universal Church.

It is fitting that he who was chosen to be the spouse of Mary and the foster-father of Jesus should be the patron of Christ's living family today—the Holy Catholic Church. It is for us, the members of that Church, to take that patronage seriously, going to Joseph in our needs, and carrying out in our lives the example he gave in the sweet intimacy of his life with Christ.

St. Joseph is wisely chosen as a patron of a happy death, but he is likewise a patron of a happy life; for the happiness that was Joseph's in life and death may be ours if we but follow in his footsteps, imitating his humility, his chastity, his obedience and submission to the will of God.

ST. PETER CANISIUS, S.J., DOCTOR OF THE CHURCH—APRIL 27

The Universal Church celebrates on April 27 the Feast of St. Peter Canisius, canonized during the Holy Year and proclaimed at the same time Doctor of the Church.

Peter Canisius was the first German to join the Society of Jesus. He entered on May 8, 1543, less than three years after the Papal approbation of the new Order. He was at that time just twenty-two years old, having been born on May 8, 1521, at Nymwegen, in the Netherlands, a city then under German rule.

In 1540 he had received the degree of Master of Arts at Cologne and having resolved to become a priest, had bound himself by a vow of perpetual virginity. Some Jesuits having come to Cologne, Canisius heard of Blessed Peter Favre, the first companion of St. Ignatius, who was then at Mainz, and went thither to consult him on his vocation. Blessed Peter directed him in the "Spiritual exercises" of St. Ignatius, during which the young student bound himself to apply for the new Order and, if not admitted, to join any Order the Superior would point out.

After his admission, he continued his studies at Cologne and was ordained to the priesthood in 1546. So great was the reputation he acquired as a theologian, that in 1547 he was designated by Cardinal Otto von Truchsess as his representative at the Council of Trent. In September of that year he went to Rome to make his final probation under the guidance of St. Ignatius. In March, 1548, he went to Messina to teach, but God had chosen him to be "the second apostle of Germany," and so in 1549 he returned to Rome, where on September 4 he pronounced his solemn vows. On that day he was enraptured by a vision of the Sacred Heart at the tomb of the Apostles.

From Rome he was sent to Ingolstadt. On the way he received the degree of Doctor of Theology at Bologna. A year later at the age of twenty-nine he was elected rector of the university of Ingolstadt, where he taught theology, catechized and preached. In 1552 he went to the new college at Vienna to teach theology and preach. Three times, we are told, he was offered the bishopric of Vienna, which in obedience to his Jesuit vow he refused. One of the last administrative acts of the life of St. Ignatius Loyola was the appointment of Father Canisius as provincial of Germany, in June, 1556.

The special work of St. Peter Canisius was the publication of the three editions of his catechism, one intended for advanced students, a short extract for school children, and a catechism for the lower and middle grades. All three were most effective in preserving the Catholic religion in the western part of Germany and in Austria. Noteworthy also are his works on the abuses of Scripture texts by Protestant theologians, and on our Blessed Lady, but the list of his occasional writings fills many columns in the bibliography of the Society of Jesus. He labored for forty-one years before his holy death on December 21, 1597.

The Essence of Happiness

"Happiness," says one writer, "is a mosaic, composed of many smaller stones." It is little acts of kindness, the little courtesies, the disposition to be accommodating, to be helpful, to be sympathetic, to be unselfish, to be careful, not to wound the feelings, not to expose the sore spots, to be charitable of the weaknesses of others, to be considerate—these are the little things which, added up at night, are found to be the secret of a happy day. How much greater are all these than one great act of noteworthy goodness once a year! Our lives are made up of trifles; emergencies rarely occur. "Little things, unimportant events, experience so small as to scarcely leave a trace behind, make up the sum total of life." And the one great thing in life is to do a little good to every one we meet. Ready sympathy, a quick eye, and a little tact are all that is needed.

Holy Week

PALM SUNDAY

Before the Solemn High Mass, a striking ceremony occurs, to which the Church herself has always attached the deepest significance. It is the BLESSING OF THE PALMS. It begins with the antiphon: "Hosanna to the Son of David! Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord. O King of Israel! Hosanna in the highest!" For today we commemorate the triumphal entry of Our Lord into Jerusalem, when the multitudes who had come to the holy city from all parts of the world for the celebration of the Pasch, and who had heard of the miracle that Jesus wrought in raising Lazarus from the dead, went forth to meet Him bearing palm-branches in their hands, and making the air resound with their joyful acclamations.

After the antiphon, the priest, standing at the corner of the altar, prays God to multiply in the hearts of the faithful the gifts of His grace, that, as by the death of His Divine Son, we have faith and hope in the life to come, so, by His resurrection, we may one day have the happiness of attaining to it. A lesson is then read from the book of Exodus after which the deacon chants the narrative of the triumphal entry into Jerusalem as recorded in the Gospel of St. Matthew. Then the celebrant solemnly blesses the Palms, the beautiful prayers, which he sings meanwhile, setting forth in language full of unction the mysterious meaning of the ceremony, and invoking the divine blessing upon all who receive the symbolical branches, as well as upon their homes.

The PROCESSION, which follows, commemorates the journey from Bethania to Jerusalem, when Our Lord was so enthusiastically welcomed by His people. But as the procession, headed by the sub-deacon bearing the cross, is about to reenter the church, they find it closed against them. It is no longer the earthly, but the heavenly Jerusalem to which they seek admission. The voices that are heard within singing the praises of Christ, are the voices of the Angelic choirs, celebrating the entrance of Our Lord into the heavenly city, while the voices outside the church, which at every verse take up the refrain, are those of the people who have been conducting Our Lord in triumph into the earthly Jerusalem. It is only when the sub-deacon strikes the door with the staff of the cross, that it is thrown open, and the procession enters, proclaiming the praise of Him, who is our resurrection and our life. For it is only Jesus, the King of glory, who by His victorious Cross has opened to us the gates of the kingdom of heaven, thus uniting the Church militant with the Church triumphant.

The Mass, which follows the Procession, bears not a trace of the exuberant joy, which is so marked a feature of what precedes. The parts that are sung by the choir are expressive of the deepest desolation, and the history of Our Lord's Passion, which is read in advance, gives to the rest of the day that character of sacred gloom, which we are wont to associate with it.

THE OFFICE OF THE TENEBRAE

In this office, all is sad and mournful, as in a funeral service. The candles that burn in the sanctuary are of unbleached wax, the tabernacle is empty. The formulas expressive of joy and hope, with which the several parts of the divine office usually begin, are all omitted, and only the essential form is retained. Thus, and in other ways, does Holy Church seek to impress upon her children a sense of profound grief at the sufferings and death of her divine Spouse.

The name TENEBRAE, meaning darkness, refers to the hour at which Matins and Lauds should properly be recited, that is, during the night. But even where this is not the case, the name has still a special appropriateness in reference to the gradual extinction of the lights in the sanctuary, one of those on the triangle being extinguished after each psalm, and those on the altar during the singing of the canticle of Zachary. The purpose of this ceremony is to express the obscuring of the glory of the Son of God during the ignominies of the Passion, and the desertion of the Apostles and disciples, who all, leaving Him, fled away.

The single candle which is left burning at the top of the triangle, and then for a moment held upon the altar, is Christ, our Lord, who, even when suffering and dying on the Cross, remains ever the Light of the world. His light is hid for a brief space, while His body lies buried in the tomb, and hence the candle is concealed for a while behind the altar, but presently, amid the gloom that pervades the sanctuary, a confused noise is heard, and the lighted candle reappears. It is Jesus rising from the grave, after the convulsions of nature that signalized His death.

HOLY THURSDAY

What day could be more appropriate for the fulfillment of the Easter Duty than this on which we commemorate the institution of the Adorable Sacrament? Certainly no one, who has the leisure, should fail to attend Holy Mass. It is today that the unbloody Sacrifice of the new law was first offered up, and it is today that Christ gave to His Apostles that ministerial power, by which they, too, could offer the same Sacrifice, being made priests forever according to the order of Melchisedech. The Holy Eucharist, whether we consider it as a Sacrament or as a Sacrifice, was instituted on the eve of Our Lord's Passion, and we should prove ourselves strangely ungrateful if, believing what we do, we should neglect to give evidence of our faith, when the occasion would seem to call for some very special manifestation of it.

It is the REPOSITORY, where Our Lord's blessed Body is reserved, that gives to Holy Thursday a character of solemn joyousness, which is peculiarly its own, and it is with hearts full of gratitude and veneration, that the faithful hasten today to the house of God, to spend at least a few moments prostrate before their hidden Saviour. The profusion of lights and of flowers, and the other rich adornments of the holy place, bespeak the liveliness of their faith, and the depth and tenderness of their love, and the stream of worshippers that flows by in ceaseless procession the whole livelong day, is proof that in spite of the widespread indifference in matters of religion, which is so deplorable a feature of the times, there is also a strong leaven of genuine piety, and of intense personal devotion to Our Lord, which through God's blessing may be instrumental sooner or later in permeating the whole mass, and in bringing mankind back once more to the feet of Jesus Christ.

But despite its religious joyfulness, this festival is at the same time deeply tinged with sorrow. For we are on the very eve of Our Saviour's Passion, and the great gift, which is the motive of our gladness, is a gift from the hands of our dying Lord, and is bequeathed to us as a memorial of His death. That we may give free rein to our joy, and may keep with exultation the memory of this greatest of God's wondrous works, Holy Church will establish another special festival in the glad Easter time. Meanwhile, as we bow down in loving adoration before our Eucharistic Lord, we shall behold in the Blessed Sacrament a sweet reminder of Our Saviour's suffering and death. The Sacred Host that is kept in the Repository today, is the same that will be consumed tomorrow in the Mass of the Presanctified.

GOOD FRIDAY

Our one great preoccupation today should be with the all-absorbing mystery of the Passion of Our Divine Redeemer. If we are able to attend the various functions that will take place at the Gesu, with but little interruption, from morning till night, they will greatly contribute to awaken in us such sentiments as the death of Jesus should inspire. So deep is the impression made upon Holy Church today by the anniversary of the Sacrifice of Calvary, that she suspends her daily oblation, the mystic Sacrifice of the Mass, and prefers to have her children fix all their attention on the great tragedy itself, of which the Mass is but the unbloody renewal.

Almost the first feature of the morning office is the solemn chanting of the Passion, which by its dramatic character and the sorrowful tone of the music, cannot fail to produce a profound impression, and so dispose us to profit by all that follows by way of commemorating this most mournful anniversary. Then follow those wonderful prayers, which the priest offers up in the name of the Church for every class of persons, from the Sovereign Pontiff to the least of the clergy, for the faithful and for those outside the Church, not even excepting the perfidious Jews, and for the manifold needs of mankind.

Next comes the unveiling and, immediately afterwards, the Adoration of the Cross, two strikingly beautiful and most impressive ceremonies. There is no need of telling Catholics that the adoration we pay to the Cross is relative adoration, being referred, of course, to Him who for our sake died upon the Cross. The Mass, which follows, is called the Mass of the Presanctified, because the Host, which is consumed by the priest, is not consecrated at the Mass itself, but is brought to the altar from the Repository, where it has been reserved since the day before.

The Three Hours' Agony which begins at noon, is an admirable practice for uniting the hearts of the faithful with Our Divine Lord during the most solemn part of the day. This it does in a way that is at once easy and delightful, and while every feature of the devotion bears directly on the great event commemorated, there is no room for anything akin to weariness, and, along with the blessed fruit of sorrow for sin, the soul reaps much spiritual advantage in numerous other ways.

HOLY SATURDAY

Only the mournful part of today's office belongs by right to Holy Saturday, the day on which Our Lord's body lay in the sepulchre. In the first ages, it was not until the approach of daybreak on Sunday morning, that the faithful who had spent the whole night watching in the church, were privileged to assist at the Mass, which was then offered up in memory of the risen Christ. And if the hour of the Resurrection is now anticipated, and the Holy Sacrifice is joyfully and solemnly celebrated as early as Saturday morning, it is because Holy Church would give her children a foretaste of the Easter gladness.

The fire, which is blessed at the beginning of the ceremony, is struck from a flint, and it represents Jesus Christ rising from His rock-hewn sepulchre through the stone that had been rolled against it. From it the Paschal Candle, the lamps of the church, and the candles that are placed on the altar, are all lighted, the new light symbolizing the preaching of the new law of Christ, as the putting out of the lights, which preceded, signified the passing of the old dispensation.

The five grains of incense, whose blessing immediately follows that of the fire, represent the perfumes prepared by Mary Magdalene and her companions. They are inserted in the Paschal Candle in the form of a cross, and so symbolize again the five wounds. The Paschal Candle itself, whose eulogy is sung with such extraordinary solemnity by the deacon, arrayed as on a festal day, is another emblem of Our Divine Saviour, and it is for Him that the Church intends the enthusiastic praises which she lavishes upon it. Before being lit, it is a figure of Our Lord lying lifeless in the tomb; when lit, we see in it the glory of Jesus, victorious over death. It will grace the sanctuary until Ascension Day, when He, whom it symbolizes, will be taken up into heaven, and so, for a time, disappear from the sight of His beloved disciples.

FACTS OF THE RESURRECTION

The Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead is the most important fact of history. If the Resurrection is a fact, we must live by that or abide by the eternal consequences. If it is not a fact, it is the greatest fraud ever perpetrated in the world, and Christians are the most deplorable dupes conceivable. I propose to demonstrate that the Resurrection is the best established fact in all history. In presenting the proofs I shall proceed in a judicial manner, dealing only with authenticated facts and appealing solely to reason and fairness. In an article like this the demonstration must necessarily be brief. I shall first set down the outstanding facts of the Resurrection. Let me preface my procedure by stating that the Gospel narrative which records the Resurrection is the best authenticated document of history. The ripest scholarship, after the severest scrutiny, has pronounced the Gospels genuine history. Even the enemies of Christianity, who set out to invalidate the Gospel narrative, have ended by declaring that it is absolutely genuine and authentic. (Harnack, "Nature of Christianity," p. 11.)

Taking for granted, therefore, the truth of the Gospel record, Father Martin Scott, S.J., summarizes:

Fifteen Outstanding Facts

1. The Resurrection was foretold by Christ.
2. The Jews knew He foretold it.
3. They took every precaution in regard to it.
4. Christ's death was officially certified by the Roman Governor.
5. A guard of Roman soldiers were on duty at the tomb.
6. The Roman guard testified to the Resurrection.
7. The Jewish leaders paid hush money to the Roman guard, thus silencing them.
8. The Resurrection was proclaimed in the very city where Christ was crucified, and to the people who put Him to death.
9. On the first proclamation, 3,000 joined the Standard of the Crucified and Risen Christ.
10. The Apostles were transformed by the Resurrection and its consequences.
11. They made the Resurrection the basis of their Christian Mission.
12. The Jews never denied the Resurrection, but forbade its proclamation.
13. Paul, the bitterest opponent of the Resurrection, became its greatest champion.
14. The Risen Christ became the dominant factor in the history of civilization, the world beginning a new era dating from Him.
15. The conversion of the Roman Empire was due fundamentally to the fact of the Resurrection.

These are the great outstanding facts of the Resurrection. No cause in all history has such a convincing array of evidence.

The Resurrection is the most vital fact in the history of the world.

The Resurrection is not an isolated fact of history. It concerns us personally. The conquests of Alexander may or may not be a fact. It matters not to us. The assassination of Caesar may or may not be a fact. It does not affect us. But the Resurrection is a fact which intimately concerns you and me. Christ did not come into this world for Himself, but for us. He left Heaven and became man in order to enable mankind to partake of divinity. The Resurrection is Christ's pledge that we may become sharers of His eternal and divine blessedness. It is His pledge that we may be incorporated into the family divine. "To as many as receive Him, He gives the power to become the children of God" (John 1, 12).

The Resurrection, therefore, has a vital bearing on our life. It is the guarantee of our Resurrection. The Christian man has it in his power to make a success out of life, no matter what its eventualities may be here. For if life, no matter how great a failure, terminates in a glorious immortality, it becomes an eternal success. On the other hand, if we have all success in this life and lose everlasting life, the greatest worldly success is an eternal failure. The Resurrection is, therefore, the most important fact of all history.

EASTER SUNDAY

O blessed day of the Resurrection, which of old time was called the Queen of Festivals, and raised among Christians an eager, nay contentious, diligence duly to honor it! Blessed day, once only passed in sorrow, when the Lord actually rose, and the disciples believed not; but ever since a day of joy to the faith and love of the Church! In ancient times Christians all over the world began it with a morning salutation. Each man said to his neighbor: "Christ is risen;" and his neighbor answered him: "Christ is risen indeed, and hath appeared unto Simon." Even to Simon, the coward disciple, who denied Him thrice, Christ is risen; even to us who at our baptism vowed to obey Him, and have yet so often denied Him better men, so often taken part with sin, and followed the world when Christ called us another way. "Christ is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon!"—to Simon Peter, the favored Apostle, on whom the Church is built, Christ has appeared. He has appeared to His Holy Church first of all, and in the Church He dispenses Blessings, such as the world knows not of. Blessed are they if they knew their blessedness, who are allowed, as we are, week after week, and festival after festival, to seek and find in that Holy Church the Saviour of their souls! Blessed are they beyond language or thought to whom it is given to receive those tokens of His love, which cannot otherwise be gained by man, the pledges and means of His special Presence, in the Sacrament of His Supper; who are allowed to eat and drink the Food of immortality, and receive life from the bleeding side of the Son of God! Alas! by what strange coldness of heart, or perverse wickedness, is it that any one called Christian keeps away from that Holy Table?—Cardinal Newman.

Brother Anselm's Chaplet

The recent discovery of an unknown opera by Gluck recalls an interesting story of him which has been told a thousand times; however, it will bear retelling as many more.

Gluck was a pale, delicate boy. His parents were very poor, and they begged the priest of the cathedral in Vienna, where they lived, to let their son sing in the choir. His voice was so pure and beautiful that the throngs that filled the great edifice listened with the greatest delight.

Gluck grew in piety as well as in art, and the melody of the organ often moved him to tears. One day after he had sung an anthem in honor of Our Lady, with more than his usual fervor, an old Brother came up to him and took him in his arms and pressed him to his heart.

"My son," said the man, "you have just made me shed the most delightful tears of my whole life. I have nothing to give you as a token of my admiration excepting this chaplet. Take it and keep it in memory of Brother Anselm. Tell these beads every day; and if you are faithful to this habit, you will be as dear to Almighty God as you will be great among men."

Gluck was much moved, and he promised to obey the Brother's request.

Later, a celebrated choir-master took the boy to Italy, where he was to complete his musical education. He made rapid progress in his art, but he always remained faithful to his religious practices. In the midst of the gayety of the court of Vienna, the illustrious musician and composer would often slip away to tell his beads in solitude. When, after a life full of earthly glory, death came to him, it found him ready; and at the last he clasped the poor but precious chaplet given him in his boyhood by good, old Brother Anselm.

Rockne Made a Catholic by Good Example

Knute Rockne told 1,200 laymen who made a retreat at Notre Dame (near South Bend, Indiana), that it was the good example of his players that made him a Catholic. Here, in brief, is the way Rockne told the story:

"I used to be impressed deeply at the sight of my players receiving Communion every morning, and finally I made it a point of going to Mass with them on the morning of a game. I realized that it appeared more or less incongruous, when we arrived in town for a game, for the general public to see my boys rushing off to church as soon as they got off the train, while the coach rode to the hotel and took his ease. So, for the sake of appearances, if nothing else, I made it a point to go to church with the boys on the morning of a game.

One night before a big game in the East, I was nervous and worried about the outcome of the game the next day and was unable to sleep. I tossed and rolled about the bed, and finally decided that I'd get up and dress, then go down to the lobby and sit in a chair alone with my thoughts. It must have been two or three o'clock in the morning when I arrived in the deserted lobby, so I took a chair and tried to get that football game off my mind by engaging some bell-boys in conversation. Along about 5 or 6 o'clock in the morning I started pacing the lobby of the hotel, when suddenly I ran into two of my own players hurrying out. I asked them where they were going at such an hour, although I had a good idea. Then I retired to a chair in the corner of the lobby where I couldn't be seen, but where I could see everyone who went in or out of the door. Within the next few minutes, my players kept hurrying out of the door in pairs and groups, and finally when they were all about gone I got over near the door so I could question the next player who came along. In a minute or two, the last of the squad hurried out of the elevator and made for the door. I stopped them and asked them if they, too, were going to Mass, and they replied that they were. I decided to go along with them. Although they probably didn't realize it, these youngsters were making a powerful impression on me with their piety and devotion, and when I saw all of them walking up to the Communion rail to receive, and realized the several hours' sleep they had sacrificed in order to do this, I understood for the first time what a powerful ally their religion was to those boys in their work on the football field. This is when I really began to see the light; to know what was missing in my life, and, later on, I had the great pleasure of being able to join my boys at the Communion rail."

Tranquillity of Temper

Who does not love a tranquil heart, a sweet-tempered, balanced life? It does not matter whether it rains or shines, or what misfortunes come to those possessing these blessings, for they are always sweet, serene and calm.

That exquisite poise of character which we call serenity is the last lesson of culture; it is the flowering of life, the fruitage of the soul.

It is as precious as wisdom, more to be desired than gold—yea, than even fine gold. How contemptible mere money-wealth looks in comparison with a serene life—a life which dwells in the ocean, as it were, of truth, beneath the waves, beyond the reach of tempests, in the eternal calm!

How many people we know who sour their lives, who ruin all that is sweet and beautiful by explosive tempers, who destroy their poise of character by making bad blood! In fact, it is a question whether the great majority of people do not ruin their lives and mar their happiness by lack of self-control. How few people we meet in life who are well balanced, who have that exquisite poise which is characteristic of the finished character!

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

For These Things Mothers Live

From cradle days until God, calls, she is our hope, our guide,
She understands and never fails when once we reach her side;
She lights our lives with her dear smile, she eases hurts men give,
We see God smiling through her love—for these things Mothers live;
She teaches baby lips to pray, their ears to know the truth,
She gives us heaven here on earth in golden years of youth;
Though it be failure or success the passing years doth give,
She loves her boy and girl the same—for these things Mothers live;

She nurses us through childhood ills, she dries our baby tears,
She wants her children brave and kind and decent through the years;
When men desert and turn from us, her faith and love she gives,
So we may know she still believes—for these things Mothers live;
In joy or sorrow she is there, to take us by the hand,
And have her eyes, her heart, her tongue, tell us she understands;
She toils unceasing through the years and counts it joy to give,
She asks for nothing but our love—for these things Mothers live;

And when her earthly work is done, and from her we must part,
She begs us keep a place for her enshrined within our heart;
And from her home, quite near God's Throne, she pleads with Him to give His Blessing to her children dear—for these things Mothers live;
Beyond the grave her love goes on, our daily fight she sees,
Her soul rejoices when we prove the child she wants us be,
All through our days she begs of God a home near her to give Her boy and girl in heaven where all Mothers with God live.

WILLIAM F. SHERIDAN.

Gesu Girl Scouts

Now that spring has come, the Gesu Girl Scouts are getting "back to nature." On March 28, Troops 25 and 39 went on a supper hike to "Sherwood Forest," the Girl Scout day camp at Torresdale. The Scouts left school at 10 o'clock. During the day they did nature work about trees, birds and rocks, and cooked supper.

Once a month the Girl Scouts go up to the Missionary Cenacle of the Missionary Servants of the Most Blessed Trinity at Holmesburg. There they "do their part" for the missions by arranging medals, holy pictures and toys for the missions in the South and Puerto Rico.

Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

Plans are nearly complete for the benefit dance to be given by the Alumnae on Friday evening, May 8. It will be held in St. Joseph's College Auditorium, 17th and Stiles Sts. The proceeds are to pay the tuition of the parish's high school students.

The junior club room, in the basement of the high school building, is being renovated by the members and will soon be ready for use.

The Junior basketball team twice defeated the Immaculate Conception team, once on their opponent's floor and once on their own. The Alumnae lost to Incarnation.

The Senior basketball squad is holding practice in the lower gym every Tuesday evening.

The Juniors and Seniors are each resuming their very enjoyable Socials each week.

Streets, and Sodality Rooms, 17th & Stiles Streets.

From all walks of life, men who were members of the Young Men's Sodality of the Gesu Church, in their youth, will gather on May 27, for a musicale and dance which will be held in St. Joseph's Hall, Seventeenth and Stiles Streets.

The Young Men's Sodality was founded by the Rev. Theobald Matthew McNamara, S.J., in 1892 with the young men of the Gesu parish constituting the entire membership. He was Moderator from 1892 to 1899 and from 1906 to 1913. Within a short time after its organization the Sodality became one of the largest religious associations in the city. The present Moderator is the Rev. Chas. H. Rohleder, S.J.

As its members grew older many of them became successful business men and many moved out of the parish and to other religious interests.

Meanwhile the priests of the parish continued the Sodality among the young men of the parish. Club rooms were established where the members could meet every night.

Recently a group of the older members, who long since have become members of the Young Men's Sodality Alumni Association held a meeting for the purpose of deciding upon the best method of raising funds to continue the activities of the Sodality. It was decided to hold a musicale and dance on May 27th.

The following committees were appointed: Contact Committee, Joseph A. Brady and James I. Farrell; Orchestra Committee, Joseph A. Brady, Thomas McPhillip and John A. O'Brien; Vocal Music Committee, William A. Kohl, Michael Quinn and Stephen P. Whelan. Tom Daly, a famed philosopher, poet and columnist of the Evening Bulletin, will be master of ceremonies.

Feasts of the Month

ST. FRANCIS JEROME, S.J.—MAY 11

Saint Francis was born at Grottaglie, near Taranto in Italy, and entered the Society of Jesus while already a priest. In place of the Mission of Japan so ardently desired by him, his Superiors assigned the Province of Naples for his mission field. Though frail in constitution, it is incredible how much he did and suffered for the glory of God. He waged incessant war against his own body by penances and fasts. He used to preach several times a day in the public squares, in the barracks and in the prisons, touching the most hardened hearts and often receiving assistance from on high with the gift of miracles and prophecy. He was assiduous in attending on the sick and dying, in reconciling enemies and caring for the poor in their misery. He was the great promoter of monthly Communion. He conducted numerous Retreats for the clergy, for religious men and women. He died in the Professed House at Naples in 1716, a true model of the Apostolic laborer.

ST. ROBERT BELLARMINE, S.J.—MAY 13 Archbishop, Cardinal and Doctor of the Church

Robert Francis Bellarmine was born in Montepulciano, Tuscany, on October 4, 1542. When eighteen he joined the Society of Jesus and after his philosophical and theological studies, he taught theology in Louvain and Rome, where he was the first to occupy the newly founded chair of Catholic Apologetics. In 1599 in spite of all his tears and entreaties to the contrary he was made Cardinal by Clement VIII, and in 1602 was consecrated Archbishop of Capua. Three years after the new Pope asked the saintly Cardinal to stay in Rome to assist in the general government of the Church. The last years of his life were as strenuous and as crowded as all the rest. The only holiday he loved to enjoy was a month's Retreat in the summer at the Novitiate of the Society of Jesus. And from the Novitiate, to which he was finally allowed to retire in August, 1621, he went to his reward in the following month, September 17, feast of the Stigmata of St. Francis of Assisi, to whom he was particularly devoted.

Cardinal Bellarmine was one of the greatest and most learned men of his time. His books on Catholic Apologetics proved such a powerful vindication of the Faith, that Queen Elizabeth forbade her subjects, under pain of death, to keep any of them. Benedict XIV named Bellarmine "the hammer of heretics," and Benedict XV said he was "the model of defenders of the faith." But he was a great saint as well, living a life of ceaseless labor and uninterrupted union with God.

BLESSED ANDREW BOBOLA, S.J.—MAY 21

Blessed Andrew Bobola, born of an illustrious Polish family in 1590, died a glorious death at Janow in Poland. He was called the Apostle of Lithuania from his indefatigable labors in that province. His success in converting schismatics drew upon him the rage of those high in authority, who endeavored in every manner to hinder his work. On May 16, 1657, he was seized by two Cossacks and severely beaten, burned and flayed alive. The Martyr was beatified by Pope Pius IX in 1853.

BLESSED JOHN BAPTIST MACHADO, S.J., AND COMP.—MAY 22.

Blessed John Baptist Machado of Tavora, priest, Leo Tanaca, Mathias of Arima, and Simon Quiota, catechists, were beheaded for the Faith at Omura, in 1617. Father John, though barely thirty-seven years of age at the time of his capture, had already worked for eight years in the mission of Meaco. From his prison he wrote to his Superiors: "Now it seems to me I begin to be truly of the Society of Jesus." On coming to know the day of his death by revelation, he sang the Tedeum and declared to his companion, Father Peter of the Ascension, a Franciscan, that the three happiest days of his life had been—"that of his admission into the Society, that of his entrance into prison, and this of the news of such a happy death." They died together in sentiments of lively joy. Leo, the young seminarist, who might, if he pleased, have escaped by flight, suffered martyrdom a few days after them. Blessed John was the first Jesuit Martyr of Japan to be beatified by Pius IX.

OUR LADY OF THE WAYSIDE—MAY 24

Our Lady of the Wayside (della Strada) is the title of a very devout picture of Our Lady that adorned one of the churches of Rome, in which Saint Ignatius and his first companions used to assemble when they first came to the Eternal City. The picture is now venerated in one of the chapels of the Gesu in Rome, the magnificent church erected on the same spot by the family of the Farnese. Countless favors have been bestowed by Our Lady on her clients invoking her under this title.

THE ASCENSION OF OUR LORD

In the discourse which our Divine Savior addressed to His disciples immediately before His Passion, He alluded to the sorrow that filled their hearts, on hearing from Him of His approaching departure. And yet, had they been altogether unselfish in their attachment to Him, they would have found in it reason for rejoicing. "If you loved me, you would indeed be glad, because I go to the Father." Their momentary loss was the Master's great gain. For now He was about to receive from the Father, as the recompense of His labors and His death, that glory which was His rightful inheritance as the Son of God, and which He in fact enjoyed in the Father's bosom before the world was made. And not only was His going gain for Him, but it was to turn immensely to the advantage of all who loved Him. "For," said He, "if I go not, the Paraclete will not come to you; but if I go, I will send Him to you." It was to be more beneficial to the disciples to have the Holy Spirit invisibly present with them, refining and enkindling their hearts, than to continue to enjoy the sensible presence of Jesus.

It would seem that Jesus, as He led the disciples out to Bethania, to the Mount of Olives, on the day itself of His Ascension into Heaven, must have spoken to them words of similar import, and this would help to account for what the Evangelist tells us, that after losing their best and dearest friend and most cherished Master, they, nevertheless, went back to Jerusalem with great joy. If we could cultivate a like unselfish joy, contemplating our Savior's glory in this closing scene of His earthly sojourn, and giving our hearts up to a holy gladness, unmindful of our own little miseries, it would indeed be a precious fruit of so glorious a festival, being pure love of Christ, untainted with love of self.

Thirty-sixth Annual Report

OF THE

GESU CHURCH DEBT ASSOCIATION

THIS Association was organized in February, 1900, by the Rev. Wm. F. Clark, S.J. It has for its object the payment of the annual interest on our heavy Church Debt, and the gradual reduction of the principal itself. The good results looked forward to are being gradually accomplished year after year.

During the year March 1, 1935, to February 29, 1936, as appears from our report, the very generous amount of $3,612.85 was contributed, which is an evidence of the devotion and generosity of our people, for which we are sincerely grateful.

Our heartfelt thanks are especially due to the Solicitors, who, week after week, cheerfully go their rounds, undaunted either by the inclemency of the weather or the many other inconveniences of their self-imposed work of zeal.

We ask for our Solicitors a continuance of good will and generosity on the part of our contributors. The work is the work of God, and God, Who loves the cheerful giver, will not fail to bless and sanctify every home in which they are cordially and cheerfully received.

* * * *

With a sense of real loss, this Association records the death of one of its faithful solicitors—Joanna M. V. Godfrey—July 23rd, 1935. Eternal rest grant unto her, O Lord.—E. C. H.

Thinking there is little difference among funeral directors, some people do not make a careful comparison of the facilities they offer. Many learn, when it is too late, that a vast difference does exist—both in costs and services rendered. We would be delighted to give you any information you might desire regarding our services.

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

Moment Divine

O, Moment Divine, O, Love Unsurpassed, as Jesus doth enter my heart,
The Saviour of men leaves heaven, His Home, to form of my body a part;
The God of the world, Who made earth and men, Whose praises all heaven doth sing,
Doth come to me when the Host I receive, His Love and His Blessings to bring:
Oh, what have I done to merit such Love—my soul has been scarlet with sin,
Yet Jesus, my God, doth eagerly yearn my heart to rest ever within;
The Jesus Who came that first Christmas Morn, in squalor of Bethlehem's Cave,
The Child Mary bore, Who came down to earth, His sin-laden creatures to save;

The Jesus Who lived unknown to the world in Nazareth's peaceful sweet Home,
Guarded by Joseph and Mary's dear Love to wait for His Hour, alone;
The Jesus Who preached on Galilee's shore, and spoke of forgiveness and Love,
Who told men of God and begged them to reach the Home He prepared them above;
The Jesus Who in Gethsemane sought the Will of His Father on high,
By Judas betrayed, deserted by friends, led forth then by bandits to die;
The Crucified Christ of Calvary's Hill, Whose Life He so gladly didst give,
To rescue from hell the souls of mankind, so with Him they might always live;

This is the Jesus I greet in my heart, Who comes at that Moment Divine,
The hand of the priest doth place on my tongue Christ Jesus, my God, to be mine;
Him Whom the angels and saints bow before, the God Whom we go to in prayer,
Reposes within and makes of my heart a heaven because He dwells there;
Then heaven is mine, for heaven but means to live where Christ Jesus doth reign,
So when I have Him alone in my heart, I have all things heaven contains;
Jesus, forever my soul make Thy Home, forever my heart claim as Thine,
And fill me with love for Thee as I kneel to greet at that Moment Divine.

Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

On Friday evening, May 8, the dance was given in the High School Auditorium under the auspices of the Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae Association was very successful. All agreed that the members of the Alumnae and their guests had a most enjoyable evening. The proceeds were applied to the tuition fees of boys and girls living in the Gesu Parish who are students at the diocesan high schools.

Congratulations on the success of the affair are due the high school students and Alumnae who worked so hard to see the tickets, and to the members of the committee who decorated the auditorium so tastefully, and to all others who did so much to make the affair a social success, and to a fair extent a financial success.

The basketball season closed with a flourish by the Alumnae team breaking the tie in the series of games, in the St. Joseph's High School Gym and abroad, by a victory over the girls of the Holy Name Church, in the opponents gym.

After the game, the team and guests were tendered a warm farewell with refreshments and a large fancy cake decorated with the word "Gesu" in the Alumnae colors.

The girls have been busy putting the finishing touches to their beautiful new Alumnae rooms in the basement of the Prep and to the Senior Alumnae rooms in the girls' grades schools. The socials will continue to be held there. The girls can be proud of their activities during the first year of their reorganization.

Feasts of the Month

PENTECOST SUNDAY—MAY 31

With this great festival the ecclesiastical year reaches its climax. At Easter we celebrated the glorious Resurrection; May 31—we keep the festival of Pentecost, which is the crown and perfection of the work of redemption. Christ arose from the dead. He ascended to heaven to receive His reward, and today He completes the work He came to do by sending the Holy Ghost to His Apostles and to His Church.

In truth, the festival of the Christian Pentecost is the Birthday of the Church. On this day it received its life and inward strength; this life and soul, the very Spirit of God, prompted St. Peter to preach to those Jews whom he feared only a few hours before, this Holy Spirit strengthened the Apostles and heroic martyrs of the early Church so that they willingly gave their life's blood for the love of Christ; this Holy Spirit has extended the Church to all lands, to the mission lands of the East and West, and North and South; this Holy Spirit has protected the Church for centuries that today it stands for the same eternal principles of truth and purity and sinlessness, the same principles and truths which it received from its Founder, Christ, our Lord. This Holy Spirit will be with the Church, will be its life and soul, even to the end of time, when legions of faithful souls will be gathered around the King of kings to enter into the joys of eternal life.

Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, June 3, 5 and 6, are Ember Days and are days of fast and abstinence.

Sunday, June 7, Trinity Sunday—The close of the Paschal Season, within which period every Catholic is obliged, under penalty of serious sin, to receive Holy Communion. Those who have not yet made their Easter Duty must do so now. Trinity Sunday marks the limit of time prescribed by the Church. The names of invalids and old people who cannot leave the house should be left at the Rectory.

Thursday, June 11, Feast of Corpus Christi—This is a day of special devotion—the feast of the Blessed Sacrament. All should try to receive Holy Communion on this day.

Friday, June 19, Feast of the Sacred Heart—Our Holy Father grants to all the faithful who, with devout and contrite heart, honor the Sacred Heart during the month of June, publicly or privately, and pray for the Pope's intention, an indulgence of seven years and seven quarantines; and the winters he passed in country missions, traveling from place to place in indulgence is granted. Indulgence is applicable to the Souls in Purgatory.

CORPUS CHRISTI—JUNE 11

The feast of Corpus Christi was not established until the middle of the thirteenth century, yet it at once took its place with the four great solemnities of the Christian year. In the case of this feast, as in that of the devotion to the Sacred Heart, God was pleased to make use for its institution of what might seem to men to be but a feeble instrument. As our Lord chose St. Margaret Mary to spread and promote the devotion to His adorable Heart, and to secure the institution of a feast in its honor, so in His providence the Solemnity of Corpus Christi was to owe its establishment chiefly to the courage and the piety of another lowly and persecuted nun.

St. Juliana of Cornillon, near Liege, was the saintly virgin whom our Lord first inspired with the idea of a special festival, the direct purpose of which should be to honor the institution of the Blessed Sacrament. Her whole life had been a life of prayer and penance, and the Blessed Sacrament of the Altar had always been the object of her special devotion. In her meditations, as well as in her sleep, she often beheld a vision, the meaning of which she strove in vain to fathom. The moon appeared to her, all bathed in light, yet lacking completeness. Something was wanting to round out its orb. As she begged her Divine Spouse to explain to her the meaning of the vision, He gave her to understand that the moon represented His Church, while the rent in the planet's circumference indicated that there was yet wanting a feast which He desired the faithful to celebrate, and which was to be especially consecrated to the memory of the institution of the Blessed Sacrament.

It was not until some six years after the death of Juliana that Pope Urban VI established the Solemnity of Corpus Christi and its observance did not become general until half a century later. In the bull of institution the Pope exhorts all the faithful by their extraordinary devotion on this day to confound, if possible, the perfidy of heretics and to repair and make amends for former tepidity in assisting at Mass, as also in the reception of Holy Communion.

The festival is no longer a holy day of obligation in our country. But it should always be a day of special devotion. The faithful should strive by every means in their power to keep alive in their hearts the fire of devotion and of love for our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament of the Altar.

ST. JOHN FRANCIS REGIS—JUNE 16

St. John Francis Regis was born in Languedoc in 1597. As soon as his studies as a Jesuit were completed, he began a career of missionary zeal which gained many souls to God. In the summer he evangelized the towns; the winters he passed in country missions, traveling from place to place in search of the lost or wandering sheep. His manner of preaching was simple and direct, and not infrequently accompanied by miracles. He was persecuted and misunderstood, but he welcomed these trials, to which he added many penances. He died at La Louvesc, December 30, 1640, while engaged in the sacred ministry, and his tomb there is honored by the concourse of the faithful and many miracles.

FEAST OF THE SACRED HEART—JUNE 19

The Friday following the Octave day of the great Festival of the Blessed Eucharist, Corpus Christi day, is set apart in the liturgical services of the Church as the Feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. It is one of the great observances in the devotional life of our Catholic people that has grown into universal practice during the past few generations. From the earliest days of Christianity there has always been in the Church a devotion to the love of God Who so loved the world as to give us His only Son, and to the love of Jesus Who so loved us as to deliver Himself up to death for us. But it was only after the lapse of many centuries that love and veneration for the Sacred Person of the Redeemer became centered, as it were, or specially directed toward the Sacred Heart as the special seat of His Divine Love.

This was a perfectly natural and reasonable development of earlier religious practice, as the heart was universally regarded as the noblest organ of human nature, the seat of the emotional and moral life, and the natural symbol of love. Thus it was inevitable that devotion to the Sacred Humanity should find its center in the Sacred Heart of Jesus—the real living heart of the Redeemer which loved and suffered so much for men.

But it was through the seemingly feeble agency of a human Visitation nun in a little village convent of Seventeenth Century France, and her Jesuit confessor that the devotion to the Sacred Heart as we know it today was, in the designs of Providence, made known to the modern world. The life story of this chosen soul whom the Catholic world now calls Saint Margaret Mary, and the wonderful revelations from Heaven which she received in her quiet convent home, are known to all men as the starting point in the history of the present world-wide devotion to the Sacred Heart. Yet it was fully ninety years after the date of these extraordinary revelations through which the designs of Heaven in regard to this devotion were made known, that the ecclesiastical authorities at Rome gave due authorization to the Feast of the Sacred Heart, which is now of world-wide observance.

ST. ALOYSIUS—JUNE 21

St. Aloysius was born March 9, 1568, in Castiglione, of which place his father was Marquis. From his earliest years he was a model of angelic purity, and this even amid the temptations of the Spanish Court, where he served as page to the queen. On November 25, 1585, after overcoming a long opposition on the part of his father, he entered the Jesuit Novitiate. In religion his life was one of strictest fidelity to rule, humility, prayer and constant mortification, checked only by obedience. Innocence and penance were St. Aloysius' characteristic virtues, and he is held up to imitation as the Patron of Youth.

The Devotion of the Sacred Heart

The devotion of the Sacred Heart, as revealed to Saint Margaret Mary, like that of the Feast of Corpus Christi, met, when first introduced, with determined opposition. Our Lord revealed Himself to Saint Margaret Mary while she was an inmate of the convent of the Visitation at the town of Parayle-Monial, situated in Charolais, in the diocese of Autun. Thus it was an innocent virgin whom our Lord selected to plant in the hearts of his followers this great blessing, the devotion to His Sacred Heart. He made known to her in prayer the excellence of this adorable Heart, its grandeur, its riches, its virtues, its sufferings. Her inner self became absorbed in this adorable object; she yearned for nothing but its glory, and thought only of the means by which she could make known the riches to others. Thus was her heart prepared when Jesus Christ appeared to her and made known His purpose of establishing in His Church a feast in honor of His Sacred Heart, and that He had chosen her to carry out His design.

Our Lord appeared to the Saint as she was praying before the Blessed Sacrament, and said: "Thou canst not give Me a greater proof of love than by doing what I have asked of thee," and then, disclosing to her His Divine Heart, added: "Behold this Heart which has so loved men that it has spared nothing, even to the exhausting and wearing itself out, to manifest to them its love; and in recompense I receive, for the most part, only ingratitude, contempt, irreverence, sacrilege, and the indifference which they show Me in this sacrament of love. But what is worse, hearts consecrated to Me treat Me thus. It is for this reason that I ask that the first Friday after the octave of the Blessed Sacrament should be dedicated as a special festival to do honor to My Heart by devout acts of reparation and satisfaction, by communicating on that day to expiate the indignities received whilst exposed on the altar; and I promise thee that My Heart shall expand in order to shed abundantly the influence of its Divine Love on all those who shall thus render It honor." The devotion thus defined by our Lord Himself grew and spread in the face of violent opposition and persecution. The Holy Father, Leo XIII, as Bishop of Perugia, gave special sanction to the devotion in his diocese. Images and pictures of the Sacred Heart came to be generally seen in churches; chapels were erected in its honor, and each recurring year the feast is celebrated with greater pomp and solemnities. The morning offering of thirty millions of people enrolled in the League is a daily incense ascending to the Sacred Heart, as are the thousands of Communions of reparation that are offered daily, weekly, and monthly by the members of this association, which has grown from the feeble efforts of one saintly virgin until it now embraces among its members persons of all nationalities, who from every quarter of the globe unite in one harmonious paean of praise to the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

The Blessing of the Sacred Heart

May the Grace and Blessing of the Sacred Heart be with you.
May the Peace of the Sacred Heart encompass you.
May the Merits of the Sacred Heart plead for you.
May the Love of the Sacred Heart inflame you.
May the Sorrows of the Sacred Heart console you.
May the Zeal of the Sacred Heart animate you.
May the Virtues of the Sacred Heart shine forth in you.
And may the Joys of the Sacred Heart be yours forever. Amen.

Consecration of Human Race to the Sacred Heart of Jesus

Most sweet Jesus, Redeemer of the human race, look down upon us humbly prostrate before Thy altar. We are Thine, and Thine we wish to be; but, to be more surely united with Thee, behold each one of us freely consecrates himself today to Thy Most Sacred Heart. Many indeed have never known Thee; many, too, despising Thy precepts, have rejected Thee. Have mercy on them all, most merciful Jesus, and draw them to Thy Sacred Heart. Be Thou King, O Lord, not only to the faithful who have never forsaken Thee, but also of the prodigal children who have abandoned Thee; grant that they may quickly return to their Father's house, lest they die of wretchedness and hunger. Be thou King of those who are deceived by erroneous opinions, or whom discord keeps aloof, and call them back to the harbor of truth and unity of faith, so that soon there may be but one flock and one Shepherd. Be Thou King of all those who are still involved in the darkness of idolatry or of Islamism, and refuse not to draw them all into the light and Kingdom of God. Turn Thine eyes of mercy toward the children of that race, once Thy chosen people. Of old they called down upon themselves the Blood of the Savior; may It now descend upon them a laver of redemption and of life. Grant, O Lord, to Thy Church assurance of freedom and immunity from harm; give peace and order to all nations, and make the earth resound from pole to pole with one cry: Praise to the Divine Heart that wrought our salvation; to It be glory and honor forever. Amen.

How to Consecrate Your Family to the Sacred Heart of Jesus

The ceremony for the consecration is to take place in the privacy of your own home and on the day most convenient for the members of the family. It is well to choose some special occasion, for instance, the Feast of the Sacred Heart or the First Friday or the feast day of father or mother, or the wedding or a birthday anniversary, to add greater solemnity to the act. The consecration should be renewed each year on the Feast of the Sacred Heart.

The prayers prescribed by the Holy See for the consecration are printed below. These prayers should be recited aloud by a member of the family before a picture or statue of the Sacred Heart. The Act printed under the picture, referred to below, to commemorate the consecration, should then be read in unison, the whole family repeating together each phrase. All the members of the family should then sign their names on the picture in the space under the Act. The younger children may trace a cross.

Prayers for the Consecration of the Family to the Sacred Heart

Sacred Heart of Jesus, who didst manifest to St. Margaret Mary the desire of reigning in Christian families, we today wish to proclaim Thy most complete regal dominion over our own. We would live in future with Thy life, we would cause to flourish in our midst those virtues to which Thou hast promised peace here below, we would banish far from us the spirit of the world which Thou hast cursed; and Thou shalt reign over our minds in the simplicity of our faith, and over our hearts by the whole-hearted love with which they shall burn for Thee, the flame of which we shall keep alive by the frequent reception of Thy Divine Eucharist.

Deign, O Divine Heart, to preside over our assemblings, to bless our enterprises, both spiritual and temporal, to dispel our cares, to sanctify our joys, to alleviate our sufferings. If ever one or other of us should have the misfortune to afflict Thee, remind him, O Heart of Jesus, that Thou art good and merciful to the penitent sinner. And when the hour of separation strikes, when death shall come to cast mourning into our midst, we will all, both those who go and those who stay, be submissive to Thy eternal decrees. We will console ourselves with the thought that a day will come when the entire family, reunited in Heaven, can sing forever Thy glories and Thy mercies.

May the Immaculate Heart of Mary and the glorious Patriarch, St. Joseph, present this consecration to Thee, and keep it in our minds all the days of our life. All glory to the Heart of Jesus, our King and our Father!

(Indulged May 19, 1908. Prescribed for the ceremony of Consecration March 1, 1918.)

A Plenary Indulgence may be gained by the members of the family on the day of consecration, and every year on the day of renewal on the usual conditions, Confession, Communion, visit and prayers for the Pope's intentions.

Imprimatur, Patrick J. Hayes, D.D., Archbishop of New York

At Parting

In every land the language knows some tender, singing word
That always, when the parting guest speeds on his way, is heard.

With "Au revoir," "Auf Wiederseh'n," "Adios" or "Farewell,"
Each meant for sweet remembrance sake the heart's good wish to tell.

But I like best the Mexican that holds all needs of men:
"God keep you, friend, in grace and health until we meet again."

Lay Brothers

"We make no doubt that there are many young men and even men of maturer years who, if they only knew something of the peace and security and contentment of a Jesuit lay brother's life, its refinement and respectability, the countless graces that surround it, and the precious blessings that enrich it, would gladly give up all things to make it their own. For a Jesuit lay brother is a religious in the strict sense of the word. He is carefully trained for two years of novitiate in the principles of the religious life, and in the theory and practice of the rules of the Jesuit Order. He does not enter blindly on so momentous an undertaking. Every best possible care is taken of his spiritual and bodily welfare. He is treated at all times with the greatest respect. He takes the same vows as Jesuit Fathers take, he participates in all the privileges and good works of the Society of Jesus, and, by looking after the material affairs of the household, makes it possible for the priests, and for the younger Jesuits, who are studying for the priesthood, to exercise greater activity and diligence in the ministry and in the class-room.

"The signs of a vocation to this life are simple enough, consisting mainly in the absence of obstacles, the desire to serve God as a lay brother, and fitness of body and soul. The aspirant must be able and willing to work, joining humility and submissiveness to the fixed determination to lead a pure and innocent life, bound to God irrevocably by the three vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. After renouncing all worldly goods, he must give up the thought of matrimony, consecrating himself to the Lord by angelical purity of soul and body, and abandoning his own will to be obedient for life to the commands of others who are lawfully placed over him. This is a high vocation, surely, and only the virtuous can follow it; but many do follow it through long, long years, and we sincerely believe that our parishes are blessed with men who possess all the prerequisites for this life, and who would gladly enter on it, if they would only seriously reflect on its advantages.

"Nobody will deny that it is a life of toil, but the hands that bear the implements of that toil already hold in their grasp the pearl of the life eternal. Our Blessed Savior's hundredfold was promised not to priests only, but to all those who would give up all to follow Him—to rich and poor alike, to labor no less than to learning. Lay brothers are not called upon to study, it is true; they are not, however, for that reason ignorant men. On the contrary, they are for the most part men of excellent intelligence and common sense, men who have the satisfaction of following in religion, as far as work is concerned, the occupations of skill which they followed in the world, as gardeners, engineers, printers, bookkeepers and workers in various trades; and no less than ordinary men in the world, they have a certain leisure and opportunity to read and to keep informed on matters of current interest."—Rev. Joseph N. Smith, S.J.

Any man desiring further information on the Vocation of the Lay Brother in the Society of Jesus, may call at the Rectory, 18th and Thompson Streets.

If we would be victorious over our enemies, and make great progress in virtue, we must begin once for all with a firm resolution and great courage.

The Catholic habit is taking the faith right into the home, and making it a path of daily life. It means giving your children Catholic eyes and ears.

LIMOUSINES TO HIRE

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

The Saint Christ Canonized

Three crosses stand on Calvary's Hill, three men wait death's relief,
The central cross holds Christ, the Lord, on each side hangs a thief;
The one thief's heart with hate is filled, at God and man doth swear,
The other looks with pity on Christ silent, suffering there;
And turning to that tortured Face, he prays so earnestly:
"When to Thy Kingdom Thou shalt come, please, Lord, remember me;"
So small a prayer, yet to that Christ, so sad and lonely there,
No tongue didst ever make to God so sweet, so welcome prayer;

How sweet the answer Jesus gives to him who makes this plea:
"This day, My friend, thy soul shalt be in Paradise with Me;"
O, Dismas, what thy glories are no words of man can paint,
The day that finds thee die a thief doth see thee crowned a Saint;
What hope thy death to sinners brings, what Mercy in His Eyes,
As thou alone, of all His Saints, Christ's Own Lips canonize;
'Tis thee who makes the first prayer said to Jesus Crucified,
As thou doth hang, in torture too, by His dear Suffering Side;

Thy Lips give Christ the only word of comfort He doth know
On Calvary, where His dying Eyes see men their hatred show;
So few there are whom we are sure at death hath their souls saved,
But of thy joy there is no doubt, since God His Promise gave;
O, Dismas, thou, a thief in Life, a thief art to the end,
Thou stolest heaven from Christ's Heart because thou wert His friend;
O, thou whose soul didst know sin's touch, for sinners make this prayer:
That Paradise we, too, may find and heaven with thee share.

Single Women's Sodality

Following a special Mass and Holy Communion in the chapel on May 31, the Single Women's Sodality held their first Annual Breakfast in the Sodality Room in the parochial school. About 150 members attended. Addresses were made by Rev. Father Rector and Father Murphy.

On Tuesday evening, June 9, the Sodality had an entertainment, followed by refreshments, for the closing of the year.

Why not join the Single Women's Sodality and enjoy their activities?

Annual Communion Breakfast of the Gesu Young Men's Sodality and of the Alumni

In the flower bedecked Chapel of the Gesu Young Men's Sodality, on Sunday, June 7, at eight-thirty o'clock, there was celebrated the Annual Memorial Mass for the deceased members of the Sodality and former members of the Sodality. The sodalists, together with the members of the recently organized Alumni received Holy Communion in a body. Benediction followed immediately after the Mass.

During Holy Mass and Benediction, hymns were sung by the sodalists and Alumni to the music of Mr. Peter Young, who played the organ, with Mr. Charles Fox as accompanist.

Following Mass and Benediction, breakfast was served in the school hall directly above the Chapel. And following the breakfast, the following speakers addressed the assembled gathering: James I. Farrell, who acted as Chairman of the Annual Breakfast; Dr. Michael Quinn, the Toastmaster; Colonel Edward J. Meehan; Dr. Tracy; Father Leo O'Hare, S.J., a former Moderator of the Sodality; Father Gerald Treacy, S.J., and Father James A. Martin, S.J.

In memory of Father Theobald Matthew McNamara, S.J., the founder of the Sodality, a picture of him was unveiled by Charles H. Osborn, the Prefect of the Alumni organization.

A letter from Father Rohleder was read, expressing his regrets at not being able to attend the Annual Closing Exercises, because of being very sick in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Directly following the breakfast, the Alumni Annual Election of Officers took place in the Sodality Library. The results of the election were as follows:

Rev. CHARLES H. ROHLEDER, S.J., Moderator
 Stephen P. Whelan, Prefect
 Thomas McPhillips, First Assistant Prefect
 Joseph F. McCue, Second Assistant Prefect
 Joseph F. Monaghan, Secretary

Gesu Boy Scout News

As some members of the congregation of our parish may not know there is an organized Boy Scout Troop in our midst, we would like to explain at this time Scouting and its advantages for the benefit of boys and parents who might be interested.

Troop 299 meets every Friday night in their rooms in the basement of St. Joseph's College High School. Boys receive training in signalling, first aid, knot tying, and several other subjects of interest to boys.

All boys are Catholics, under the supervision of Catholic men, with Father Charles Rohleder, S.J., as their Spiritual Director.

Several times a year the boys are taken on hikes for one day or overnight. Once a year they go on a week's camping trip. On all of these trips the boys are fed well and have adequate shelter and sleep. If the Troop is away from home on Sunday, all boys are taken in a body to hear Mass at the nearest Catholic church.

We would like the parents of our present Troop, together with parents of boys interested in Scouting, to come to our rooms any Friday night where we can meet them and explain more fully the advantages of Catholic leadership and companionship for boys.

Outstanding Scouts for the month of June were Robert Frizell and Walter Coward, winner and runner-up in knot-tying contest.

We are hoping for the speedy recovery from sickness of our beloved Moderator. Come on, Father, we want your cheerful help again in our activities.

Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

The Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae, comprising both the Senior and Junior Branches, held its final meeting of the season on Sunday afternoon, June 7.

Plans were made for an Annual Picnic, to be held during the summer. The members heard with great regret of the illness of our beloved Moderator, Father Charles Rohleder, S.J., who has been ill in St. Joseph's Hospital for the past few weeks, but is now on the way to recovery.

The association takes this opportunity to express gratitude and appreciation to Father Rohleder for the help he has given us during the past year. His inspiration and encouragement, his generous co-operation in all our plans have been important factors in the success attained in both our athletic and social programs. We hope for him a speedy return to health and continued participation in all our undertakings.

Gesu Choir Boys Attend Circus

The faithful attendance to rehearsals and Masses and cultivation of tone and harmony merited a very happy day at the circus for thirty-four choir boys on Friday, May 22.

The galaxy of performers, however, did not suffice to dim the popularity of the best cowboy and rider of them all, Tim McCoy, whose appearance the choristers greeted with considerable and prolonged applause.

The menagerie still holds its attraction for youngsters. The boys insisted that a visit there was as essential to the afternoon as the ice-cream cones, thus closing an enjoyable and crowded afternoon.

Jesuit Annuity Plan

Questions and Answers

What is the Jesuit Annuity Plan?

Briefly, you make a donation of a certain sum of money ($500, $1,000 or more) to the Jesuit Seminary Fund or to the Jesuit Missions of the Maryland-New York Province. The Jesuits, in turn, bind themselves to pay you an annuity of annual interest of 5% until death.

What becomes of the principal?

The Jesuits invest the principal in safe securities which, together with the integrity of the Jesuit Order, will remain throughout your life as a guarantee of the payment of that interest. After your death the principal will be used for the education of Jesuits or for the Missions as you direct.

When will the interest be paid?

Annually, semi-annually or quarterly, according to your wish.

What is the advantage of the Annuity Plan over a Will?

You save the expense of administering the estate and you make sure that the principal reaches the party you intend to benefit. Charitable and religious organizations have repeated experience of legal contest with respect to legacies by will with resultant expensive litigation and with loss, greater or less, of the substance of the benefaction. An annuity gift avoids all that—it is an outright donation.

What are the advantages of the Annuity Plan over other forms of investment?

(1) It has temporal benefits equal to and in these days frequently greater than other equally secure investment; e.g., security in your old age, a guaranteed 5% income backed by the integrity of the Jesuit Order, the satisfaction during your lifetime of knowing that you have helped seminarians and missionaries.

(2) It has spiritual benefits which are not attached to any other form of investment; e. g., remembrance in the Holy Sacrifice and prayers of members of the Jesuit Order, special remembrance in the Holy Sacrifices and prayers of the particular Jesuits you have aided, participation in the merit of the good works of those whom you have benefited.

The Greatest Game

The greatest game in the world is to beat yourself. When the selfish girl gets the better of her selfishness and does something generous and fine, when the lazy girl gets the better of her laziness and forces herself to work hard, when the shy girl conquers her timidity and lets her associates discover that she has a personality, no tennis champion ever has a keener sense of triumph. Get into this great game. Start out to beat yourself.

WE THANK YOU!

We are sincerely grateful to each and every one who contributed in any way whatsoever to the support of all the Card Parties held during the past year. The splendid success was due to the united efforts of all committees and the hearty co-operation of our parishioners and friends.

God bless each and every one.

Model of Womanhood

"And if our faith had given us nothing more
Than this example of all womanhood,
So mild, so merciful, so strong, so good,
So patient, peaceful, loyal, loving pure,
This were enough to prove it higher and truer
Than all the creeds the world has known before."

This beautiful tribute to Mary's exalted worth and sanctifying influence, from the Protestant Longfellow's pen, has done much to endear America's favorite poet to the Catholic heart. The Blessed Virgin is in very truth the pride and the ornament of our faith, and the ideal pattern of Christian womanhood. There is everything in her that is truly lovable. She is not only a "garden in which the sinner's hand never enters to rob it of its flowers," but a conservatory wherein blooms the year round Heaven's choicest fragrance—the rose of love, the lily of purity, the violet of humility. She stands for all that is genuinely true and beautiful—a Virgin not only in body but in mind, who never sullied the pure affection of her heart by unworthy feelings. St. Ambrose, speaking of her life before her espousal says: "There was nothing forward in her looks, bold in her words, nor unbecoming in her actions. Her carriage was not abrupt, her gait not indolent, her voice not petulant, so that her appearance was the picture of her mind and the figure of piety."

"After our Lord Jesus Christ," said Cardinal Gibbons, "no one has ever exercised so salutary and so dominant an influence as the Blessed Virgin on society, on the family, and on the individual. The Mother of Jesus exercises throughout the Christian commonwealth that hallowing influence which a good mother yields over the Christian family."

"What temple or chapel, how rude soever it may be, is not adorned with a painting or a statue of the Madonna? What house is not embellished with an image of Mary? What Catholic child is a stranger to her familiar face?"

"The priest and the layman, the scholar and the illiterate, the prince and the peasant, the mother and the maid, acknowledge her benign sway."

"And if Christianity is so fruitful in comparison with paganism, in conjugal fidelity, in female purity, and in the respect paid to womanhood, these blessings are in no small measure due to the force of Mary's all-pervading influence and example. Ever since the Son of God chose a woman to be His Mother, man looks up to woman with a homage akin to veneration."

Feasts of the Month

THE PRECIOUS BLOOD—JULY 1

Why has the Church instituted the Feast of the Precious Blood and why has she so ardently urged her children to the zealous fostering of this devotion? The object of the Church was first of all to commemorate and honor our blessed Lord; secondly, she deemed it fitting that the Precious Blood which was so willingly shed for mankind should be worshipped, and, thirdly, because she realized that this devotion was a source of boundless graces. It is indeed a striking devotion and, though its special motive is the Precious Blood, the ultimate object of the devotion is Jesus Christ Himself.

That we may comprehend and enter into the spirit of this devotion, we must remember that Christ was man, with a human body and soul like ours. He could have given His life without shedding His blood, but He so loved us that He not only desired to give His life, but also His life's blood. The human body, in the pure blood which courses incessantly through its veins, contains all vitality. It is the blood which keeps the physical life in the body; separate the blood from the body or cause its pulsive plan to cease, and life no longer exists. It is obvious, therefore, what we mean when we say, Christ shed His life's blood.

Even in the Old Law, sacrifice was always accompanied by the shedding of the victim's blood. It was, in fact, an essential part of the ceremony. The blood flowing from the victim was the visible ebbing of its life. Christ was our victim. A brief glance at the passion will suffice to recall the shedding of His Precious Blood. In the Garden of Olives Christ kneels and prays, and the agonizing pressure on His Sacred Heart became so strong that the very blood is forced out through the pores of His body. And He kneels as in a bloody sweat. We next find Him in Pilate's courtyard. Stripped and tied to a pillar, He stands unflinchingly and allows the cruel soldiers to flog His tender body with their spiked cords. Every blow brings Precious Blood. He starts on the road Calvary, burdened with His cross; His feet are bruised and bleeding. Every step brings Precious Blood. He is stretched upon the cross and nails are driven through His hands and feet. Every blow brings Precious Blood. Sad and desolate He hangs three hours on the cross and then He bows His head and dies. A centurion pierces His side with a lance, and out from His Sacred Heart flows blood and water. Drop by drop His Precious Blood has been most willingly shed for us.

If, during this month of July, the month dedicated in a special way to the Precious Blood, we recall these scenes frequently, surely we shall not find it difficult to enter seriously into the spirit of this devotion and so entering into it we shall not fail to derive many spiritual blessings.

OUR LADY'S VISITATION—JULY 2

On July 2nd the Church celebrates the Feast of Our Lady's Visitation to her cousin, St. Elizabeth. Among the common courtesies and duties of social life are visits to relatives and friends. Reflections on our dear Lady's Visitation might teach us how to sanctify these visits and make them fruitful or something better than idle gossip or mere amusement. Learning that her cousin needed her help, the Blessed Virgin made the four days' journey at the cost of considerable inconvenience to herself. God's blessing went with her. The fruits of the visit were the sanctification of St. John the Baptist, the revelation of the Incarnation made to St. Elizabeth and our Blessed Mother's beautiful song of thanksgiving, the Canticle of the Magnificat. Besides these were marvelous graces given to the family of St. Elizabeth and the merit gained by the practice of charity, humility and other virtues.

BLESSED BERNARDINE REALINI—JULY 3

Blessed Bernardine Realini, a native of Italy, after years of success in the practice of law, entered the Society of Jesus in his thirty-fourth year. Desiring in his humility the humble grade of a lay-brother, he yielded to the wishes of his superiors and was ordained to the priesthood. So great was his sanctity that, shortly after his ordination, he was given charge of the spiritual formation of the novices. After two years in this difficult position, he devoted himself to missionary work in Naples and the surrounding country. Spiritual ministrations to the sick and the dying, the visitation of prisons and hospitals, the preparation of criminals for death, the relief of the poor and needy—every form of labor, by which he could aid the suffering children of Christ, was embraced by him with ardent zeal and devotion. He closed his labors by a death precious in the sight of God. He was beatified by Pope Leo XIII.

BLESSED IGNATIUS AZEVEDO AND COMPANIONS—JULY 15

In the year 1570 a band of forty Jesuits set out from Lisbon for the mission of Brazil. At their head was Father Ignatius Azevedo, who, after two years of labor in this distant mission, had returned to Europe to recruit fresh laborers for the vineyard. His thirty-nine companions were the recruits he had gathered from all parts of Spain and Portugal. The saintly missionary had received more than one divine intimation that he and his companions were destined to gain the crown of martyrdom. Nor was the fulfillment of the prophecy long delayed. Off the Canary Islands their vessel was attacked and captured by Calvinist pirates. All the Jesuits were slain and their bodies thrown into the sea, with the exception of one lay-brother, whom the pirates spared, intending to make use of his services. His place was taken by a young man, the nephew of the ship's captain, who was at the time a candidate for admission into the Society. Secretly putting on the habit of one of the slain Jesuits, he offered himself to the sword of the enemy and thus won a place in this noble band of martyrs. St. Theresa, in her convent at Avila, saw in vision the forty martyrs ascending into Heaven, wearing golden crowns. Pope Pius IX raised them to the honors of the altar.

OUR LADY OF MOUNT CARMEL—JULY 16

Few festivals in honor of the Virgin Mary are more gladly welcomed by the faithful than that of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. The reason is because she is the patroness of thousands upon thousands of devout clients of every rank and condition of society, who show their tender devotion to her by wearing the Brown Scapular. The word "Scapular" is of Latin derivation and means shoulder dress; because it is hung around the neck in pious memory of the habit worn in life by its blessed originator. It is not a meaningless symbol or a superstitious charm, but a pledge that we have chosen Mary as our Queen and enrolled ourselves under her banner.

It is called the Scapular of Mount Carmel: because the devotion had its foundation in an apparition of the Mother of God to Simon Stock, a man remarkable for stainless innocence of life, and one of the most illustrious generals of the Order of Carmelites, whose first monastery was established on a mountain of Palestine, by the name of Carmel. This vision occurred at Cambridge in England, on the 16th day of July, in the year 1251. Presenting her devout and faithful servant with a Scapular which she held in her hand, the Holy Mother of God thus addressed him: "Receive, dear Son, this Scapular of thy Order; it is the mark of the privilege which I have obtained for thee and for the children of Carmel. It is a sign of salvation, a safeguard in danger, the pledge of special peace and protection."

Many are the spiritual and temporal advantages accruing from the beautiful and widespread devotion. The wearing of the Scapular has often been the means of bringing to souls the priest and the last Sacraments. It is the badge which places us under the special protection of the Queen of Heaven with her promise to safeguard in life and at the hour of death those who wear it devoutly.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL, APOSTLE OF CHARITY—JULY 19

He was born in Aquitaine, and from a shepherd boy became a priest. Soon after his ordination he was taken captive by the Turks and sold as a slave. Converting his master, he escaped with him to France. The king, pleased with his zeal, set him over the galley slaves of the kingdom. At the invitation of St. Francis de Sales, he was spiritual director of the Visitation Sisters for forty years. A desire to promote the spiritual interests of the poor in country districts induced him to found the Congregations of the Missions, or Vincentians. His Sisters of Charity are an enduring monument to his love for the poor and afflicted, angels of kindness following the fortunes of the camp in time of war, and in peace at home in the wards of hospitals.

The spirit that motivated his all-consuming charity for his fellowmen may be pondered and meditated on again and again with ever-increasing benefit. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," was Christ's succinct summing of man's fraternal duty and conduct. These words of his Divine Master must have burned themselves into St. Vincent's mind and heart. His counsel truly breathes forth the spirit of Christ: When we are with the poor, we should try to put ourselves in their place that we may suffer with them in imitation of the great Apostle who said, "I am become all things to all men that I may serve all." Of his own life he said: "All my own seventy-six years of life seem to be now but a dream and a moment, and nothing remains to me save sorrow that my moment has not been better used."

BLESSED RUDOLPH ACQUAVIVA AND COMPANIONS—JULY 27

The twenty-seventh day of July in the year 1583 saw the crown of martyrdom bestowed upon five Jesuit missionaries in the peninsula of Salsette, near Goa. The leader was Rudolph Acquaviva, an Italian of noble birth. With him were associated three priests, Alphonsus Pacheco, Peter Berno and Antonio Francisco, and a lay-brother, Francis Aranha. Having gone to the peninsula for the purpose of choosing a site for a church, they were set upon by the pagans and slain. Immediately after their death, God glorified his martyrs by many miracles, and many were converted in the land made fruitful by their blood. One hundred and thirty years after their death, their bodies were found still incorrupt. They were beatified by Pope Leo XIII.

ST. IGNATIUS OF LOYOLA—JULY 31

There are few names that stand for more in the history of the Church of God in these latter days than the name of Loyola. It suggests at once the noble form of a soldier who, wounded in the service of his king, was led to think of his Heavenly Monarch and devote his life to the salvation of souls. It also suggests, very forcibly, all the enmities and hatreds of the enemies of God's Church focused upon one man and his work, and following him and his disciples with an unceasing warfare of calumny and persecution. Loyola stands for hostility to heresy, unceasing warfare on all that tends to rend the sacred garment of unity; he stands for the most noble work the last few centuries have known; he stands for the heroism of missionaries who have gone forth into every land, bearing the Gospel of Jesus Christ and courting persecution and death in order to save souls.

The soldier of Pampeluna was born in Loyola in Spain in 1491, and named Ignatius. While ill, he read the lives of the saints and was called by divine grace to a leadership in the army of Jesus Christ. He left the world and all its ambitions, and determined to give his life to the service of God. Near the altar of Montserrat is a tablet which records that "Blessed Ignatius of Loyola here, with many tears and prayers, devoted himself to God and the Virgin. Hence he went forth to found the Society of Jesus in 1522." In Manresa, three miles distant, in a common hospital, he found a resting place, and there he began his preparation in Christian virtue. A year later, with staff in hand, he journeyed on foot to Italy and thence to the Holy Land. Returning to Spain, he entered the University of Alcala, and then at Salamanca, and finally at Paris, which was the great center of philosophy and theology. He suffered persecution in all these institutions for certain views which he advocated, and it seemed as if all these were not only to prepare his soul for his great mission, but also to pre-shadow the life of his Order.

At Paris he had as companions those who were afterward to unite with him in the establishment of the Society of Jesus. Among them were Francis Xavier, Peter Faber, James Lainez, Simon Rodriguez and several others, who on Assumption Day, 1534 took a vow to renounce all their goods and to go to the Holy Land, and, failing in this, to go to the Pope and offer him the absolute service of their lives. They were prevented from going to the Holy Land, and their allegiance was given to the Sovereign Pontiff, who was to send them to such work as he deemed best. Thus, in September, 1540, began the Society of Jesus, destined to be the strong arm of the Church against heresy, and the ornament of religion, not only in the educational method which it was to give to the world, but also in the magnificent results which have been obtained.

A Sick Call

Did you ever have a visit in your home from Jesus the loving Physician? Some messenger had brought word, "Lord, he whom thou lovest is sick," and though this sickness was not unto death, He came to bind up the wounds of your soul, and pour in upon them the wine of His consoling mercy and love.

The welcome dawn that morning was doubly welcome because it brought the long night to an end and brought the morn when Jesus would come and "abide in your house."

Perhaps you were too sick to take notice of all that passed in preparation, during that blessed visit.

Perhaps you were too much occupied in preparing a welcome, to receive Him with joy, to pay much attention to the beautiful words of the priest all said then in His Name.

Let me tell you of one such visit of the Good Samaritan to another favored bedside.

In the sick-room everything was made ready to receive the Divine Guest worthily. The best in the house was evident everywhere. A little table, neatly arranged stood at the bedside, covered with spotless linen, and on it everything needed for the ceremony;—two candles ready to be lighted, a match with which to light them, a small vessel of holy water, and a sprinkler, a glass of pure water, a spoon, a clean white linen napkin. Flowers in season were there in abundance, also.

At last the looked for hour came. The door below was opened at the ring of the priest, and as he entered, kneeling to welcome Him Whom he bore in the sacred Pyx at his breast, were two little children, "for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven," each holding a lighted candle.

After a profound bow where they knelt, they rose and led the way to the sick-room. As the priest entered the sick-room, kneeling about, were other members of the family.

"Peace be unto this house, and to all who dwell therein," was the priest's greeting, in the name of Him Who entered with him.

After adoring Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament, now reverently placed on the table on a blessed Corporal, he turned, and sprinkling the patient with holy water he said, "Thou shalt sprinkle me with hyssop, O Lord, and I shall be cleansed, thou shalt wash me, and I shall be made whiter than snow." "Have mercy on me, O God, according to Thy great mercy. Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Ghost, as it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be, world without end: Amen." Our help is in the name of the Lord, who hath made heaven and earth. O Lord hear my prayer, and let my cry come unto Thee. The Lord be with thee, and with thy spirit. Let us pray: Hear us, O Lord, Father Almighty, Eternal God, and deign to send from heaven Thy holy Angel, to guard, cherish, protect, visit and defend, all living in this dwelling, through Christ our Lord: Amen.

Then the members of the family quietly retired, to give the patient a chance to receive in the Sacrament of Penance, the grace of holy absolution.

In a few moments, when the merits of the Precious Blood had been applied to another soul, the family returned to the sick-room.

"I confess to Almighty God," said the patient, reciting the whole of the Confiteor, while the priest said it with him in Latin. Then came the prayer of absolution which always follows: "May the Almighty God have mercy on thee, forgive thee thy sins, and bring thee to life everlasting, amen: May the Almighty and most merciful Lord grant thee pardon, absolution and remission of all thy sins, amen."

And as he said this the priest blessed the patient. All this in the name of Him Who was so near in the Blessed Sacrament.

Then as he holds the Sacred Host in the sight of the patient, the priest says, in the inspired words of Him of Whom it was written, "Behold I send my Angel before thy face, who shall prepare thy way before Thee." "Behold the Lamb of God, behold Him Who taketh away the sins of the world."

Thrice while all strike their breasts, does he say in the name of the patient, "Lord I am not worthy that thou shouldst enter under my roof; say but the word and my soul shall be healed." And as Our Blessed Lord is being given in Holy Communion: "May the Body of the Lord Jesus Christ preserve thy soul to life everlasting: amen."

The hush of silence that followed was broken by the priest. "The Lord be with thee, and with thy spirit. Let us pray: O holy Lord, Father Almighty, Eternal God, we earnestly beseech Thee, that the most sacred Body of our Lord Jesus Christ, Thy Son, which our brother has now received, may be to him an eternal remedy both of body and soul; Who liveth and reigneth with Thee in the unity of the Holy Ghost, one God, world without end: Amen."

"May the blessing of Almighty God, of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost descend upon thee, and remain forever. Amen."

How beautiful! How consoling! While our hearts in humble wonderment, not, however in mumuring, are saying, that "He has gone to be a guest with a man that was a sinner," Jesus has said, "This day is salvation come to this house."

We are sure of but one thing—the game is ours to win or lose, and we must play it through to the end. Let's put our whole heart into winning, no matter what the odds against us, and who can say.

Good is turned into evil, and virtue into vice, if no rule or measure is observed.

The good we have received from a man should make us bear with the ill he does us.

Demolishers, Ltd.

We remember seeing a certain picture in a Presbytery sitting room and everybody ought to have a copy of this lithograph. It was three ladies in the days when spacious hats were worn. One was sitting at the small tea table with her back to the spectator; the others were at the side, and you saw a collection of feet under the chairs. They were sipping tea and engaged in intimate prattle. The title underneath was, "Another Character Gone." Very like the notice one sees so often in London. On a big board are the words: "Vicars & Co., Ltd., Demolishers." It is the work of the firm to pull down and cart away and sell all the various materials. It is a flourishing business. A large property was up for sale some time ago, but failed to realize anything like the reserved price. So it was handed over to the demolishers and realized several thousands more than was expected. It is quick work, and very soon you see a great space entirely cleared of everything that took months or years to erect. There are moral demolishers who spend all their energy in demolishing the characters and work of other people. They never construct or build up. It is their work to destroy. At the end of the day it is astonishing how much destruction they have accomplished. Happiness, contentment, charity, good will, peace, reputation, zealous work, efforts for good, are all demolished and split up. The instruments these demolishers use are very efficient—the tongue, suggestion, attack mixed with apparent praise—"Of course, dear, she (or he) means well, but—" "Nobody can deny that, but—" Motives are undermined—sinister motives suggested, methods criticized—and everything becomes shaky. At the end of a "perfect day" the Demolishers can say: "I have sown discontent. The cement binding things together is shattered; tomorrow I must loosen all the screws and get out the keystone of the arch and then one can get on." The unfortunate thing is that good people are often skilled Demolishers. Often more harm is done by good people than by bad. If you want to be a saint, be eccentric enough to help and praise others and not against them. It doesn't matter who does the work, provided it is done. Don't be a Demolisher. You will some day have to give an account of every idle word, i. e., words that have done some harm.

Why the Robin's Breast Was Red

The Saviour, bowed beneath His Cross, climbed up the dreary hill,
And from the agonizing wreath ran many a crimson rill;
The cruel Roman thrust Him on with unrelenting hand,
Till, staggering slowly 'mid the crowd, He fell upon the sand.
A little bird that warbled near, that memorable day,
Flitted around and strove to wrench one single thorn away;
The cruel spike impaled his breast—and thus 'tis sweetly said
The robin has his silver vest incarnadined with red.
Ah, Jesus! Jesus! Son of man! my dolor and my sighs
Reveal the lesson taught by this winged Ishmael of the skies.
I, in the place of delight or cavern of despair,
Have plucked no thorns from Thy dear brow,
But planted thousands there!

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

Thy Will Be Done

When the heart with grief is heavy, and the soul oppressed with care,
When the joy that comes with living, in our heart we no more share;
And we feel so much discouraged by the crosses we have borne,
When the roses have all vanished, leaving nothing but the thorns;
And we see the wicked prosper at each turning of the lane,
They to have the wealth and pleasure, we the sorrow and the pain;
Then we think: "Are we forgotten, or does the Master really know,
How we try to love and serve Him, bearing trials that come and go;"
Ah! the Master with Love watches, and He sees how much we try,
Knows our every faithful action, hears our every prayer and cry;

But He sends these sorrows to us just to test His Children's worth,
They are times to build our heaven from the trials we bear on earth;
So life's struggle bravely battle—it is never won with ease—
We are soldiers deep in warfare out to conquer foes like these;
Staggering 'neath His Cross the Master begs us all to follow on,
To the Home His Death has purchased, where night ends, where comes the dawn;

We shall know how good then God is, when He takes us by the hand,
From life's turmoil, sin and sorrow to that happy Promised Land;
What will all these heartaches then be if, with joy, on that last day,
We see Thee Face to Face, Lord, and shall hear Thy sweet Voice say:

"Oh, well done, thou faithful servant, all thy work in life I blessed,
Welcome Home where sorrow enters not, welcome Home to peace and rest;
Over few things thou wert faithful, I shall place thee over much,
Thou shalt live with Me forever, of My Kingdom thou art such;"
Home with God and all our loved ones, where our souls shall find their rest,
And heads weary find their comfort on the Saviour's Sacred Breast;
We shall know these trials were blessings, when our true Home we have found,

And we see these earthly crosses, jewels sparkling in our crown;
"Thou knowest best, so teach us, God; grant that murmur there is none,
But, for Thy Sake, bear the cross, and say "Thy Will Be Done."

TO HER BOYS

NO, the woman here is not actually the mother of a Jesuit Priest, nor even of a priest-to-be. But in helping to support our 700 Seminarians in the Houses of Study at Woodstock, Wernersville and St. Andrew-on-Hudson, she is happy in the knowledge that she is sharing spiritually not only in their many Masses and prayers but in the numerous apostolic works of the Jesuit Fathers all over the world. They are, she feels, her "boys".

You, too, can make them your "boys" and attain the same high spiritual benefits by Enrollment in

Carroll of Carrollton

Charles Carroll, it will be remembered, was the richest man of his time who willingly risked his life, his sacred honor and the largest fortune in America for the cause of liberty and independence. In his old age Congress conferred upon him the franking privilege as a token of the distinguished respect and veneration that the country entertained toward an early and devoted friend to liberty. In times when so-called hundred-percent Americans robe themselves in white garments as a symbol of their innocence and stir up religious hatred for their fellowmen, it would be well if the life of this staunch Catholic could be read to them as a proof that a man who is true to his God cannot be false to his country.

Bad Thoughts

The United States Public Health Service in Washington publishes a pamphlet, called "Keeping Fit," from which the following quotation is taken. Read it, remembering that it is a product not of a Catholic publishing house but published under the auspices of the United States Government.

"If a boy or man frequently permits himself to look at suggestive pictures, to listen to vulgar stories, and to indulge in lewd thoughts, he brings about a mental condition which may lead him later into serious sin. Furthermore, such indulgence develops a low attitude toward sex, which ought to be associated with the finest and most beautiful relationships in life. While it is not always possible to prevent lewd ideas coming to one's attention, it is possible, by using one's will-power, to direct the attention away from them and center it on wholesome subjects. Some young men will need to learn the trick of switching the thoughts away from vulgar subjects quickly to sports, school work or other helpful activities. The mind should not be made a cesspool, but a reservoir."

The Gesu Improvement Association

Founded on June 10, 1936 at the inspiration of Father James I. Maguire, S.J.

Officers elected on June 24, 1936 for a term of six months are Dr. Francis Stokes, President; Mr. James D. Ramp, First Vice-President and Chairman of the Committee on Buildings; Mr. John Martin, Second Vice-President and Chairman of the Committee on Organization; Mr. Norbert Minnick, Third Vice-President and Chairman of the Committee on Finances; Mrs. O'Malley, Financial Secretary; Miss Eleanor Ryan, Recording Secretary; and John L. Jenemann, Publicity Director.

Purpose to keep and bring into the parish respectable home-owners and tenants and to prevent the further influx of undesirables into the neighborhood.

"It can't be done" is frequently heard when the Association and its purpose are mentioned. Well, maybe it can't be done but we cannot help recalling that in the Eighteenth Century a great many people thought the thirteen colonies could not possibly win the Revolutionary War; that in the Nineteenth Century Robert Fulton drew a hearty laugh when he proposed to drive a boat by steam; and that in the Twentieth Century, just the other day, Max Schmeling did not have a chance to defeat Joe Louis. Whether or not it is possible to end the present disastrous trend in this neighborhood remains to be seen.

Only the future holds the answer to this question and the best time to do something about the future is right now, the present. And by doing something we do not mean sitting back with a long face and sorrowfully mumbling, "It can't be done." Nor do we, on the other hand, mean a great deal of shouting, hand waving and speechmaking to the effect that it can be done. Neither approach can solve our problem.

The Association, at this time, is therefore neither pessimistic nor unduly optimistic. It seeks first of all to discover the actual conditions as they exist today. For purposes of gathering the necessary statistics—who the property owners are, how many vacant properties there are—each block of the parish is being organized under the supervision of one officer, a captain if you like, who will keep a watchful eye on his district and report back to headquarters.

Secondly, from these reports the Building Committee will attack those quarters needing repairs, advising owners what should be done to make the property attractive to tenants or buyers. In close conjunction with this work the Finance Committee will assist owners desiring credit for home improvements to procure necessary funds either through the Federal Housing Administration or private sources.

Finally, the whole Association by the very reason of its existence will lend encouragement to parishioners now forced to live among undesirables because their neighbors have fled, to remain firm. Secondly, the Association will stimulate property owners suffering from long vacancies or the threat of vacancies to spend money on improvements. Thirdly, the Association will co-operate with real estate agents in attracting prospects to this locality. Lastly, this organization will actively war against unscrupulous speculators who seek to hasten the decline of the parish and gain financial advantage from this depreciation.

As a purely business proposition the Association offers you its services and asks your support. After all membership in the Gesu Parish Improvement Association is a very valuable form of real estate insurance. The City charges $1.70 per hundred dollars of assessed value of your property for municipal services. Is it worth a few pennies to you to prevent your hard earned dollars invested in your home from disappearing? We believe it is. To join us in our belief attend the next meeting of the Association or get in touch with any officer of the Association.

Morality of War

Wars . . . and rumors of wars. Appropriations totaling millions of dollars; ammunition; battleships; aeroplanes; tanks; standing armies; all just in order to be ready, in the event anything should happen. The question arises, "Just how much of these proceedings, and the war, which may or may not be involved, is ethical?" In a paper so brief, treating of a subject so important, we must of necessity sketch the more significant points.

The moralists are agreed in the laying down of three conditions as constituting the justice of war. They are: Sovereign Authority; a Just Cause; a Right Intention. A brief statement of each of the above will serve to show how difficult it is to have, in theory at least, a just war.

It is patent that no one person, group of persons, nor any subordinate group in political affairs, has the right to declare war. War, in all its horrors, involves not one life, not a few, but the lives of countless thousands in its destruction. Only in the hands of the supreme ruling power does such an authority rest.

Secondly, the cause of the war must be a just one, which is to say, that it must be the necessary means for defending or restoring the rights of the injured nation. Surely, advancement of power, commercial considerations, be they what they may, the increasing strength of a neighboring nation, if it give no offense, do not constitute sufficient reasons for plunging a nation headlong into war. Greed, lust of power and wealth there will always be, but no such cause can justify this excessive carnage.

Were we to grant that such a cause exists, does nothing yet remain? Those in political command are morally bound to do all that in them lies to avert war. This they may effect by international diplomacy, by com- promise, by the election of a common arbiter. A notable philosopher once compared the declaration of war to the death sentence passed by the judge upon an indicted criminal. May it not be that less thought and delibera- tion is employed in the virtual death sentence of hundreds of thousands of men than in the condemnation of a single man?

Lastly, granted that the sovereign authority has attempted a recon- ciliation, but in vain; granted that a just war has been declared; never- theless it must be waged with a right intention. It is clear, then, that all devastation, pillaging, slaughter and abuse of innocent women and children upon private authority ill-becomes Christian nations and a Christian people. Mindful, then, of what constitutes the good morality of war, let us also be mindful of the words of the Lord of all creation, "Little children, love one another." The caress of love and affection can never be had with a machine gun in one hand and a hand grenade in the other. The Heart must be right. Yellows, blacks, tans, reds, white men were all created and redeemed by the same loving Master.

Prayer for a right intention; prayer for peace; prayer that all nations may come to kneel at the foot of the Cross, is all that can ever join peoples in the love of which Christ spoke; is all that can ever avert another tragic war.

Feasts of the Month

BLESSED PETER FABER, S.J., CONFESSOR—AUGUST 11

The eldest companion of St. Ignatius and the first priest of the Society of Jesus was a peasant from the mountains of Savoy. At the cost of many sacrifices, his parents had sent him to the University of Paris, where he took all his degrees, and in 1529, being then 23 years of age, he was appointed to explain to Ignatius the lectures on philosophy, given at the College of St. Barbara. Soon the position of the two was changed, and the young professor placed himself under the guidance of his pupil. Ignatius began by teaching him his own simple habits of devotion—daily examination of conscience, weekly Confession and Communion, and gradually, with consummate prudence, led him on through the "Spiritual Exercises." Later on, Faber became an adept in the spiritual science of St. Ignatius, and by his profound learning, his winning and edifying conversation, and his retreats, he obtained wonderful conversions throughout Italy and Germany. He deserves high praise for restoring the Catholic religion in Germany, by winning St. Peter Canisius, lately canonized and declared a Doctor of the Church, for the Society, and by founding the great and influential house of the Society of Jesus at Cologne.

Father Faber said the Mass at which St. Ignatius and his companions took the vows on Montmartre, Paris, August 15, 1534. A man of wonderful piety and innocence, and of humility that bordered on diffidence, but prompted by his love of God and guided by his Spiritual Father's wisdom, the gentle and humble peasant became one of the greatest apostles of the Society of Jesus. He died at Rome, August 1, 1546, when about to start for the Council of Trent.

MARY'S ASSUMPTION—AUGUST 15

In many ways the Assumption is Mary's greatest feast, for it marks the crowning act of God's rich goodness to her.

The Assumption of Our Blessed Lady explicitly stresses the fact that her body was taken up into Heaven. It is, indeed, to be remembered that her soul had been in Heaven prior to the moment when her sacred body went thither. It is true that the word "assumption" was in early times used to designate the death of one considered to be a saint and that it was roughly equivalent to "death." But when used of Our Blessed Lady it means something definitely more: it explicitly stresses the transfer of Mary's body to Heaven; but it implies two antecedent facts: her death and resurrection; and a consequent fact: the "glorification" of her body. Thus, comprehensively, the Assumption means the glorification of Mary's resurrected body which has been taken up to Heaven.

That Our Blessed Lady died has been the universal belief of Catholics, but when and where she died is by no means certain.

History tells us nothing about the time when Our Lady died or the circumstances of her death. Nor do we know where she was buried. Scripture is silent on all these points and the oldest extant accounts are based entirely on apocryphal sources. . . . The belief that Our Lady died rests on the law of the universality of death, from which now even the God-Man Himself was exempt.

Some state that she died at the age of sixty-nine, others at seventy-two or seventy-five. Ephesus and Jerusalem have long claimed to have had her with them in her last hours. But where the truth lies it is impossible to know.

We are certainly on more solid ground when we ask how Mary died. Some few, mistaking Simeon's "sword" for a material sword, would have had her die a martyr's death. But her martyrdom was a more severe one. The angel's message and its fulfillment brought to Mary the agony of Joseph's doubt; and from that time on the sword of internal martyrdom was never withdrawn from her soul; and she became the "Queen of Martyrs" when she stood beneath the Cross. Nor did she die of any of the maladies to which mankind is heir. That were unseemly and in ill accord with the gifts clearly consequent upon her Divine Maternity. She did die of love.

Because of her preceding death this Feast was often called Dormitio (sleep), Pausatio (pausing), Depositio (burial). But these words were not meant to deny the resurrection and Assumption. They merely stressed one or other aspect of the Assumption set in its whole background from death to glorification. After her death, when her soul had been separated from her body for a space, it was again united thereto. Just how soon this reunion took place we have no certainty. Cabrol states that "The Assumption (and so the antecedent resurrection) followed three days after death according to some, forty days according to others."

That body which had been the temple of the God-Man for nine long months must not taste death. St. Augustine's Caro Jesu, caro Mariae (the Flesh of Jesus is Mary's flesh) is indeed most true, for she and she alone had given of her flesh that He might be born. And the flesh of Jesus had risen and was in glory; and so the flesh of Mary must rise, too, and be glorified. It were unseemly that the human Ark of the Covenant should know corruption and become the food of devouring worms. And then too, Mary had been so closely associated with the active Redemption effected on the Cross beneath which she stood, that she should share most richly in the passive redemption. Thus was she saved through the merits of her Son from taint both of any sin (through her Immaculate Conception) and of any corruption, as she had been at the Virgin Birth and is now spared through the resurrection of her body.

Then, Mary's body reunited to her soul, was borne swiftly to Heaven. Bellamy writes: "As the passive form of the word (assumi, assumptus) indicates, it signifies that the Blessed Virgin was taken up to Heaven by the Divine Omnipotence, whereas Jesus Christ, on the day of the Ascension, went up thither by His own power." In the twinkling of an eye, her sacred body left behind it the swathing bands of Jewish burial, went forth from the tomb triumphantly and was at once "glorified." Because of the gift of "clarity" it shone as the noonday sun, and "agility" gave to its movements the speed of thought, while "subtlety" made matter cease as a barrier to its progress. Immortal it now is, and neither sickness (which, indeed, it never knew) nor death can ever afflict it.

Up from the earth the sacred body passes, and out from the Heavenly courts a glorious band come to greet their Queen.

Through the loud-acclaiming ranks of Confessors and Doctors, Virgins and Widows, Martyrs, and Holy Innocents their Queen passes.

Beyond all of creation's saved, up to the very throne of God, she passes, for if her Son is "seated at the right of God the Father," she, the Queen of Heaven, is seated at the right hand of her Son—there to reign forever.

That is the doctrine of the Assumption: that Mary's risen body is in Heaven and all the glories of a risen body are hers. No other human body, except that of her Divine Son, is now in Heaven. Other souls are there, but all other bodies have obeyed and will obey the command consigning them to dust until the sounding of the judgment's trumpet.

BLESSED MICHAEL CARVALHO, S.J., MARTYR—AUGUST 25

Father Michael Carvalho was burned alive at Omura, in Japan, on August 25, in the year 1624, with one Dominican and several Franciscan friars for companions. They went to their place of torture carrying the stakes to which they were to be bound, and singing hymns of thanksgiving. Fearing lest ambassadors from Spain should procure his deliverance, Father Michael wrote, "I should feel the greatest sorrow if our Lord, on account of my sins, should withdraw me from the path of mercy and grace now open before me . . . Nothing in this life appears to me more desirable, more delightful and more consoling than to give my life for so merciful a Savior."

The Grand Old Church

Century after century the mighty arm of the Catholic Church has been stretched forth to subdue the powers of darkness. Unwavering in her professions, unswerving in her teachings, the grand old Church of Rome has thundered forth, year in and year out, that "the wages of sin is death." In vain have the tides of atheism beat against her adamant ramparts; in vain has so-called advanced theology leveled its sling-shot and volley fire into her entrenched camps. The Catholic Church stands today, as it has always stood, for the inviolability of the Faith, and supreme in the hearts of the people who compose its membership. No one of properly balanced mind, in or out of the Catholic Church, can fail to admire and profoundly respect a structure that can survive all this, defy all this, without ever so much as asking quarter or receding a hair's breadth. As for Christian people, professing whatever creed, they surely must rejoice that a defender of the Faith so sturdy and so able remains to them. For the Catholic Church belongs by no means only to the Catholic priesthood and to their immediate followers, but to the entire Christian world.

Modern Paganism

There are appearing in our periodicals at the present time a series of articles, many of which have for their avowed purpose the destruction of everything Christian, Godlike and Christlike. These articles still belong in the realm of theory. But how long can they be kept in the realm of theory? How long does it take an idea to work itself out of two covers of a textbook into the great broad world? . . . When these ideas do work themselves out, we shall have persecution or perhaps Sovietism. The only difference between the theory of Godlessness of the Soviet State and the temper and tone of the articles I have mentioned is the difference between theory and fact. Sovietism does not write its articles in the learned journals, but writes its beliefs in blood on church steps. It does not write against sanctuaries, it abolishes them. Sovietism is not concerned with the thrill that comes from "a bold challenge to morality," but with the animal satisfaction that comes from the burning of a flame of hate in the very sanctuary lamp of God. It is Pan in action.

If that condition of Godlessness is ever to be averted, if Paganism is ever to be thrust back, it can be met with only one force in the world, and that is the Church—and by that word I mean the Church, not churches. The Church is the only thing in the world that knows anything about Paganism. She was born not of Paganism, but in Paganism. She saw it grow; she saw its gods dethroned; she saw its State worshipped. But she also saw it decline, and we know, and all history knows, that the only reason Paganism declined was because of the civilizing and supernaturalizing power of Christ in His Church. The Church assisted at the deathbed of Paganism. The last beast of Paganism was fed on the body of one of her faithful. The last God that was overthrown was cast to earth by a convert to Christ from Paganism.

As the modern world looks upon it as something progressive, we look upon it as the degradation of barbarism. We know that if it must be crushed again, as it was crushed of old, by a surrender of our lives and our blood, we are willing to do it. When that conflict will come, if it comes, we know not; we know nothing of its details, nothing of the alignment of forces; we know not the kind of swords that will be unsheathed—but there is one thing that we do know, and that is that in that struggle with the powers of darkness and the errors of Paganism, in that warfare of Peter and Pan, if Truth wins, we win. If Truth—Ah! But Truth can't lose!

Catherine Tekakwitha The Wonder Worker of North America

"Fairest flower that ever bloomed among true men!" are the astounding words we find on a grave above the St. Lawrence. It marks the spot which harbors the earthly remains of Catherine Tekakwitha, Lily of the Mohawks, the Indian maiden destined, we pray, to become the first native North American saint.

Catherine was born in Auriesville, New York, in 1656. She was baptized at Caughnawaga, near Fonda, New York, on Easter Sunday, April 18, 1676, and died at Lachine, Canada, on the Wednesday of Holy Week April 17, 1680, fully conscious, clasping her crucifix and saying repeatedly: "Jesus, I love you." Her death was the occasion of extraordinary religious manifestations. It was apparent that all regarded her as a saint. Her mat, blanket and crucifix were regarded as sacred relics. Prayers were offered to her. Novenas were made and Masses offered in her honor.

Very soon it became known that prayers to her were answered in a remarkable manner. Many were the favors granted from Heaven. Cures through her intercession became so frequent that Father Cholenec, the parish priest of the Indian village at Lachine, ceased to record them. The record of the favors obtained from her shortly after her death is inspiring and edifying.

Make Every Day Count

"Genius," according to the late Thomas Edison, "is 99 percent perspiration and one percent inspiration." This is a good thought to keep in mind at the beginning of a new school year. It does not matter how far advanced one is along the road of formal education—that is, education in school—it is never too late to get a firm grip on the truth that nothing is accomplished except by work.

Usually at the beginning of the school year we make all sorts of good resolutions about making the year the most profitable one that we have yet had at school. But confronted with the real task, we too often become faint-hearted—we find ourselves slipping a little, putting off until tomorrow what might just as well be done today. Finally, we get so far behind the real mastery of our books and lessons that we lose all hope of doing anything more than merely holding on, and many drop by the wayside.

But the way to learn, the way to advance, is to keep up every day. Make every day count by filling its quota of time with a good fund of labor. All wealth, economists tell us, is simply stored up labor—labor that reproduces itself. That is what is known as the accumulation of capital. Work develops our faculties and so stores up within us capital—the ability to accomplish more and better work in the future. Our ability to work enables us to supply our own wants and needs, imparts great personal satisfaction and serves our neighbor, in the same manner that with his work he serves himself and us.

Edison's thought about genius being for the most part work is essentially true. But not wholly so. Hard work is, of course, necessary to the development of genius, but if one does not have genius as a native endowment, hard work in itself will not produce genius. It will, however, go a long way in bringing us toward that goal. Whatever natural endowment we may have, we cannot utilize it or develop it except by work.

It is perhaps true that at the outset all work is more or less drudgery. It is only through the initial effort of work that we acquire the ability to work, that we acquire some degree of familiarity with the thing we are trying to do, and so acquire a facility and interest in it which we did not have when we began and which, if we had allowed ourselves to be discouraged, we should never have acquired, having never put forth the effort to do so.

It makes no difference what line of study we take up in school—whether it be arithmetic, geography, history, English, or what—we shall find that at first we have great difficulty in getting into it and really understanding what we study. The initial effort constitutes the real drudgery. But as soon as our first efforts begin to bear fruit, this fruit is capital to us—it enables us to start again with a minimized sense of drudgery and with a pleasing sense of understanding better and accomplishing more. Each new accomplishment leads on to greater accomplishment.

This is the process of getting an education, of training our minds, of developing our faculties, of acquiring the ability to understand and to do—and this is the secret of worthwhile living—the kind of living that is summed up in this little poem by John Sullivan Dwight:

Work, and thou wilt bless the day ere the toil be done,
They that work not can not pray, can not feel the sun.
God is living, working still, all things work and move;
Work, or lose the power to will, lose the power to love.

Behind the Scenes

It may be like finding a new star in the heavens for some to learn that there are over five thousand real, full-fledged Jesuits who are not in Holy Orders nor on their way to become priests. The work of these Jesuit Brothers has been quiet and unobtrusive; nevertheless, it has been important and has had a far-reaching effect.

According to the Constitutions of St. Ignatius, the Founder of the Society of Jesus, the Brother is designated as a "co-adjutor." This means that the Brothers in general give assistance in doing the work of the Society of Jesus in conducting colleges, high schools, parishes, etc.

It may be interesting to inquire what these Brothers do in their daily lives of consecration to God's service to assist the Superiors and priests in performing the works of the Society. The work of the Brothers falls into three general classes. First of all there are the trades. In the institutions conducted by the Chicago Province Jesuits, namely their universities, high schools, parishes, etc., there is constant need of men trained in the various trades. Carpenters, painters, auto mechanics, steam fitters, plumbers, stationary engineers, electricians, all of these and others are in demand. In the institutions situated in the country districts there is further need of gardeners, farmers and of men skilled in the growing of vegetables, fruits, etc. Secondly, there are the domestic duties to be cared for—those duties connected more intimately with the residence halls of the institutions, such as cooking, management of dining rooms and kitchens, sacristan work, maintaining the buildings in cleanliness, etc. Lastly, there are the more or less professional duties to be done in the educational institutions of the Society. These are, as examples, the duties of assistant treasurer, assistant bursar, maintenance men, purchasing agent, assistant in scientific laboratories, director of a radio station, secretaries to officials, infirmarian, directors of acolythical societies, and others of a similar nature. From which it can easily be seen that the variety of occupations open to the Brothers of the Society is very great, and among them can be found an outlet for any talent that a candidate for admission may possess.

These are the works that fill a Brother's life. They are done in humility, in generosity and in perfect obedience and consequently no Brother's life can be a failure, as long as he obeys and uses his talents to the best of his ability. The standards of success in the religious are different from those of the world of business and industry. The hundred-fold in this life and eternal happiness in the next await the Brother who devotes the talents God has given him to His greater honor and glory to the best of his power. Your pastor will be glad to direct your search for more information about the life of Jesuit Brothers.

Perfect Trust

Oh, for the peace of a perfect trust, my loving God, in Thee;
Unwavering faith that never doubts Thou chooseth best for me.

Best, though my plans be all upset; best, though the way be rough;
Best, though my earthly store be scant; in Thee I have enough.

Best, though my health and strength be gone; though weary days be mine;
Shut out from much that others have, not my will, Lord, but Thine.

And even though disappointments come, they, too, are best for me,
To wean me from this changing world, and lead me nearer Thee.

Oh, for the peace of a perfect trust that looks away from all;
That sees Thy Hand in everything, in great events or small.

That hears Thy Voice—a Father's Voice—directing for the best.
Oh, for the peace of a perfect trust, a heart with Thee at rest.

Youth and Crime

Crime in this country has reached proportions that should make it a matter of deepest concern to every citizen. Indeed it has gone so far that it has become a matter of personal and individual—even of selfish—interest to all.

In an address delivered before the New York "Herald Tribune" Forum on "Youth and Crime," Mr. J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation gave some facts and figures which reveal, as he himself says, "a most astounding set of terrifying conditions." Certainly they are such as to alarm any person of intelligence and to make one wonder whither we are drifting—for drifting we are.

Mr. Hoover gives the following facts: "Aggravated robbery, theft, arson, rape, felonious assault or murder annually are visited upon one of every sixteen homes in America. Last year in this supposedly enlightened, advanced, civilized country there was a minimum of 12,000 murders and an estimated total of 1,445,581 major crimes. Thus, one of every eighty-four persons in the United States was subjected to injury or death through the workings of this tremendous crime aggregate."

Mr. Hoover estimates that crime costs every American citizen $120 a year. If the cost of crime were eliminated for two years, it would pay the national debt, and for three years, it would pay America's share in the World War plus a generous bonus.

And saddest of all is the fact that 20 per cent of this crime is committed by persons not yet old enough to vote, by children not yet out of their "teens," and who therefore should still be under the supervision of the home. And the crimes they commit, besides burglaries and larcenies, include almost a thousand murders a year.

What has come over the soul of America? What has happened to her youth? What evil influence is exerting itself to produce such a terrifying condition of affairs? One does not have to be a pessimist, nor one of those who always "view with alarm," to consider such a state of affairs menacing, or to confess that there has been a rapid decline in the morals of the past generation.

Mr. Hoover speaks of it as an undeniable indictment of the American parent of today. Undoubtedly it is. Much of the fault lies there. But there have been other evil influences. The aura of adventure which surrounds the criminal in cheap novels and magazines and in the movies has helped to vitiate the moral principles of the young and to give them a false view of life. But above all, there is a lack of religious training, both at home and in the school, with a consequent lack of a sense of moral responsibility. Without this religious training, which alone can form properly the characters of American youth, we can hope for no improvement in the conditions Mr. Hoover so justly deplors.

Your Neighbors

Study the boys and girls around you. Each has some outstanding virtues. Try to imitate them. Perhaps each has some outstanding faults. Try to avoid them, and in charity offer a prayer that their possessors may overcome them.

Be not changeable, but remain steadfast in the way of virtue; for not he who begins well, but he who endures to the end, shall be saved.

The Other Man

Perhaps he sometimes slipped a bit—
Well, so have you;
Perhaps some things he ought to quit—
Well, so should you.
Perhaps he may have faltered—shy,
Why, all men do, and so have I.
You must admit, unless you lie,
That so have you.

Perhaps if we should stop and think,
Both I and you,
When painting someone black as ink,
As some folks do;
Perhaps, if we would recollect,
Perfection we would not expect,
But just a man halfway correct,
Like me and you.

I'm just a man who's fairly good,
I'm just like you;
I've done some things I never should,
Perhaps like you.
But, thank the Lord, I've sense to see
The rest of men with Charity;
They're good enough if good as me—
Or men like you.

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

REV. THOMAS J. HIGGINS, S. J., Rector.

All Ye Who Pass By the Way

As Ye pass along the roadway trodden by My Son Divine,
Oh, attend and see if ever soul didst bear such grief as Mine;
On the cross there hangs My Jesus, He Who is My God, My Son,
He Who gave His Love to mankind; see what sins of men have done;
With no friendly eyes turned toward Him, and no heart with love to beat,
There is none to stand beside Him but His Mother, at His Feet;
It was I Who saw His sufferings, which brought death on Calvary's Hill,
And I saw them scourge and crown Him, saw them crucify and kill;

As I saw the pain He suffered, saw His Soul in anguish torn,
Then My Heart was pierced with Sorrow, as foretold when He was born;
All the pain the Crown of Thorns brought, He didst suffer to atone,
For the thoughts, impure and sinful, which man's mind shouldst ever own;
As they lanced His Heart, His Blood gushed, over souls of men to flow,
Thus to bring them Love's Redemption, so that they would heaven know;
In His Hands and Feet were hammered, nails which anguish, torture made,
Whilst suspended there in torment, He for pardon for them prayed;

Not a part of His dear Body but held suffering deep within,
Man, behold Thy bleeding Saviour, see the Price He paid for sin;
By His Cross, I stood heartbroken, as I saw His Soul depart,
How I yearned to touch, caress Him, longed to clasp Him to My Heart;
Oh, to have what Mothers long for, just to hold Him 'til life fled,
But this comfort was denied Me, 'til My Jesus lay there dead;
Queen of Martyrs, next to Jesus, Thou didst bear life's greatest pain,
By Thy Sorrows, never let us crucify Thy Son again.

TO HER BOYS

NO, the woman here is not actually the mother of a Jesuit Priest, nor even of a priest-to-be. But in helping to support our 700 Seminarians in the Houses of Study at Woodstock, Wernersville and St. Andrew-on-Hudson, she is happy in the knowledge that she is sharing spiritually not only in their many Masses and prayers but in the numerous apostolic works of the Jesuit Fathers all over the world. They are, she feels, her "boys".

You, too, can make them your "boys" and attain the same high spiritual benefits by Enrollment in

The Gesu Parish Improvement Association

The Gesu Parish Improvement Association is making strides towards accomplishment of its purpose which is to restore our beloved Parish to its former standing; bring back former parishioners who have departed because of undesirable conditions and attract residents who value highly the privileges enjoyed by Gesu Parishioners, but who have never made their homes here.

How are we doing these things? By earnest co-operation on the part of our volunteer teams canvassing for information as to owners, tenants and prospective tenants.

Perhaps you have thought "It's a good idea but what can I do about it?" You can help very substantially by attending meetings, absorbing the information obtained there and carrying it out among your neighbors and friends. There are no dues—a small contribution of $1.00 is requested of those who can afford it to finance the incidental expenses of correspondence, etc., but this is by no means the most important part of the work.

The important part is your PLEDGE OF ASSISTANCE! Attend the meetings—learn how the plans are being carried out—you will be surprised at the results already accomplished. You will just naturally be encouraged to go out and lend your enthusiasm to the movement. It means increased value to you and a rejuvenation of the Gesu Parish. Your efforts will be doubly rewarded.

Are You Trying To Sell Your Home?

Don't; at least not until after 1940. This is the advice Roy Wenzlick, considered the leading authority in the United States on real estate trends, gives in his latest pamphlet "The Coming Boom in Real Estate."

Mr. Wenzlick, a former newspaper man, bases the reason for the inevitable boom on the dispersment of families that doubled up during the depression; the increase in the marriage rate, which dropped far below normal due to the depression, thus creating a reserve of unmarried couples that at present is three times greater than normal; the increase in population; and the fact that business recovery has stopped the back-to-the-farm movement. If only a portion of this reserve is released, it will cause the greatest housing shortage we have ever experienced.

Mr. Wenzlick advises home-owners not to sell until the height of the boom which will be some time during the early forties. Tenants should either buy a home or demand a long-term lease which includes clauses for redecorating and repairing. He predicts that the real estate sections of the newspapers will be filled with advertisements offering bonuses as high as $30. for any kind of living quarters.

This advice should be carefully considered by our parishioners for our parish is so situated that it will be one of the first sections to profit by the inevitable boom.

We Must—

WE must obtain tenants for unoccupied homes (see below).

WE must improve our own houses to induce others to follow our example.

WE must contribute to the support of the movement of organizing to stop further inroads.

WE must get every person in every block in the Parish to become members in order to make the voice of the people heard by those who for selfish reasons wish to lower the standards of living in this neighborhood.

WE must induce owners and tenants not to let properties become unoccupied especially in the zone of combat.

WE must be ready to sacrifice time and money in the work of restoring this region to its former grandeur.

WE must not give up the Gesu without fighting for it.

WE must consider this a battle to preserve the family as the proper unit of society.

Tenants For Unoccupied Homes

Buyers and tenants for houses and apartments in the Gesu Parish should be directed to 1939 W. Girard Avenue, the home of Dr. Francis Stokes. The phone number is POPLAR 3347. By consulting the list of vacant properties which the Association has gathered at these headquarters, buyers and tenants can spare themselves time and trouble and be immediately put in touch with the owners or agents who have the properties which exactly fill their needs.

Along the Way

They say that flowers grew along the way
He walked, and all their heads were hung in shame;
The song of birds was hushed until He came,
And went—they knew not why—that bitter day.
Along His pallid brow the living thorn
Wept for the hated part it needs must play,
And if the cross had dared to disobey
His sacred shoulder never had been torn.

But all along the way He looked for one
To comfort Him; one human heart to break
For pity, or one sinner stabbed awake
To grieve together with Him. There was none.
Along the crowded years men walk in pride
As if for them a God had never died.

Spain—Communism or Christianity

A month of most sanguinary war with its wholesale destruction of churches and convents, its murder of hundreds of priests and nuns, the imprisonment of all suspected of entertaining opinions differing from those of the Red mobs that dominate the Government, has brought to light what was evident to those who have followed the course of events in Spain since the overthrow of the monarchy and the establishment of the Republic in 1931, namely, that the Spanish civil war is a death struggle between two absolutely opposed ideals: Communism dominated by Godless Red Russia, and Christianity.

At last the general public is coming to learn the true state of affairs in that unhappy country. The reports of so many unbiased foreigners, who have escaped out of the horrors of war, make manifest the true issues involved in the civil war.

The New York Herald Tribune of August 18th, published an uncensored analysis of the Spanish civil war, written by William T. Stuttard, Madrid correspondent of "The Morning Post," of London. Mr. Stuttard was in Madrid at the outbreak of the revolution on July 18th, and has just arrived at Marseilles, France.

The following excerpts from his wireless article to the Herald Tribune give a true account of the issues involved in this war.

"Many persons abroad, apparently unacquainted with Spain and her politics, believe that the civil war is a fight between democracy and dictatorship. This is a great mistake, because whichever side wins the probability that democracy will survive in Spain is slim.

"The issues in the civil war are clear. The revolution is a national movement of many classes—Right Republicans, Monarchists, Catholics, Traditionalists and others—who have combined efforts to save Spain from the so-called People's Front Government which is dominated by Red elements—Communists, Socialists, Syndicalists and Anarchists. The rebels aim to save their country from the domination of Moscow and they regard the war as a fight to save Christianity.

"In Madrid, Barcelona, Valencia and other territory controlled by the People's Front Government there has been a wanton destruction of churches, convents and monasteries, with their works of art from many centuries past. Priests and nuns have been murdered in cold blood.

"Outside the Church of San Luis, in Alcala Street, this correspondent two days ago saw a statue of the Child Jesus propped up at the entrance, with a red loin cloth wrapped about the waist and the symbol of the revolutionary slogan painted on the chest. A pistol was tied to the statue's hand with string. Cartridges could be seen peeping out from the top of the loin cloth. A card beneath the statue announced that the child Jesus had become a Communist.

"The Soviet star, hammer and sickle are painted over the facades of other churches. . . One can scarcely get out of sight of the red flag." Arthur Brisbane in his syndicated article for the Hearst papers has this to say:

"The war of so-called 'rebellion' is based on religious conviction of millions of Spaniards, horrified by the burning of churches and the ill-treatment of Catholic priests and nuns, with other revolting features every day.

"Russia is, according to reliable reports, in constant communication with the Madrid Government by radio.

"Newspapers in England and the more conservative newspapers of France declared that Russia, in addition to advising Madrid concerning the immediate civil war and helping the Spanish Government by the purchase of Spanish bonds, is also sending by radio detailed information as to the organization in Spain of a 'Soviet Government' similar to that existing in Russia."

Mr. Brisbane adds this piece of horror:

"When the French newspaper, 'The Friend of the People,' described fighters for Madrid's Radical Government digging up and throwing from their graves the bodies of Catholic nuns that horror seems beyond belief.

"But Lord Rothermere's newspaper, ('The London Daily Mail'), prints the statement that other nuns ALIVE were seized, three of them, their clothing saturated with gasoline and burned to death."

Feasts of the Month

BL. ANTHONY IXIDA AND COMPANIONS, S.J., MM.—SEPTEMBER 3

At Nangasaki in Japan on Martyr's Hill in the year 1632, Father Anthony Ixida Pinto, a Japanese, suffered for the Faith. He preached it for forty-five years by word and example amidst continual dangers to his life, with great fruit in the salvation of souls, in almost every province of the empire. Being captured, he avowed himself a Christian and a priest, and being asked to apostatize, he challenged his persecutors to try all their torments against his Christian fortitude. He was tortured in various ways by the sulphurous waters. He was suspended in such a way that all his joints were dislocated, and boiling water was poured on his shoulders. For thirty days he endured these and all the torments his persecutors could devise, and was at last burned by a slow fire at the age of sixty-four years, forty-four of which he had spent in the Society of Jesus.

BL. JAMES BONNAUD, WILLIAM DELFAUD, ALEXANDER LANFANT AND TWENTY COMPANIONS, S.J., MM.—SEPTEMBER 4

During the horrors of the French Revolution, in the month of September, 1792, in Paris were cruelly put to death out of hatred of the Faith, three Bishops and a large number of priests, religious and laymen—one hundred and ninety-one in all—for refusal to take the iniquitous oath to the civil constitution of the clergy. Among them were twenty-three priests belonging to the suppressed Society of Jesus, who always full of the spirit of their Father, St. Ignatius, were laboring in the sacred ministry. These French Martyrs were beatified by Pius XI in 1926.

BL. THOMAS TZUGI AND MICHAEL NACAXIMA AND COMP., S.J., MM. SEPTEMBER 6

At Nangasaki, in Japan, in 1627, died Father Thomas Tzugi, member of an illustrious family of Omura, who had entered the Society of Jesus at an early age. After years of glorious toil, he was seized and condemned to death by fire along with his two Japanese hosts. In the midst of flames he spoke with great power and eloquence on the Passion of Christ and Faith in Him. Whilst singing "Laudate Dominum Omnes Gentes," he expired. The bystanders saw his breast part asunder and from it issue a purple flame, which flew upward to heaven, surrounded by a brilliant light.

On Christmas Day, in 1628, Michael Nacaxima, a Scholastic of the Society, was martyred for the Faith. He was often caned on the soles of his feet, was put to the torture of the water, then exposed to the burning heat of the sun and at length was plunged into the sulphurous and burning waters and so suffering gave up his blessed soul to God.

BL. MARK CRISINO, STEPHEN PONGRACZ AND MELCHIOR GRODECZ, S.J., MM.—SEPTEMBER 7

At Cassovia in Hungary in 1639 Fathers Stephen and Melchior were slain by the Calvinists out of hatred of the Faith. After three days in prison without food they were condemned to die. Father Stephen was offered his freedom, if he would become a Calvinist. On constantly refusing his breast was scorched with fire. He was finally strangled with Father Grodecz and Mark Crisino, Canon of Strigonia, who also had been engaged in combating the heresies of Calvin and Luther. They were beatified by Pius X in 1905.

MARY'S BIRTHDAY—SEPTEMBER 8

Our Mother's Birthday! Surely every loving Child of Mary rejoices at the coming of this day. The feast of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin is, in a special way, a feast of sodalists, whose dearest title is this, that they are, in a particular manner, Children of Mary. The birthdays usually celebrated by the Church are those that commemorate the passage of the Saints from earth to eternal life. Only in two instances does she celebrate the days that mark the natural birth of Saints on earth; one is the feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist; the other is our Lady's Birthday on September 8.

Our Blessed Lady, preserved by a singular privilege from the faintest shadow of the stain of sin, and our Lord's great Precursor, St. John the Baptist, sanctified from original sin before his birth, were born into the world in God's favor and grace; for this reason the Church honors their birth on earth.

Each recurrence of our dear Mother's Birthday should bring joy to the hearts of her children. Even as the Angels rejoiced at the birth of the Mother of God, who was to their Queen; even as the patriarchs and prophets rejoiced at the birth of the Woman who was to crush the head of the serpent, so should we be filled with gladness at the birth of her, whom our Lord on the Cross gave us to be our Mother.

"We can fancy," says a devout child of Mary, "how on earth the divine Child Jesus used to come to His Mother on that day with tenderest greetings, lavishing on her that unimaginable filial love of a Son who was God, and was in fact infinite Love. Their earthly lot was one of poverty and obscurity, but angels thronged that humble dwelling, and our own loving instinct tells that they sang birthday songs that her ears could hear, and that all her spiritualized senses, untrammelled by the slightest sin, were filled that day with delights that all earth's wealth could never buy. And perhaps the Child Jesus used to bring to His Immaculate Mother on her birthday the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valley, or a bunch of white grapes from the vineyard and a yellow handful of the divinest gladness, can imagine how He gave them to her, smiling with the divinest gladness, while prophecies that she needed no words to interpret, were written in the yearning rapture of His marvelous eyes. Those eyes saw ever the vision of heaven, and of the souls and sins of men, and the price they would cost, and Mary's power over His Sacred Heart to obtain pardon and salvation."

ST. PETER CLAVER, S.J.—SEPTEMBER 9

Born at Verdu in Spain in 1581, at the age of twenty he entered the Novitiate at Tarragona. While he was studying philosophy at Majorca in 1605, Alphonsus Rodriguez, the saintly door-keeper of the college, learned from God the future mission of the young Jesuit, and thenceforth never ceased exhorting him to set out to evangelize the Spanish possessions in America. Peter obeyed and in 1610 landed at Cartagena, the chief slave-mart of the New World, where for forty-four years he was the Apostle of Negroes who were constantly imported from Africa to cultivate the cotton soil and exploit the mines.

The moral and physical degradation of these unfortunate human beings, the brutalities to which they were subjected, and the contempt in which they were held as scarcely possessing a soul, do not bear description. Fr. Claver dedicated himself by vow to be "the slave of the Negroes forever." Every month, when the arrival of the Negroes was signalled, he went out to meet them, carrying food and delicacies. He cared for each one of them in particular, making him understand by the language of charity that, from that moment, he was his father and his defender. While the slaves waited in Cartagena to be purchased and dispersed, the Saint instructed and baptized them, looked after all their needs and protected them against their oppressors. More than 300,000 Negroes were instructed and baptized by him in his long apostolic life, supported by a charity truly superhuman. He died on September 8, 1654.

Peter Claver was beatified in 1850 and canonized in 1888 along with his friend Alphonsus Rodriguez. In 1896 he was proclaimed the special Patron of all Catholic Missions among the Negroes.

BLESSED CHARLES SPINOLA AND COMPANIONS, MM.—SEPTEMBER 10

At Nangasaki, in Japan, in the year 1622, died the Blessed Charles Spinola, an Italian, burned to death by a slow fire. He was born of noble parentage at Genoa. He prepared himself for martyrdom by severe penances and by making the Spiritual Exercises every year for thirty days. In the time of the most cruel persecution of Daifusama he secretly assisted the Japanese Christians, and baptized five thousand souls. At last, captured on December 14, 1618, he was thrust with his eight companions into the terrible prison of Omura, where to their sufferings they added voluntary afflictions of the body, such as fasts, watchings and scourgings. In the same prison there were also eight Dominicans, four Minorites, and thirty other Christians, among whom was Elizabeth Fernandez and her four-year-old child, Ignatius, beheaded for the Faith. When led out to die by fire, they sang psalms, sheddings tears of joy. While burning at the stake, Fr. Spinola inquired of Elizabeth where her son was. She lifted him above the crowd and said, "Behold him, Father, happy to die with me. Most willingly, indeed, do I sacrifice to my God the two things dearest to me, my life and my child." Then, turning to the boy: "See him who made you a child of God and gave you a life much better than the one which is to end now."

SEPTEMBER 25

At Tabina, in Japan, in the year 1622, died Father Camillus Constanzo, an Italian. In the midst of flames he sang the psalm "Laude Dominum Omnes Gentes," and after the "Gloria Patri" exclaimed three times in Japanese—"O how well it is with me!" And when his body was nearly consumed, he sang aloud five times "Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus," so that even the unbelievers were amazed at his indomitable courage. Augustine Ota, lay brother and catechist, was beheaded for the Faith. A few days before Father Camillus there died as martyrs Gaspar Cotenda, catechist, allied to the royal family, Francis Taquea, aged twelve years, and Peter Xequi, aged seven years.

NORTH AMERICAN MARTYRS—SEPTEMBER 26

Even in a purely human way only the Church is able to give an enduring immortality. Less than three hundred years ago eight men went out to death in the wilds of New York and Canada to meet the fire brand and the tomahawk of the Indian, and today their names resound through Christendom as heroic examples of those who testified to their belief by the shedding of their blood. No more valiant history was ever written than that written by Jogues, Brebeuf, Lalemant, Garnier, Lalande, Daniel, Chabanel and Goupil. A more courageous band never faced the trial of martyrdom. The country which produced them, France, and the country which they sanctified by their blood, America, both rejoice that these brave men had climbed the rough heights of martyrdom, and were raised to the greater heights of sainthood. It would be impossible to give the details of the suffering of these valiant men. One had undergone a constant martyrdom of four years. His fingers had been chewed or sawed off. He went back to his native land to gain a little rest so that, with renewed courage, he might return to face a greater penalty. His infirmity had prevented him from saying Mass until the knowledge reached the Pope, who in sending him a dispensation wrote, "It is not right that a martyr of Christ should not drink the blood of Christ." Even the savage Hurons, who did these men to death, could not withhold admiration for their courage. The heart of one was eaten that its virtues might abide in those who had partaken of it. The blood of Brebeuf was drunk for the Indians hoped, as they said, to be brave like him. Saints should not be compared. However, it is not trespassing this gentle injunction to say braver men never enriched the calendar of saints than these eight heroes who now become the common possession, not only of the Catholic world, but of mankind.

Our Bounden Duty

At this time of the year the thoughts of devoted parents turn anxiously to the ever-burning school question, because they realize that the choice of the right school for their children is one of their gravest responsibilities before God.

The mind of God's Church is very clear on this point. Catholic education for Catholic children, she says; the child of God must be educated and trained as such, and not as a mere thing of this world. Those who find fault with this heaven-inspired position of the Church, only show their own gross ignorance of our relations toward our Almighty Creator and Merciful Father, which are summed up in the word Religion. This is no mere matter of convenience to be used or set aside at our pleasure, nor is it like a coat of varnish that remains only on the surface; but it must permeate our whole being and become part of our very selves, inspiring, enlightening, directing and safeguarding us in all the details of life. How can something so vital be properly instilled except by educating the child day by day under its saving influence? It would be folly to expect to impart a knowledge of arithmetic or reading or spelling by a brief weekly lesson. Only too well we know that it takes earnest systematic work day after day. Our Religion is far more vital to the child of God than any mere secular knowledge, and must therefore be given corresponding importance in education.

True to their duty as Shepherds of the Flock of Christ, the American Bishops assembled in the Third Council of Baltimore, insisted on this important matter in unmistakable terms. Here are their words:

"We order and decree that all Catholic parents must send their children to the parochial schools, unless they otherwise provide sufficiently and plainly, either at home or in some other Catholic school, for the Christian education of their children. If, for one reason or another, permission is given to any children to attend other schools, the parents of such children must provide against all possible danger to their morals and faith; and the reasons for sending them to those schools must be satisfactory.

This is your duty. Our parishes are so well provided with schools that suitable arrangements can be made by any parents that really wish to do their duty. May God inspire them for their children's sake!

On Church Building

By Edgar A. Guest

God builds no churches! By His plan,
That labor has been left to man.
No spires miraculously rise,
No little mission from the skies
Falls on a bleak and barren place
To be a source of strength and grace.
The humblest church demands its price
In human toil and sacrifice.

Men call the church the house of God,
Towards which the toil-stained pilgrims plod
In search of strength and rest and hope,
As blindly through life's mists they grope,
And there God dwells, but it is man
Who builds that house and draws its plan;
Pays for the mortar and the stone
That none need seek for God alone.

There is no church but what proclaims
The gifts of countless generous names.
Ages before us spires were raised
'Neath which Almighty God was praised
As proof that He was then, as now.
Those sacred altars, where men bow
Their heads in prayer, and sorrow lifts
Its heavy weight, are Christian gifts!

The humblest spire in mortal ken,
Where God abides, was built by men.
And if the church is still to grow,
Is still the light of hope to throw
Across the valleys of despair,
Men still must build God's house of prayer.
God sends no churches from the skies,
Out of our hearts must they arise!

Retreats Grow and Spread

The statistics on the Retreat Movement for Laymen in the United States give indication of the way in which this important project for developing leaders has advanced in the past few years. We can only tell what has happened in the case of the men. Perhaps the record for the women would be equally impressive.

Laymen to the number of 34,700 made closed Retreats during the year 1934. This was in America alone. Of these, 29,000 were in the United States. The rest were in Canada.

As far as records have been kept, since the start of the Retreat Movement in our country, 290,000 men have made closed Retreats, which is an average of about 27,000 a year.

Of these, 1,400 were not Catholic. One Retreat last year was given exclusively for Lutherans, 79 attending.

There are in the United States 22 permanent Retreat Houses, with another 40 which are part-time Houses of Retreats—colleges, for the most part, used for Retreats during the summer.

Encouraging as the records are, one has only to contrast them with the number of Catholic men who should be making these Retreats to realize the distance the movement still has to travel. Sodalists will be doing their duty when they consider a yearly closed Retreat to be part of their own program of personal holiness.

"Cheer Up"

"Cheer up!" exclaims a writer in Young Folks, "the world is taking your photograph. Look pleasant. Of course you have your troubles—troubles you cannot tell the policeman. A whole lot of things bother you, of course. Business worries or domestic sorrows, it may be, or what not. You find life a rugged road whose stones hurt your feet. Nevertheless, cheer up.

"It may be your real disease is selfishness—ingrown selfishness. Your life is too self-centered. You imagine your tribulations are worse than others bear. You feel sorry for yourself—the meanest sort of pity. It is a pathetic illusion. Rid yourself of that and cheer up. Your ills are largely imaginary. If you were really on the brink of bankruptcy, or if there were no thoroughfare through your sorrows, you would clear your brows, set your teeth, and make the best of it.

"Cheer up! You are making a hypothetical case out of your troubles and suffering from a self-inflicted verdict. You are borrowing trouble and paying a high rate of interest.

"Cheer up! Why, man alive, in a ten-minute walk you may see a score of people worse off than you are. And here you are digging your own grave, and playing pallbearer into the bargain. Man alive, you must do your work! Smile, even though it be through your tears, which speedily dry. And cheer up!"

The Most Wonderful Way In the World

Winding from a spot in the City of Jerusalem out beyond the walls to the hill of Golgotha, is the most wonderful Way in the world—wonderful because twenty centuries ago Jesus Christ staggered over this Way, bearing the cross on which He was to die for the salvation of all mankind.

A pious tradition tells us—and it's so logical and so natural that it's easy to believe—that after the Ascension, Christ's Blessed Mother and others who knew Him, made daily visits to various memorable spots along that Way—places hallowed by the great sufferings and kindly acts of Jesus on His way to His death.

As Christianity spread, more and more people made pilgrimages to Jerusalem to tread the Way that He had trod in adoring commemoration of His passion and death. Later, because so long a journey was impossible to all, reproductions of these hallowed spots were fashioned in many places in Europe, and to these the people flocked to meditate and worship.

Finally, in 1731, Pope Clement XII sanctioned universal spread of the devotions now known as the Stations of the Cross. That is why today in every Catholic church in every land you may see in painting or sculpture fourteen stations, each visualizing one of the events of that first tortuous Way—events to stir the heart and mind of him who meditates thereon.

Can any Christian ever forget the Passion and Death of Jesus Christ? Should any Christian be allowed to? The Catholic Church keeps always before its people reminders of this stupendous sacrifice. It offers the choicest blessings in the name of God to him who, with contrite heart, journeys mentally with Christ along that most wonderful Way in the World—the Way of the Cross.

During Lent the Stations of the Cross are part of the weekly public devotions. But every day many drop into the nearest Catholic church and privately make the Stations of the Cross, offering up the graces gained for themselves, their friends, a specific worthy intention or for the souls of those who have gone before.

False Teachers

Our Lord's warning against false prophets is more timely today than ever. The false teachers are more numerous. We encounter them everywhere, in newspapers and periodicals, on the stage and on the motion picture screen.

picture screen, in the classroom and among those whom we meet casually everywhere. We are constantly in danger of having our minds poisoned by ignorant and malicious propaganda against Christian faith and morals. Unless we are watchful and thoughtful, we shall not readily detect false doctrines in religion in morals and in the social sciences. Modern false prophets often put on the sheep's clothing of progress and science in order to carry on their anti-Christian propaganda.

The average person who attacks Catholic faith and moral principles is more ignorant and conceited than malicious. For instance, we sometimes hear some weak kneed or fallen away Catholic make such flippant remarks as "This or that Catholic doctrine is the bunk." "I cannot believe this or that teaching of the Church." It is almost funny that he does not notice the ignorance and conceit that is revealed by such remarks. What does he really know about the Catholic religion, its philosophy, its history? That religion is the religion of the masses, of the millions in Christendom. It has won and held the allegiance and loyalty of the world's greatest scholars and thinkers such as Newman and Brownson, Pasteur and Chesterton. The man who brushes it all aside with some flippant remark is indeed conceited and does not know what he is talking about.

Scholars who really understand the Catholic position speak of the Church with respect and even with reverence, but we have in many of our state and secular universities, colleges and high schools, professors, instructors and teachers who ignorantly and flippantly attack the most enduring, the most consistent, the most wholesome, the most logical religion in the world. I pity the ignorant conceit of such persons, while I deplore the harm they do to some students. They have too much education for their intelligence. As St. Paul puts the matter, they are "wise in their own conceit but not wise unto sobriety." These small fry teachers who attack the Catholic religion remind us of the man who tried to break the Rock of Gibraltar with his fist.

Truth is mighty and must prevail. That is why the Catholic religion prevails and always will prevail in spite of the numerous false prophets and teachers. In thought and in action let us cling to the Rock of Ages.

A Direct Appeal

The pastor of St. Joseph's Church, New Platz, New York, Rev. Christopher B. McCann, gave this intelligent remembrance to his congregation on a recent Sunday:

"About one-fourth of all you pay for gasoline is tax. How much does this amount to in your case?"

"One-third of what you pay for cigarettes is tax. Count up what this amounts to in a week."

"You pay these taxes every day; you are asked to give to the Church but once a week."

"You are a consumer, pay all taxes levied against manufacturers of everything from the automobile down to the simplest cosmetic."

"The license plate on your car is a tax. You pay a tax on your electric light bills, on your telephone—in fact on everything you use."

"Now consider what you really give to God in your Parish. How very small it is when compared to the sum total of all other taxes. Yet what work is more worthy of your support? From what other source do you derive benefits equal to one percent of those you derive from your Church?"

"Almighty God required people in the Old Law to pay 10 percent of their total incomes to Religion. Today people pay more than 10 percent of their income for all kinds of taxes, but merely a mite to their Church."

"May I ask you to ponder well this question and to co-operate with me, to do your part in advancing the honor and glory of Almighty God."

Friendship

We do not expect a plant in our dooryard to flourish if it is left without water, and to battle with the weeds unaided. And why should we expect a neglected friendship to keep on blossoming? If you are too busy to go to see your friend, or to write him when you are away, if you are too absorbed to notice when his face is overcast, too selfish to help him when the opportunity comes—why should you expect that your intimacy will remain vital and beautiful? Keep your friendship well cultivated by its fragrant blossoms.

In the Footsteps of the King

Some nineteen hundred years ago this earth the Master trod,
His Blessed Feet didst imprints leave to show the way to God;
Those Feet were used to search for men to whom life proved unkind,
The old and lonely, poor and sad, the palsied, deaf and blind;
Where sickness was, where death had come, where faith and hope were spent,
Where men despaired, where hearts didst grieve, the Feet of Jesus went;
They found Him not in palaces among the rich and grand,
But in the midst of those who craved a Heart to understand;

The road He walked is plainly marked, His Footprints linger there,
So men may follow in His Steps and make the world more fair;
That road which knew His Sacred Step has unattractive grown,
And love for God and fellowmen from hearts of men has flown;
The things He pleaded for in Life, those things for which He died,
The things for which His Heart still yearns are by men brushed aside;
They seek instead the road that's wide and bright with pleasure's glow,
They shun the burden of the Cross His Shoulders once didst know;

Yet over all the world's turmoil, there comes the Voice of God:
"Take up thy cross and follow Me along the road I trod";
It is a sad and lonely road and ends beside the grave,
Its recompense—God's Smile of Love and hope to men we gave;
For if we dry the tears of grief and still the orphans' cry,
And burdens lift from hearts of men and bring hope to their eye;
Ah, then, we follow in His Steps, along the road which brings,
Reward Eternal in the Home of Christ, Our God, Our King;
O' King of Love, be always near to guide us lest we roam,
And never let us lose the way that leads to Thee and Home.

WILLIAM F. SHERIDAN.

TO HER BOYS

NO, the woman here is not actually the mother of a Jesuit Priest, nor even of a priest-to-be. But in helping to support our 700 Seminarians in the Houses of Study at Woodstock, Wernersville and St. Andrew-on-Hudson, she is happy in the knowledge that she is sharing spiritually not only in their many Masses and prayers but in the numerous apostolic works of the Jesuit Fathers all over the world. They are, she feels, her "boys".

You, too, can make them your "boys" and attain the same high spiritual benefits by Enrollment in

Plenary Indulgences

On October 10, feast of St. Francis Borgia, S.J., and October 30, feast of St. Alphonsus Rodriguez, S.J., a plenary indulgence may be gained. To gain these two indulgences it is necessary, besides complying with the ordinary conditions of Confession and Communion, to visit this church and pray for the intentions of our Holy Father, the Pope.

The Card Parties

Mindful of the splendid spirit of co-operation on the part of our parishioners toward our Card Parties, it has been decided to continue a series of Parties from October, 1936 to May 1937. In addition to the atmosphere of friendliness and good-fellowship fostered by the Card Parties and Receptions, they have been a heartening source of financial assistance to our Church in its need. I am confident for future success I can rely on the same generous aid of all our dear friends. We will divide the Parish into four sections, each section to conduct a Party, but supported by the whole Parish. In addition we will have two General Parish Parties, six in all.

The tentative dates are as follows:

- Section 1—October 23, 1936
- Section 2—December 4, 1936
- Section 3—January 8, 1937
- General Party—February 5, 1937
- Section 4—April 9, 1937
- General Party—May 14, 1937

Details will be arranged at meeting previous to each Card Party.
Gratefully in Our Lord,

Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

Both junior and senior divisions of the Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae will resume activities this month, when the club rooms and gymnasium in the parochial and high school buildings will be reopened. Members are urged to be present at the meetings of their group, at which plans for the coming year will be discussed and elections of officers will be held. Mary McLaughlin and Jeanette Hughes, members of the Alumnae, have entered the novitiate of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart. Catherine Martin has entered the Order of the Sisters of St. Joseph.

The Girl Scout Troops

On Monday evening, August 31, the Girl Scouts of Troops 25 and 39 prepared for a party as a farewell reception in honor of three of the members who were entering religious life. These are: Mary T. McLaughlin, who was entering the novitiate of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary on September 8; Clare G. Dealy, who was entering the novitiate of the Missionary Sisters of the Most Blessed Trinity on September 24; and Cath. T. Martin, who was entering the novitiate of the Sisters of St. Joseph on September 2.

The apartment of the Girl Scouts was decorated with multi-colored ribbons and lights, in appearance like a huge spider-web. From many angles of the web various gifts were pendant for the three Religious candidates.

Everything was splendidly arranged and decorated, and delicious refreshments served under the direction of Captain Agnes M. Sweeney. The departing candidates assured their Sister Girl Scouts that the occasion will be a happy memorial for them in religious life. Among the guests were: Rev. Father Rector, Father Charles Rohleder, Brother Stengel, S.J., and Miss Virginia Carroll.

Gesu Parish Improvement Association

Have you ever stopped to consider how many institutions, religious or educational, business or charitable, there are in this neighborhood? To mention but a few—our own Church, Rectory, School and Convent, St. Joseph's Prep, St. Joseph's Hospital, The Little Sisters of the Poor, The Little Sisters of the Assumption, Girard College, The U. S. Post Office, the Farmer's Market, The Bell Telephone Building, The Philadelphia Electric Power Plant. And considering the number of public schools, Protestant Churches and clubs, we have an impressive list, which compares most favorably with any other residential district in the city.

Now just what bearing does this have on real estate? Simply this. These institutions represent investments in buildings and equipment which cannot and will not be abandoned over night. In short, they are anchors which tend to keep a neighborhood stable; to prevent sudden changes and deterioration. This situation alone will not raise the value of property, nor will it prevent the influx of undesirables, but it will be a great help and a strong bulwark for an aroused and active group of residents.

Just A Reminder

That the GESU PARISH IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION formed a few months ago is working for YOU—endeavoring to preserve the value of YOUR HOME—aiming to bring into YOUR neighborhood desirable tenants—urging owners to bring their properties into a state of modern comfort—contacting non-resident owners to invite them to attend our meetings and co-operate with us in our efforts. THAT IS WHAT THE ASSOCIATION DOES.

What are YOU contributing to their efforts? Do you give moral support by attending the meetings? Do you financially support by subscribing the small sum of $1.00 yearly dues to take care of incidental expenses? Have YOU offered to give a few hours of your time in contacting your neighbor, acquainting him with the purpose of our organization, seeking his pledge to co-operate with us, requesting signatures to the petition which is to be filed with our local authorities acquainting them of our desires and needs, presenting your suggestions and ideas on how best to improve our Parish conditions? Or have you been indifferent, inclined to "let George do it?" If so, why not make a resolution to help George. It will be worth your while; beneficial to yourself and your neighbor; and will bring about the gradual increase in property values which will restore your home to its original standard.

There are ways to correct existing conditions—ways too numerous to list here—but nevertheless ways which are being constructively worked out. And everyone in the Parish can participate and benefit. But, so far the workers have been too few. That is why this particular message is addressed to YOU, PERSONALLY. Because it is YOUR responsibility.

Strangely, it seems to be the men of the Parish who are missing. Where are they? The heads of the families, the lords and masters of the home, the fathers who have toiled to provide homes for their families seem to be lacking the incentive to save those homes. Why? No doubt, because they have not given the matter sufficient thought to realize its purpose. Or perhaps they think it is a women's organization. Well, isn't it an organization for all those who are making their homes within the confines of the GESU PARISH or who own properties within that Parish. And—if you know Father Gallagher, you can realize he makes the meetings interesting. If you attend the next meeting, you will need no urging to be present thereafter. You will go home wondering why you had not attended before.

Incidentally, keep in mind that Dr. Francis Stokes, 1939 W. Girard Ave. (Phone POP 3347) has a list of vacancies with all necessary information which has been compiled for the benefit of prospective tenants or buyers. This is a shortcut to property seeking and will help you get a desirable home before the cold weather catches up with you. Consult Dr. Stokes.

Feasts of the Month

ROSARY DEVOTIONS

Every night during this month, in accordance with the prescription of Pope Leo XIII, we have the series of church services now known as "The October Devotions." They consist of the recitation of five decades of the Beads, the Litany of the Blessed Virgin and a special prayer to St. Joseph, during the Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, closing with Benediction.

We do not feel that there is any need to urge our people to honor our Lady during the month of the Holy Rosary. Ever since Pope Leo XIII consecrated October to this devotion, the Catholic faithful have embraced with an ardent love this new opportunity to honor our Heavenly Queen, and most abundant have been the blessings that the clients of the rosary have won for their souls from the faithful practice of reciting the beads every day in a serious and meditative manner. It is an instinct of our Catholic faith to love the rosary, and to know how to say it with reference to the fifteen mysteries, and with proper reflection, in so far as one can do so, on the scenes which the mysteries depict and the lessons which they impart. Some members of each family should assist at these devotions. A plenary indulgence is granted, under the usual conditions, to all those who attend the exercises on at least ten evenings.

THE GUARDIAN ANGELS—OCTOBER 2

October is peculiar in being dedicated to two devotions, that of the Holy Angels and, for the past thirty-six years, that of the Holy Rosary. Happily these two devotions work most beautifully together. We should be indeed sorry to see the Angels lose the month so long known as theirs, but these blessed spirits willingly share it with the Queen of Angels, under her invocation, "Queen of the Most Holy Rosary." For is not the Rosary in the main made up of the Angelical Salutation?

All of us should have a true devotion to our Guardian Angels, which may be shown by receiving Holy Communion in their honor on their feasts, and especially by invoking their powerful aid in all dangers and temptations.

God extends His protection to us through many agents, chief among whom are the Guardian Angels, whose office it is to assist and save all human wayfarers from the perils that at every turn in the road threaten the life of both body and soul. This consoling truth is clearly taught in the Scriptures which say: "For He hath given His Angels charge over thee in all thy ways."

Beautiful and endearing mission, that of the Guardian Angels, one of whom is appointed by God for each one of us to lead his ward to Heaven. Especially intimate is their care for the young: for the headlong child that dashes on to some thing of joy, though chasms yawn between him and his bauble; that reaches out to touch the candle flame, unmindful of its burning; that would close fingers on the shining blade, not reckoning on the injury sure to follow; that would pluck the flowers of beauty or pleasure, even though a serpent were to lie in the grass nearby to wound and poison unto death.

Not only the years of childhood, but youth in its prime, and manhood in its decay and old age come within the province of the ministering Angels. A simple faith in the power and protection of our celestial companion, who walks with us every step of our life, is one of the greatest needs of our materialistic and self-sufficient age. Surrounded as we are by the vast throng of malign and unfriendly spirits that menace the soul, and by physical dangers that jeopardize the very existence of the body, let us turn constantly to our Guardian Angels for that defense and protection, which they alone can give, and show these all-shielding spirits the honor and gratitude they deserve.

All through life our heavenly guardian attends us, and when we come to die, the Church prays that the Angels of God may meet our departing souls, receive them, present them before the Lord and conduct them to their place of rest. The Church in blessing our graves prays that God would assign them Holy Angels as their keepers.

SAINT TERESA OF THE CHILD JESUS (THE LITTLE FLOWER) (October 3)

Few saints in our times have grown more popular than the "Little Flower." Her history abounds in wonders. Born on January 2, 1873, at Alencon (France), she entered the convent at the age of 15 and died nine years afterwards, on September 30, 1897, at Lisieux. She predicted, before she died, that she would become the wonder-worker of our time, dropping roses in abundance from heaven on earth:—"I will spend my heaven doing good upon earth." The "Little Flower" was canonized only 28 years after her death and has become one of the most beloved of all saints, the world over.

Promises of the Little Flower

"I count fully on not remaining idle in Heaven. My longing is to labor even there for the Church and souls. I ask it of God and I am certain He will hear my prayer. Even now I know it. All my hopes will be realized. Yea, our Lord will work wonders for me that will infinitely surpass my boundless desires."

"Nor is this impossible, since the very heart of the Beatific Vision the Angels keep watch over us. No, there can be no rest for me until the end of the world. But when the Angel shall have said 'Time is no more!' then shall I rest, then I shall be able to rejoice because the number of the elect will be complete."

"God will do my will in Heaven, because I have never done my own on earth."

"After my death I will let fall a shower of roses."

ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI—OCTOBER 4

Among all the servants of God, who have adorned the Church during her nineteen centuries of existence, there are few who have exerted so powerful an influence on the world as St. Francis of Assisi.

Born in the town of Assisi, in Umbria, in the year 1182, he was early distinguished by his love for the poor and the unfortunate. Yet he was very worldly for a time, nor did a prison cell or a dangerous sickness open his eyes to his folly. It was his love of the poor that made a Saint of him and brought him the beginning of those graces that soon transformed him into a seraph of divine love. In a remarkable vision God's seal was set upon him in the stigmata he bore on his hands and feet and over his heart. In the foundation of his wonderful Order of Friars Minor, many great servants of God were drawn to him to lend lustre to the work. Poverty was his favorite virtue, to which he joined a truly admirable meekness and contempt of the world.

ST. FRANCIS BORGIA—OCTOBER 10

Worldly honors and possessions, so often an impediment in the path of virtue, proved no obstacle to the sanctity of this Spanish nobleman. In the midst of the cares attendant upon the high offices he filled in the state, he won the admiration of all by the austerity of his life and his practice of Christian virtue. It fell to his lot, as Viceroy of Catalonia, to escort the remains of the Empress Isabella to the City of Granada. When the coffin was opened, he was struck with horror at the sight of the ravages wrought by death in the once beautiful features and immediately registered a vow henceforth to serve no mortal monarch, but only the King of kings.

Upon the death of his wife, he entered the Society of Jesus, of which he had long been a friend and benefactor, hoping thus to remain more securely hidden and to cut off all possibility of being advanced to high honors in the Church. Five times he refused the Cardinal's hat, offered to him by several Popes, and when, in 1565, he was elected the third General of the Society of Jesus, he burst into a flood of tears. He died at Rome in 1572.

ST. MARGARET MARY—OCTOBER 17

Members of the League and all true lovers of the Sacred Heart will not allow the 17th of October to pass without some very special devotional preparation for the celebration of the feast of St. Margaret Mary, the humble Visitation nun, whom our Divine Lord chose from among all the holy souls of the seventeenth and previous and subsequent centuries to be His instrument in spreading devotion to His Sacred Heart. St. Margaret Mary was canonized, that is, raised to the altars of the Church, only a few years ago.

October 17 ought to be a day of general Communion for all the lovers of the Sacred Heart, thus honoring her whom our Lord honored and showing our devotion to her by doing what she desires more than anything else, as our Divine Lord taught her, namely, to receive Holy Communion in reparation for the coldness and indifference shown our Lord's Sacred Heart and to intercede for poor sinners.

THE FEAST OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST, KING—OCTOBER 25

Our Holy Father, Pope Pius XI, is most anxious that Catholics all over the world should celebrate the Feast of Our Lord, Jesus Christ, King, with all possible fervor.

The Feast of Our Lord Christ, King, ought to be celebrated not merely in the churches, but in every Catholic household of our Lord. What more appropriate ceremony could be suggested than the renewal by all the members of each family of their consecration to the Sacred Heart of Jesus? Before the family altar with its statue or picture of the Sacred Heart, father, mother and all the children should kneel to recite their pledge to be faithful to Him, so that He may ever reign over their lives. Our consecration to the Heart of Jesus should be no mere form of words, but a heartfelt dedication to the service of Jesus Christ.

Millions of families in the United States are thus consecrated. We have recommended it year after year. All these are invited to make the coming feast memorable by a renewal of their consecration. Families not yet consecrated should delay no longer to give the Heart of Jesus this consolation and to ensure for themselves the abundance of blessings promised to those who honor Him in this way.

Consecration of the Human Race to the Sacred Heart of Jesus
Most sweet Jesus, Redeemer of the human race, look down upon us humbly prostrate before Thy altar. We are Thine, and Thine we wish to be; but, to be more surely united with Thee, behold each one of us freely consecrates himself today to Thy Most Sacred Heart. Many indeed have never known Thee; many, too, despising Thy precepts, have rejected Thee. Have mercy on them all, most merciful Jesus, and draw them to Thy Sacred Heart. Be Thou King, O Lord, not only of the faithful who have never forsaken Thee, but also of the prodigal children who have abandoned Thee; grant that they may quickly return to their Father's house, lest they die of wretchedness and hunger. Be Thou King of those who are deceived by erroneous opinions, or whom discord keeps aloof, and call them back to the harbor of truth and unity of faith, so that soon there may be but one flock and one Shepherd. Be Thou King of all those who are still involved in the darkness of idolatry or of Islamism and refuse not to draw them all into the light and kingdom of God. Turn Thine eyes of mercy toward the children of that race, once Thy chosen people. Of old they called down upon themselves the Blood of the Savior; may it now descend upon them a laver of redemption and of life. Grant, O Lord, to Thy Church assurance of freedom and immunity from harm; give peace and order to all nations, and make the earth resound from pole to pole with one cry: Praise to the Divine Heart that wrought our salvation; to It be glory and honor forever. Amen.

ST. ALPHONSUS RODRIGUEZ, S.J., THE LAY BROTHER—OCTOBER 30

On October 30 we celebrate the feast of St. Alphonsus Rodriguez, S.J., Confessor. This canonized saint of the Church was a Jesuit Lay Brother, who spent the last years of his life in the duties of a college porter.

There are many young men, and men who are no longer young, to whom this vocation might appeal if they knew more about it. A call on one of the Fathers in the rectory would be a means of obtaining further information.

Read and Remember!What is Communism?

Communism is the name given to an atheistic and revolutionary form of government that the Soviets of Red Russia want to force upon the citizens of every country in the world.

The word Communism comes from the Latin word communis which, roughly translated, would mean "in common." The idea being that all the people share, not only in the government, but in the profits of industry and labor. The word Communism, however, as used by the Soviets, has a meaning far different from the original Latin word.

There are three main elements in the system advocated by the Communists:

- (1) The denial of God and the suppression of religion, especially the Catholic Church.
- (2) The abolition of private property.
- (3) The stirring up of hatred and enmity between the various classes of society (for instance: urging the poor to despise and murder the rich), in order to bring about (1) and (2).

Nicholas Lenin, the father of present-day Communism, defines it as " . . . Nothing less than power based upon force, and limited by nothing—by no kind of law and by absolutely no rule."

Briefly What is the History of Communism?

Toward the end of the great World War, the Bolsheviks (a Bolshevik is one who believes in the destruction of Capitalism by force) gained control of the government in Russia, as a result of the terrible Red Revolution. They formed what was called the Third International, which soon came to be known as the Communist Party. The leader of this movement was a man who called himself Lenin. His real name was Vladimir Ulyanov, and he died in 1924. Since then, his writings and sayings have become the gospel of all Communists.

Where do the Communists get their Ideas?

Communism, as taught by Lenin, is based largely on the doctrines of Karl Marx, a German philosopher of the last century. Marx wrote several books against the prevailing capitalistic system, and urged the adoption of a social reform of his own invention, which he called Marxism, and later, Communism. However, Communism, as we see it in the world today, is not the same as that which Karl Marx proposed. Lenin added many ideas and propositions, mostly destructive and atheistic, of his own. Lenin also borrowed from several other European philosophers. So we can quite correctly say that, basically, Communism is a kind of hodge-podge of radical Eighteenth Century philosophical teaching, mainly German, to which the ideas of Lenin and his associates have been added.

How do the Communists Hope to Succeed in This World-Wide Revolution?

They are trying to get the working men and women, together with the boys and girls, of every country to join in destroying all existing forms of government, other than Communism, that are now flourishing in the world. In these hard times, when so many men and women are out of work and therefore are poor and worried, the Communists hold out all manner of impossible things that sound good, but in reality are only deceitful promises, to allure the hungry and the discouraged. In other words, the Communists are trying to stir up a world revolution. Books, newspapers, theaters, movies, schools, camps, all of which are free, are being used for this wicked purpose. Catholic boys and girls, be on your guard!

You say That Communists Want to Abolish Private Property. Please Explain This Further.

Communists say that no one should own any private property. According to the Communists, instead of each of us having things which we can call our own, everything must belong to the State, i. e., to everyone in common. Everything that is grown or produced, or manufactured by working people, the Communists say, should be stored in big warehouses where people can get only what they need and no more. If they do take more than the State thinks they need, they will probably be shot. The Communists say further that the world and all its natural resources belong to the working people; all the machinery and all the other means of manufacture, as well as means of transportation, belong to the working class. The Communists want to set up what they call a Proletarian State, which means one that is governed only by the working class. However, by doing this they deny the democracy which we Americans love so much, and for which so many thousands of our forefathers fought, bled and even died to protect. They seek to stifle the inborn trait in every human that cries out for recognition as an individual, that inward voice which tells us that we are the equal of any other person on earth in our inalienable privilege to enjoy those three great rights mentioned in the Declaration of Independence—"life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The Communists want government control of every conceivable vocation and activity. Communism reaches into the minds and souls of its victims and forcibly changes morals and beliefs and rights to fit its own tyranny. It is a despotism and a domination far worse than that of any czar. It is a cruel dictatorship gone insane with power and oppression. The first step which the Communists take in this is the overthrow of Capitalism.

How do we Interpret the Words "Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness," Mentioned in the Declaration of Independence?

They are an acknowledgment of three rights given by God to all men: the right to life; the right to good name or reputation; and the right to hold property. To violate any of these rights is a sin against justice and the violator must make reparation or restitution for the damage done.

Please Explain More Fully the Right to Hold Property.

The first and fundamental source of all property rights is none other than God. The supreme dominion of proprietorship over the entire universe is His. Hence, He alone can give any part of the world to whom He pleases. He may give much to one and little to another, for He is the Lord, the Creator and the Ruler of all. As a matter of fact, God has given the whole world to mankind. This the Bible tells us when it echoes the words of Almighty God at the moment of creation: "Let us make man to our image and likeness: and let him have dominion over the fishes of the sea, and the fowls of the air, and the beasts, and the whole earth. . . ." Now, the reason why God gave to man this absolute dominion over all things in the world was that man might have everything necessary for his life, health and happiness, be able to fulfill his duties as a creature in serving and worshipping God and thus attain to eternal happiness in Heaven. To put it in another way: Every man upon this earth must serve and worship God to merit eternal happiness. But, as food, clothing, a house and other material things are necessary for all that, God wills that a certain amount of such earthly and temporal things be in the possession of each man.

Therefore, we say that every man has a right to a share in the world's goods and products.

How is Each Man Going to Get His Share of the World's Goods in Order That he May Engage in the Pursuit of Happiness?

The very first means or manner of acquiring property is our own native and natural ability and industry. God has given to every human being certain physical powers and mental talents. By the cultivation of these and by using them each can attain to a share of the world's goods. Furthermore, as each individual person has the exclusive right to his own natural endowments and talents and abilities so, likewise, each has the exclusive right to such worldly goods as he can attain and obtain by the use of these same talents and abilities. Thus an artist has a right to his own paintings or drawings. He can keep them or sell them or even destroy them. A landlord has the right to the rent of his lands or houses. A farmer has a right to the money he gets from his crops he has worked so hard in tilling and harvesting. A business man has a right to the profits from his honest trading. Or a person has a right to money or property that has been willed to him. At the same time every man has the right to give away, sell, will or bequeath his own property.

CHRIST, KING BY CONQUEST

Pilate seated there in his marble chair, silhouetted against rich purple curtains, is the picture of Roman power, dignity and authority. In Jerusalem he is master, proud representative of the proud Caesars.

But, master though he is of this ancient stronghold of the Jews, Pilate is yet nervous. Never before in his long career as a soldier and governor has he met a man like this Jesus, a man so superior in every way to himself. With his dark Roman eyes Pilate glances at his Prisoner. What a man He is! Why, even though he is today the most hated man in Palestine, yet He stands calm and quiet, Master of Himself and of all those around Him; grander, nobler in His majestic bearing than the mightiest of the Caesars.

Pilate's hands, which rest upon the arms of his chair, move nervously; his fingers twitch. "Those contemptible Jewish dogs," he thinks; "they've lied to me! This man is no criminal. Perhaps, yes—who knows—perhaps he IS a king." Once more his dark eyes search the noble face of Jesus. Pilate leans forward in his chair; he asks: "Art thou a king, then?"

And the solemn answer which Jesus spoke pierced to the very core of the earth and bounded back to the regions beyond the stars. Down nineteen hundred years His majestic words have come to us; and when the Angel of Judgment blows upon his golden trumpet, those words will still be ringing in the ears of men: "Thou sayest that I am a king."

Since that day in Pilate's house nineteen centuries have rolled forever away. And how that scene is now reversed! Christ, for us at least, is no longer the accused; Christ sits upon His throne in the Blessed Sacrament; and we kneel as subjects at His feet.

May we not well begin our prayer on this great feast by looking upon the smiling face of Christ and asking Him: "By what title, my Jesus, are You my King?"

Christ might answer that by right of many titles He is the King of all nations and of each individual heart. But the right which pleases Him most, I think, is the one which, as a refrain, we find running through the Mass for the feast of Christ the King. In substance it is this: "Out of the wicked hands of Satan I have redeemed and purchased you with My Blood."

To understand what an indisputable legal right of kingship Christ acquired over us by His redemptive act upon the Cross, let us construct and consider a parallel example. Let us suppose that St. Louis is, at this present moment, a wilderness. Into this uninhabited place comes the eldest brother of a large family, accompanied by his wife and children, his brothers and sisters and their families. He cuts away the wilderness, builds homes, establishes a government. And by his natural right of being the eldest of the family, together with the wish of all the people, he becomes absolute ruler over this new community.

One day he goes away to Europe. On returning he finds that another man has come from a far country with an army, has conquered his people and made them slaves. The first and rightful king, moved by the miserable state of his people and inspired to assert his just, legal right, retires again to Europe, collects an army and reappears before the city. He conquers the usurper and frees his people.

Surely this king now has a new right over his subjects: the right of kingship by conquest.

So it is with Christ. Robbed by Satan of the hearts which were absolutely and entirely his by right of creation, Christ came down from heaven and "dwelt among us" that He might become our King by His conquest over the powers of Hell. If Christ had not come (and we ought to remember this), we should have been slaves of Satan forever, doomed to weep away our days in this "vale of tears" in sorrow and to spend eternity in a state of hopeless misery. But Christ did come; and that for the express purpose of striking from our wrists the iron shackles of Satan.

And as Christ stood before Pilate on that memorable morning of the first Good Friday, He could tell Pilate in all truth: "Thou sayest that I am a king. Just as your Caesar is king over the people whom he conquers, so am I King of all men by conquest. Only my kingdom is not of this world. My kingdom does not depend upon the flashing sword, the sharp spear, the perishable bodies of strong men. My kingdom is a kingdom of the soul, a kingdom of the spirit. And all men are My subjects."

A Christ, blood-stained, rejected, mocked, hung by those cruel nails upon the Cross and looked down upon the world below Him, He could say with truth and—may it not be?—a certain pleasure: "It is consummated." All men were now His property by right of conquest. The last farthing and more, much more, He had paid to purchase back His people with His own Precious Blood. By the last drop of that Blood, so soon to leap forth at the touch of the centurion's spear, by His hard life and terrible death, He had sent the terrified demons scurrying back into the bowels of Hell, vanquished. He had conquered Satan and redeemed His people out of the hands of the demon.

Christ has purchased us from Hell; He has conquered our most deadly foe. Christ, Christ alone, has a right to be our King.

Have you acknowledged Him as the King of your heart?

Courtiers of the King

We are again in October. The days are shorter; the warmth and brightness of summer have almost gone; the fresh green of forest and woodland has turned to a brown and yellow and gold. There is an element of calm and also a gentle touch of homesickness in the atmosphere. I wonder whether it is by design of the Holy Ghost or just by chance that this season of the year coincides almost perfectly with the spirit of the feasts of the Church in this month?

Early in the month we celebrate the feast of the Holy Guardian Angels, the feast which is in honor of those pure and sinless spirits whose duty it is to lead us to Heaven. Then in quick succession come the feasts of other glorious saints of God. Apostles, Martyrs, Confessors and Virgins, who were champions in the battle for Christ. On the day after the feast of the Holy Guardian Angels comes the day in honor of the Little Flower of Jesus; then the feast of St. Francis of Assisi. Both these saints excelled in a desire for Heaven and in utter and complete abandonment of the world and its ways. St. Francis Borgia, a saint of the Society of Jesus, whose entrance into Heaven is celebrated on the tenth of October, was canonized for his complete withdrawal from the highest dignity in his native Spain. Then comes the feast of St. Teresa, the great contemplative and ardent defender of the Church. We shall be a little beyond the middle of the month when we are in company of the great Virgin St. Margaret Mary, whose apostolate it was to bring to the world the message of the devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. On the very next day we shall be with St. Luke, the evangelist and historian of the Apostles, the artist and the physician. On the 24th of the month the strong and valiant companion of the young Tobias, the Archangel Raphael, will be our companion and guide and special patron. Close to the end of the month we have the commemoration of the Apostles SS. Simon and Jude, Martyrs, and intimate associates of Christ in His earthly sojourn, while He was performing the stupendous work of founding His Church.

Two more considerations are significant for us. The whole month is dedicated to Mary, Queen of the Rosary. Under Mary's protection and special patronage we celebrate these festivals which, quite in keeping with the spirit and tone of this season of autumn, make us homesick for Heaven and for the companionship of these saints and heroes of God. But more than that! Our Holy Father Pius XI has added a perfect climax to this month in establishing the feast of Christ the King. We celebrate this royal festival in blessed companionship of the Apostles and Martyrs, Confessors and Holy Virgins, and thus we are led to Christ our King. Thus, indeed, it should always be with us; the saints of God with their powerful intercession and through the example of their heroic lives must lead us to Christ.

Beauty of the Rosary

What the rose is among flowers, such is the Rosary among prayers. The rose surpasses all other flowers in the richness of its fragrance. It is impossible to be in its neighborhood without feeling its sweet influence. He must indeed lack sense and understanding who can resist its many charms. Hence it is that the rose is often called the queen of flowers. These qualities, too, the Rosary has, in the world of our communication with God; and hence it is that the Rosary may fittingly be called the queen of prayers.

First of all, how beautiful are not the different prayers of which the Rosary is composed, taken one by one! In these we honor the Holy Trinity, adore God in the most perfect of all prayers—that taught us by our Lord Himself, praise the Son of God in His life as Man, greet our Blessed Lady in words fallen from angelic lips. We honor the Mother of God, and at the same time we honor her Divine Son. We see Mother and Son united, now in pain, now in joy, now in glory. And when we have hailed with tenfold greeting Mother and Son together, our greetings die away in one grand cry of praise: "Glory be to the Father, and to the Son and to the Holy Ghost."

Then, how attractively are not the mysteries from the life of the Savior reflected for us in the Rosary! There we have our dear Lord in all the loveliness of babyhood, smiling at us from His lowly crib. We see Him, while still young, being offered up to God by His Holy Mother for the Redemption of men. We see Him being called away by the Father's voice to discuss the things of God with the doctors in the Temple. We see Him, when His teaching is ended, completing the work of Redemption by the awful suffering of His agony and crucifixion. And we see Him bursting the bonds of death and coming forth from the tomb in the strength of His Resurrection. And we behold Him ascending into Heaven to sit in the radiance of glory at the right hand of the Father. We see Him safeguarding His Church by sending the Holy Ghost, the Spirit of Truth, to abide with it forever. And we see Him honoring and rewarding His Holy Mother by calling her to a throne above the angels, and placing on her brow a crown, to bear witness to her high position as Queen of Heaven. Who, indeed, can estimate aright the beauty of the Rosary?

HELP WANTED

Yes, folks, the Gesu Parish needs the help of everyone to build the parish up. It's a grand parish, so why let it run down? We know of no better way than paint your homes, and attend the weekly meetings.

KIRBY THE PAINTER

1722 W. STILES STREET

POP. 93560

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

REV. THOMAS J. HIGGINS, S. J., Rector.

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

NO, the woman here is not actually the mother of a Jesuit Priest, nor even of a priest-to-be. But in helping to support our 700 Seminarians in the Houses of Study at Woodstock, Wernersville and St. Andrew-on-Hudson, she is happy in the knowledge that she is sharing spiritually not only in their many Masses and prayers but in the numerous apostolic works of the Jesuit Fathers all over the world. They are, she feels, her "boys".

You, too, can make them your "boys" and attain the same high spiritual benefits by Enrollment in

Brace Up

We hear so much about "depression" at this time that many of us are prone to worry and then lose self-confidence. Both of these tend only to make matters worse.

Even human guides like Emerson saw this as when he wrote:
"The world is wide in time and tide
And God is Guide . . .
That man is blest who does his best
And leaves the rest."

Perhaps also the words of Edgar Guest may brace you up if you are losing confidence in yourself. Here are the well known lines:
Somebody said that it couldn't be done,
But he, with a chuckle, replied
That "maybe it couldn't," but he would be one
Who wouldn't say so till he'd tried.

So he buckled right in with a trace of a grin
On his face. If he'd worried, he hid it.
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done, AND HE DID IT.

Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that:
At least no one has ever done it."
But he took off his coat and he took off his hat,
And the first thing we knew he'd begun it.
With the lift of his chin, and a bit of a grin,
Without any doubting or quiddit;

He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done AND HE DID IT.
There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done;
There are thousands to prophesy failure;
There are thousands to point out to you, one by one,
The dangers that wait to assail you;

But just buckle in with a bit of a grin,
Then take off your coat and go to it;
Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing
That "cannot be done," AND YOU'LL DO IT!

THIS IS NOT AN ENDORSEMENT BUT A PAID ADVERTISEMENT, SPONSORED BY THE DEMOCRATIC CITY COMMITTEE

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE GESU PARISH:

In the October issue of the Parish Monthly Calendar, there appeared a political advertisement paid for by the Republican City Committee.

This was done without either the knowledge or consent of myself or any of the Fathers connected with the Gesu. It has been our long-standing custom to entrust the matter of advertisements to the prudence and good judgment of the printer. I regret to say that, in the present instance, the printer has not served our best interests.

However, to demonstrate that we have no partisan political sentiments, we are permitting the printer to insert in this issue an advertisement paid by the Democratic City Committee. This is done solely because in the previous issue an advertisement was inserted favoring the opposite party.

Such advertising matter will never again appear in the Parish Monthly Calendar, for the Fathers connected with the Gesu are zealous to observe the diocesan statute which forbids clerics to meddle in politics.

THOMAS J. HIGGINS, S.J.,
Pastor.

In Union There Is Strength

A short while ago we celebrated Columbus Day, marking the anniversary of one man's accomplishment—a man who through sheer force of determination accomplished that which everyone said "could not be done." Columbus had the foresight, the will power and that quality of leadership which defied failure, and—with very little assistance and against great obstacles—he finally accomplished that which he set out to do. And thereby made possible the planting of our holy faith in a new world and the establishment of a new nation, the youngest and greatest of them all. Which leads us up to what? To the fact that we in the GESU PARISH IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION have also such a leader, determined to lead us to a great goal, a leader with foresight to see which way we are drifting and which way we should steer our course; and, like Columbus—with very little assistance and against great obstacles—he has determined that we shall reach that goal—A Better Neighborhood—Finer Living Conditions—Better Homes—and last, but not least—a bigger and better GESU PARISH. That leader is Father Maguire, who organized the association in June and, after an absence of a few weeks, during which time the Rev. John P. Gallagher gave us his untiring efforts and ably assisted us for which we are truly grateful, has returned from New York, to lend us again his inspiration and help in promoting this most worthy cause.

Now what have YOU done to help? Are you among those who stand off and say, "It can't be done!" "It is too late!" Or are you among the small group who have put their shoulders to the wheel and endeavor to make it turn a little faster? Would you believe that in all this congregation which fills the church several times each Sunday, there are only three hundred and ninety-two people who have thought it worth their while to come out and give their attention to this movement which is of such vital interest to all of us. And that out of that small number less than one hundred have contributed any financial assistance, even though the modest request of one dollar yearly is all they have been asked for, to finance the expenses of this movement, which in its accomplishment would net many thousands of dollars in increased property values to this section of the city? Doesn't seem possible, does it?

Well, with the facts before you, we feel sure you will make it a point to get into action—and prove the truth in that old proverb—"IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH!" What can you do? There are a number of ways to help, and "many hands make light work." You can look around your own immediate locality and see what the weak points are there. If you find properties run down for lack of repair, endeavor to interest their owners, if you know them, to do a little renovating—if you find a number of properties vacant, endeavor to find out why they are vacant. Get the information blanks, which have been made up for your convenience, and report to the association what houses are vacant, how many rooms therein, what the general condition of the property is, who the landlord or owner may be; and with this information as a guide the housing committee will endeavor to persuade any such owner or landlord to make an adjustment of undesirable conditions and to place a desirable occupant in such houses, when the adjustments have been made. And the finance committee stands ready to help to make the adjustments possible, if you will only consult them.

This is not a vain boast—already such things have been accomplished—and just stop to consider the general effect of such united action all through the parish. It would soon be restored to its former enviable position, with people eager to live within its confines. And all of us without exception will benefit in finer surroundings, higher property values, and above all, by a better moral atmosphere.

Aside from this, there is a sound business argument in favor of the cause. Property in this neighborhood is desirable from a consideration of convenience. Centrally located, with a good shopping district, a short journey into town—all that is lacking is a concentrated effort to restore its former state of well-preserved home life, and for the man or woman, who can afford to make an investment in apartment property, this is the ideal location. So concentrate YOUR efforts in making these facts known to others. If you have the time to canvass your block, do so; its upbuilding will mean increased value to yourself. Attend the meetings and learn what your friends in other blocks are doing; hold block meetings at a member's home, exchanging ideas as to improvements or changes most desirable to your section—and then report your findings to the housing committee, who have devised ways and means to bring these changes about.

It is YOUR home—YOUR neighborhood—YOUR parish—YOUR gain, when the gain is made—YOUR DUTY TO CO-OPERATE! We shall welcome YOUR attendance and YOUR suggestions. May we have them? Thank you and may God bless you.

Be Careful What You Say

In speaking of a person's faults,
Pray don't forget your own;
Remember those with homes of glass
Should seldom throw a stone.
If we have nothing else to do
But talk of them who sin,
'Tis better we commence at home
And from that point begin.

We have no right to judge a man
Until he's fairly tried;
Should we not like his company
We know the world is wide;
Some may have faults—and who have not?—
The old as well as young;
Perhaps we may, for aught we know,
Have fifty to their one.

I'll tell you of a better plan
And find it works full well;
To try my own defects to cure
Before of others tell;
And though I sometimes hope to be
No worse than some I know,
My own shortcomings bid me let
The faults of others go.

Then let us all, when we commence
To slander friend or foe,
Think of the harm one word may do
To those we little know;
Remember curses, sometimes like,
Our chickens, "roost at home,"
Don't speak of others' faults until
We have known our own.

Feasts of the Month

ALL SAINTS' DAY—NOVEMBER 1

This great festival, one of the six that are observed by us as Holydays of Obligation, should light up our hearts in a more than ordinary way to the desire and pursuit of heavenly things. "Sursum corda," "Lift up your hearts," is an invitation which Holy Church extends to her children every day in the Preface of the Mass; but there is in it a special appropriateness and, one might say, a greater earnestness today, when the very purpose and object of the feast is to wean us from an inordinate love of the things of earth and impel us to look up and conceive a more ardent yearning for that perfect joy into which so many and in fact such countless hosts of our brethren have already entered.

For the Feast of All Saints sets before our minds the glorious triumphs not only of the more illustrious of the Blessed, the Holy Apostles, the multitude of the Martyrs, the companies of Holy Confessors and Virgins, but also that of all those who have passed out of this world and out of the midst of the conflict with evil, in the grace and friendship of God, and have thus won the final victory over Satan and have deserved an immortal crown. Among these there may be some, perhaps even many, whom we ourselves have known, who were bound to us in this world not only by the ties of a common faith, but even by those of friendship or of kindred.

This is a distinctive feature of the Festival of All Saints. It touches us in a way in which others do not. It brings heaven in a certain sense nearer to us and helps us to realize better that what we look forward to as Christians is not an illusion.

Holy Church in assigning to be read on All Saints' Day as the Gospel of the Mass the opening passage of our Lord's Sermon on the Mount, which contains the Beatitudes, makes it clear to us that the condition on which we may hope to share one day the bliss of those who already are enjoying the everlasting recompense, is that we, like them, should sincerely aim at practicing the virtues to which so great a reward is promised. They, in a word, are pronounced by our Lord to be blessed who renounce the views of the lovers of this world and place an entirely opposite estimate upon the things which they embrace or shun.

NOVEMBER AND THE HOLY SOULS

We are living in a selfish and self-centered world. Man in general is a being totally absorbed in himself utterly oblivious of his fellow-man. He is interested in others only insofar as they will assist him in his pursuit of self-glorification. Thank God all men are not such; thank God, too, that the precious virtue of charity, of man's love for his fellow-man, can still be found in the lives of many. But is there not reason to fear that even we Catholics, might become tainted with selfishness?

If such be the sentiments of a pagan world towards those who still plod their weary way along the rugged highways of this life, how utterly destitute must it be of any consideration for those who have passed beyond the confines of this mortal earth to the realms of eternity? To most non-Catholics death is an enigma; a tragic end to a life of terrestrial happiness or pain; the end of being and the beginning of nonentity. But we, Catholics, know that death is but the gateway that leads a poor fettered soul into the eternal ages. That the soul lives after death, whether in Hell, or in the torments of Purgatory, or in the blissful enjoyment of the Beatific Vision, is for us an established fact. Catholic doctrine teaches the existence of a place of probation, called Purgatory, where the souls of those who die in God's favor must be purified before they can enjoy God for all eternity. Catholic doctrine likewise teaches that the prayers and the good works of the living can lighten the sufferings of the poor souls. Here, then, is an opportunity for us to practice our Christian charity by remembering the souls of the faithful departed. Hence it is that Holy Mother the Church has set aside a special month for the practice of this devotion.

At some time in our lives we have stood by the coffin of one of our dear ones, and our hearts were wrung with anguish. Perhaps it was that of a sainted mother or a loving father; a brother or a sister; a grandparent or an aunt or an uncle; or perhaps we were parted by death from a life-long friend, the comrade of our youth, and the guiding light of our manhood days. In a few short days or weeks or months these dear ones were forgotten, and in our thoughtlessness we heeded not their appeal for help. Apart from the busy world and strife of seething life their sad and melancholy voices called out in grim refrain, "Oh, pray for me."

Down through the ages has come that call of distress from those fettered souls, "Have pity on me, have pity on me, at least you, my friends, for the hand of the Lord has touched me." This cry rings in our ears incessantly during this month of November. In this appeal we can hear the familiar voices of those who loved us on earth and now need our assistance in their hour of pain. Can we be unmindful of their pleas for pity? They are helpless; we, their friends, can aid them.—J. J. D.

SAINTS OF THE SOCIETY OF JESUS—NOVEMBER 6

The feast of ALL the SAINTS of the Society of Jesus will be celebrated this year November the 6th.

The Saints who are especially honored on November 6 are Ignatius Loyola, Francis Xavier, Francis Borgia, Francis Jerome, John Francis Regis, Aloysius Gonzaga, Stanislaus Kostka, John Berchmans, Peter Claver, Alphonsus Rodrigues, Peter Canisius, Robert Bellarmine, Paul, John and James, Japanese Martyrs, John Brebeuf, Isaac Jogues and Companions, North American Martyrs.

These Saints shed lustre on every grade of the Society, priest, scholastic and lay-brother. They were from different countries, from Spain, Italy, France, Portugal, Germany, Poland, Japan; and each in his sphere and in his holiness had characteristics distinguishing him from the others.

On the commemoration of all the deceased Jesuits we ought to be mindful of all the Jesuits who have labored here in our midst and elsewhere and offer up a loving tribute of prayer, Communion or Mass that their rewards may be eternal with God.

A special Plenary Indulgence may be gained on this day. All of the faithful who fulfill the usual conditions may gain this Plenary Indulgence by a visit to a Jesuit Church. The usual conditions are, of course, the reception of the Sacraments of Penance and the Holy Eucharist.

SAINT STANISLAUS—NOVEMBER 13

St. Stanislaus, whose feast the Church keeps this month, was a Jesuit saint, only eighteen years old when he died. His tender age makes him the patron of youth, and boys and girls ought to feel encouraged by the example of his holy life to do their utmost to please God. The present period of your young lives is a season of grace, a time when you can gather strength to meet and overcome the difficulties that will later on surely cross your paths. If, now, when the practice of virtue is easy, you fail to equip yourselves with good habits; if now you fall into sin as readily as your elders, you will find yourselves, when a few years older, too weak to fight temptation and sin; you will find yourselves, where so many Catholic men and women find themselves, after a childhood of crime, nearly outside of the Church, on the very edge of hell. You cannot, while young, afford to let slip any opportunity to practice virtue. Every single effort you now make in this direction will be afterwards abundantly rewarded with assistance from heaven. You must store your little minds with principles of action with motives of conduct, that will never abandon you when old, that will keep you forever in the straight and narrow path. You must fill your little hearts with a love for God and His Blessed Mother that no love of later years will be quite able to shake from your bosoms. And the way to accomplish this blessed purpose is to think frequently of how St. Stanislaus behaved himself, of how he thought, of where he put his affections.

ST. JOHN BERCHMANS, S.J.—NOVEMBER 26

Saint John Berchmans died at the tender age of twenty-two years. A young man, you say! Yes, a little more than a boy. He spent a short time on earth in our estimation of a man's life on earth. In that short time, however, by his manner of living, he sanctified his life and won the honor of canonization as a Saint of God's Church.

Men are not born saints but by their lives on earth they become saints. What some have done, others can do. In the light of this it might be well to give just a little account of the life of the young Jesuit Saint whose feast day is celebrated on the twenty-sixth day of this month.

St. John Berchmans, by his origin, was an humble child of the obscure masses. He was born at Diest in Brabant, on the 13th of March 1599. In the history of his family there cannot be found anything that is of interest to posterity. None of his ancestors left any trace of himself in the annals of their epoch, and those of his name owe it to him alone that they are not completely forgotten. We know that his parents, as every parent should do, watched with the greatest solicitude over the formation of his character a thing which meant much to young Berchmans.

The obscurity of his name is not compensated by those striking favors which shed lustre upon the lives of other saints, or by those extraordinary interventions which bear the stamp of God's Omnipotence. In that short career there is no trace of raptures, or visions, or miracles, and there is found nothing of what has frequently taken place when God wished to glorify a certain servant of His. A thing still more rare, this young Saint is never placed in a position where his virtues find an opportunity to shine before the eyes of the world.

The principal episodes of his life occurred in the home of a bourgeois family, where he was naturally kind, gentle and affectionate towards his loving parents; in the classroom of the college, where he was a favorite with his playmates—brave and open, attractive in manner, and with a bright, joyful disposition; in his religious life, where by his purity, obedience and admirable charity, he resembled many Religious but surpassed them all by his intense love for the rules of his Order. And in these simple environments no remarkable event happens to bring out in bold relief the excellence of his personality. There is not any crisis in his soul; there are no great struggles or great works of the Apostolate; there is no act inspired by the holy follies of penance. At first sight nothing distinguishes this young man from his comrades at school or from his fellow religious in the Society of Jesus.

And yet there are few lives in which there have shone forth with more evidence the prestige and influence of sanctity in itself, detached from what might be called its accessories. The penetrating power which was exercised over all by the Saint's holiness, came from its own interior radiance, and borrowed nothing from any external glow which ordinarily attracts the respect and admiration of men.

From few of the Saints do we comprehend so well what it is to be a soul elevated and transformed by grace. Hardly anywhere else does it appear more manifestly by what means, by what efforts, with what aids, a soul is transfigured and becomes capable of attaining perfection.

This short existence in which we search in vain for heroic actions, in the ordinary sense of this term, diffuses around itself a brilliancy without an equal. But the splendor of his sanctity is not blinding. It was given by God in order to arrest the gaze of those who do not feel themselves raised by choicest graces to heights which are inaccessible to ordinary mortals. It shows that this simple path through humble duties can lead high and far, all who follow it, day by day, under the eyes of God. It is the lesson of the young man, who on returning to his own college, after taking part with great brilliance and erudition in the philosophical disputation at the Greek College in Rome under the charge of the Dominicans, was seized with a violent fever of which he died on the 13th of August, 1621. It is the lesson of this short life, the life of but twenty-two years, the heroism of which remained unknown to the world and to itself, until God was pleased to show the glory of His servant, "hidden with Christ in God."

"Some Aspects of Communism"

By The Rev. Joseph S. Hogan, S.J., A.M.,
Professor of Philosophy at St. Joseph's College

No one who knows the real, dyed-in-the-wool Communist will deny his ingenuity or his cleverness as a tactician. He is like a natural football player—if there is no opening, he makes desperate efforts to create one. The Communist is a master artist in taking a thing good in itself and turning it red. One of the best examples of this today is the Communist cry for peace and against war. Every sensible man wants war abolished. We do not want war. There is a genuine spirit in America today, pleading, fighting against this horror. Along comes the Communist and tries to link himself with any and every organization that is against war. But here is the fly in the ointment—while the Communist thunders against war and protects himself under fine American names, he is at the same time aiming at and fomenting one of the most ruthless, merciless and cruel wars in history—class-war.

The Communist will indignantly deny this. He will deny that Communism advocates violence—this is a capitalistic propaganda, a red scare, he will tell you. Let us look at this denial.

John Strachey, English Communist, was in March 1935, arrested in a suburb of Chicago by two Federal officers. The charge was "advocating the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

Strachey in his defense makes a distinction, which if made by a "bourgeois enemy," would be laughed out of court as a clever piece of Jesuit trickery. Strachey's argument is this: The capitalist world has made and is making use of violence constantly—the cause of contemporary international violence is the private ownership of our fields, factories and mines and their operation for profit. Therefore the cause must be removed. If the removal involves violence on our part, that is not our fault, it is yours. We do not advocate violence. We only predict it.

Strachey uses an example:—"I might say," he says, "that when sitting on the seashore I might take the view that the tide would come up and wet my clothes, but that would not mean that I favor or advocate the coming up of the tide."

Stripped of Communist camouflage and boiled down to facts, Strachey's argument amounts to this: Capitalism is the source of our evils—we intend to get rid of it—if you give up, we shall slide you out of existence quietly—if you resist, we'll murder you and take your property—we don't advocate violence—we just predict it.

More concretely, it means this: When Communism feels that the moment has come to take over things in America, it will say to the Pennsylvania Railroad: "Hand things over to us. If you don't, machine guns will do the work. We don't advocate violence. We predict it." It will say to Wanamaker's Store: "Hand this over to the 'Peoples Front.' If you don't we shall take it by violence. We don't advocate violence. We just predict it." It will march on the City Hall and say: "Mr. Mayor, hand over the City Hall to us. If you resist the Peoples Front will storm it and take it by violence. We don't advocate violence. We only predict it." It will say to the Judge: "Come down from that bench and make room for the Supreme Council of the U. S. S. R." And so to every owner, manufacturer, banker, farmer, business man, brewer, mine owner, factory owner, to everyone who hires labor, to church, school and orphan asylum, to every public building, to every newspaper plant, the Communist will say, when his hour has arrived for taking things over: "Hand it all over to us. We stand ready to liquidate you"—that's a polite Soviet way of saying "put you out of existence"—"we don't advocate violence. We predict it."

Strachey's example of the tide puts the whole case in a delightfully simple manner: The tide will wet your clothes, if you don't get out of the way. It's not the tide's fault, if you get wet. You don't advocate getting wet. You just predict it, if you don't move. So the tide of Communism, as it sweeps along, will wet you in your own blood if you stand in its way. It doesn't advocate wetting you thus. It just predicts it.

Mr. Strachey tells us: that many of us get our ideas of Communist violence from anti-Communist sources. Well here is a bit of testimony taken not from anti-Communist sources but from Lenin, the great god of Communism:—"The scientific concept dictatorship means nothing more nor less than power which directly rests on violence, which is not limited by any laws, or restricted by any absolute rules . . . Dictatorship means unlimited power resting on violence and not in law. Dictatorship does not mean violence alone, although it is impossible without violence."

Ruthless violence, subject to no law of God or man is the program of the Communist for all those who oppose him, when his hour to strike arrives. We have no doubt what the Communist means when he says "violence which is not limited by any law." Spain today bears blood-red testimony to that. Burned churches, crucified priests, slaughtered nuns, bodies of the dead dug from their graves, wholesale confiscation of private property, murder without the vestige of a trial, arming of marauders let loose from the prisons, a list of brutal crimes, paralleled only by those of Communism's mother country, Russia—all this in the name of the "Peoples Front."

All this the American Communist hates to hear. To him this is Capitalistic propaganda—this is red-baiting. Yet the fact remains that the Communist party of America is a section of the Communist Internationale of Russia—and takes directions from and sends delegates to Moscow. In other words we have in Mr. Earl Browder, a candidate for the Presidency of the United States of America, a man who takes his orders and directions from the Red Internationale of Moscow.

Don't be deceived by the names of some of these groups here in the U. S. A., that are campaigning for peace and against war. Here are some of their names:

"American League against War and Fascism,"

"Teachers' Patriotic Peace Council,"

"Trade Union Conference Against War."

Very inviting names, that would appeal to probably every American. We do not deny that there are in these organizations many loyal Americans. It is not to them we object. Nor do we object to campaigns for peace against war. We welcome them. But we do object to the Communists and Communist sympathizers, who, while they shout against war and cry for peace, are working tooth and nail to spread in this country the program of the Third Internationale of Moscow, doing their best to foment relentless and merciless class war, with the ultimate purpose of making America safe for the Soviets. The very things they are doing under the program in America would be punished by death or exile in Russia, yet they are trying to sell Russia to Americans. Communists again will indignantly deny this. But listen for a moment—The "Communist Internationale" of Moscow has a document of twenty-one conditions of admissions for any Communist section that wishes to join it. The Communist party of the U. S. A. is a section of the "Third Internationale." Hence it has subscribed to these twenty-one points. I submit just two of these points for consideration to American citizens: QUOTE: "Condition 14: Every party that desires to belong to the Communist Internationale must give every possible support to the Soviet Republics in their struggle against all counter revolutionary forces. The Communist parties should carry on a precise and definite propaganda to induce the workers to refuse to transport munitions of war intended for the enemies of the Soviet Republics, carry on legal or illegal propaganda among the troops, which are sent to crush the worker's republics etc." END QUOTE

What does this mean? It means that if the U. S. A. were to go to war with Russia, we should be considered enemies of the Soviet Republic and Mr. Earl Browder and his party would be bound by their membership in the Third Internationale to do all in their power by legal or illegal propaganda to stop the transport of munitions for our troops. American Legion men take notice of that.

Condition 4: QUOTE: "The obligation to spread Communist ideas includes the particular necessity of persistent, systematic propaganda in the army. Wherever such propaganda is forbidden by exceptional laws, it must be carried on illegally. The abandonment of such work would be equivalent to the betrayal of revolutionary duty and is incompatible with the membership in the Third Internationale." END QUOTES.

For these same acts or attempts at impairing the military power, here is what Browder and his party would get in Russia: Article 133 of the New Soviet Constitution: QUOTE. "To defend the fatherland is the sacred duty of every citizen of the U. S. S. R. Treason against the country—violation of the oath, desertion to the enemy, impairing the military of the state, or espionage on behalf of a foreign state—is punishable with the full severity of the law as the most grievous offense."

"The Trade Union Conference Against War" here in Philadelphia has as one of its objectives the support of the Nye-Kvale bill withholding appropriation for military training in schools and colleges.

But in Russia, according to article 132 of the New Constitution: "Universal Military Service is the law." Here is a section of the decree on compulsory, military training adopted by the Russian Soviet Executive Committee: "Citizens of the Russian Soviet Federative Republic are subject to military training in the following stages—(i) School training, (ii) Preparatory—between the ages of sixteen and eighteen, (iii) Mobilization between the ages of eighteen and forty."

So while the Communists here are opposing military training in the school, the Soviets of Russia make military training compulsory almost from the cradle to the grave.

Objective number 5 of this same Trade Union Conference of America reads: "Program for the defense of civil rights—free speech—free press—free assembly." Very interesting. But listen to this. In Washington just about a month ago Earl Browder, Communist candidate for President of the U. S. A. addressed the National Press Club. Browder chose for his subject "Freedom of the Press" some of the newspaper men asked him if Communist Russia has "freedom of the press." He said yes, because the Russian official press says what ninety-nine percent of the Russian people believe. When a shrewd questioner asked Browder if Communist Russia would tolerate the existence of any newspaper expressing the views of the one percent minority, he answered: "No, Russian Communism believes in majority rule."

Here is the picture: Communists here want to sell us Russia. They shout freedom of the press. Their own presidential candidate admits Russia would not tolerate any newspaper expressing the views of the minority. That is freedom of the press a la Soviet.

Let us sum up: Are we against war? Most certainly. Are we for universal peace? Most certainly. But we are against not merely imperialist war, but class-war also. We want peace, but not a Soviet peace. We don't want a peace built on violence, unlimited by any law of God or man. We don't want a peace that has ruthlessly smashed every human right, murdered, exiled everyone that opposed it. The Soviet paradise has had 20 years of existence, yet as W. H. Chamberlin, a high authority on Russia, says: "One doesn't envisage Paradise as a place policed with death sentences, haunted with spies and snoopers, and surrounded with barbed wire, armed guards, police dogs and other devices to prevent the inmates from escaping. Yet this is the situation that admittedly prevails in the Soviet Union today." (Am. Mercury, September, 1936.)

We don't want peace under the hammer and sickle. We want peace under the Stars and Stripes.

Death's Final Conquest

James Shirley

The glories of our blood and state
Are shadows, not substantial things;
There is no armor against fate;
Death lays his icy hand on kings;
Sceptre and Crown
Must tumble down
And in the dust be equal made
With the poor crooked scythe and spade.

The garlands wither on your brow;
Then boast no more your mighty deeds;
Upon Death's purple altar now
See where the Victor-Victim bleeds:
Your heads must come
To the cold tomb;
Only the actions of the just
Smell sweet, and blossom in their dust.

The following paradoxes (which we have found in manuscript form with no mention of the author) will serve to reassure those who complain that their prayers are never answered. "If you ask the Father anything in My Name," says Our Blessed Lord, "He will give it to you." This is a very definite promise, and it embraces everything, provided it is asked in His Name; they ask for things that might be harmful. The purpose of the following paradoxes is to show that prayer is always efficacious; but when, in our ignorance, we ask for things that are not conducive to salvation, its efficacy may take form in a way not anticipated.

He asked for a stone, and God gave him bread.
He asked for health that he might achieve;
God made him weak that he might obey.
He asked for riches that he might be happy;
God gave him poverty that he might be wise.
He asked for strength that he might do greater things;
God gave him infirmity that he might do better things.
He asked for power that he might have the praise of men;
God sent him weakness that he might feel the need of God.
He asked for all things that he might enjoy life;
God gave him life eternal that he might enjoy all things.
He received nothing that he asked for,
Yet much more than he hoped for.
His prayers were answered; he was most blessed.

Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving Day is one of the few holidays observed by all the states. It is a popular holiday, celebrated everywhere with feasting and merriment. This is quite in contrast with its beginning, for it was first observed as a day of fasting and prayer. The custom of setting apart a day for public thanksgiving to God for the benefits He had bestowed, began among the early colonists. During the War of the Revolution, Congress several times ordered a special day of thanks to God, and, in 1789, after the adoption of the Constitution, President Washington proclaimed a day of national thanksgiving. Although the custom was followed at intervals by succeeding Presidents, it was not until the administration of Abraham Lincoln that the day began to be observed regularly. In his year. Since that time the last Thursday of the month of November has been annually appointed as the day for public expression of gratitude to God.

In the observance of Thanksgiving Day the Catholic citizen heartily concurs. He recognizes the obligation of returning thanks to God by public ceremonies as well as in private prayer. The Catholic recalls the frequent Scriptural denunciations of ingratitude and forgetfulness of God. When at Mass, he is reminded by the words of the Preface, "It is truly meet and just, right and salutary, that we should always and in all places give thanks to Thee, Holy Lord, Almighty Father, Eternal God." That this duty may receive its proper recognition it is eminently fitting that a day be set aside in our civic calendar.

To Our Parishioners:

We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of patronizing the advertisers in the Gesu Parish Monthly Calendar, and of returning the same generous support they are giving to us. In other words, buy your goods from the firms that are using our pages to address you, and thus helping us.

These advertisers with us are live, energetic business men, thoroughly responsible, and know what it means to have their names placed prominently before this parish.

O Little Town of Bethlehem

O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie;
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;

Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The Everlasting Light;
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight.

For Christ was born of Mary,
And gathered all above,
While mortals sleep, the angels keep
Their watch of wondering love.

O morning stars together
Proclaim the holy birth!
And praises sing to God the King,
And peace to man on earth.

No ear can hear His coming,
But in this world of sin,
Where meek souls will receive Him still,
The dear Christ enters in.

O Holy Child of Bethlehem!
Descend on us, we pray;
Cast out our sin and enter in,
Be born in us today.

We hear the Christmas angels
The great, glad tidings tell;
O come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord Emmanuel.

PHILLIPS BROOKS.

		Special Intention

The Gesu Young Men's Sodality

Every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Sodality Chapel, the members of the Gesu Young Men's Sodality assemble to recite the Office of the Blessed Virgin Mary and to sing hymns in Her honor.

At these meetings the Spiritual Director, addresses the Sodalists with words of exhortation and encouragement, while reminding them to be faithful to their pledge as Sodalists and loyal as well as faithful devotees of our Lady to the Glory of Her Son.

After the recitation of the Office and the discourse, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament follows. And so, the spirit of the members is not an enthusiastic piety, but a genuine Catholic Devotion.

In the Sodality there is cultivated a pleasant social life. But membership carries with it very definite obligations: monthly Communion, attendance at Tuesday night services and performance of works of mercy.

This year marks the forty-fourth anniversary of the establishment of the Gesu Section of the world-wide Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary, with the late Father Theobald McNamara, S.J., as the first Spiritual Director here.

The Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae

The Gesu Notre Dame Alumnae has resumed its activities, with Jeanne Anderson as the recently elected president of the senior division and Helene Kelly, president of the juniors. The club rooms are in excellent condition and many pleasant evenings during the winter are anticipated.

Basket ball practice is held on Thursday evenings. The teams look forward to a successful season. Monthly socials and meetings are held regularly.

All eligible members are urged to take an active part in the social and athletic activities of the Alumnae this season. It is to be hoped that the organization this year will be even more active than ever before. This requires your co-operation. Some interesting games again with other teams are promised for the near future. All members are welcome at the meetings and socials.

Gesu Boy Scouts, No. 299

The troop has begun activities for the fall and winter. The boys were taken on several day hikes, one to Wissahickon Creek, and two to the Scouts Triangle in Fairmount Park. The boys had a great time on these hikes, many games being played.

There are a few openings for new members, and we would like to see some new boys come over to the rooms and see what we are doing. There will be more hikes and other activities in the near future.

Our Christmas Wish

To all our parishioners and friends we wish a Happy and Holy Christmas and beg of Almighty God the most abundant blessings for every family and individual of our congregation. May you carry home with you on Christmas Day the peace promised to men of good will, the peace which streams from the crib of the Saviour and lies in solemn beauty over the star-lit hills of Bethlehem, and may the loving heart of our Infant Saviour so fill your soul with that peace that it may abide in your heart throughout all the days and hours of the coming year.

The Fathers of the Gesu.

Gesu Parish Improvement Association

Have you noticed the general improvement on properties in the neighborhood? Does it not look as though GOOD NEIGHBORS are getting together to comply with the desires of other GOOD NEIGHBORS to restore this section to its former thriving appearance. All this is the direct result of the efforts put forth by the GESU PARISH IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION organized a few months ago and gradually achieving its purpose.

More than twelve hundred GOOD NEIGHBORS have signed pledge cards to the effect they will neither sell nor rent properties to undesirable persons who are in position to do so, have invested in property in this neighborhood for the express purpose of preventing undesirable owners or tenants to take possession of them. In such cases the ASSOCIATION has been instrumental in bringing reliable tenants into these properties, thus encouraging owners to repair and remodel them.

Combined efforts and signed petitions have been instrumental in preventing objectionable businesses being opened in this section. Pressure has been brought to bear on municipal authorities to induce their co-operation in our efforts.

All of these things are the result of combined and concentrated action and many more things remain to be accomplished. Therefore, we are hoping these results will bring our activities to the attention of other GOOD NEIGHBORS with the result that the membership in the organization will be increased and the seed sown will take further root.

We were fortunate in having many interested and influential men present at our RALLY in October and their words of encouragement and suggestions for ways and means of accomplishment of our purpose were an inspiration to bigger and better effort on our part. Our movement is not only growing here, but it has been the inspiration to other groups in Tioga and Strawberry Mansion districts to organize for the same purpose—all interested in the preservation of their own particular community.

Do you realize what this historic old city must not be abandoned to neglect and destruction and particularly have WE determined that this grand old PARISH must not be abandoned. Nowhere in the city have the parishioners such a devoted band of priests—always planning something more for our spiritual growth—untiring in their efforts—unselfish in their aims. Can we show our appreciation better than by working for the general improvement of the parish and an increase in desirable parishioners to co-operate with them?

In spite of the great amount already accomplished, the workers are all too few. You must realize that this is a organization of volunteers. There is no such thing as unlimited time, unlimited funds. Everyone is working within limits as to their time and money, but they are working entirely unlimited as to their enthusiasm and endeavor. Therefore, we wish to urge every member of the Parish to contribute whatever amount of time and effort they can to this great movement which will bear unlimited fruit if we will all put our shoulders to the wheel.

No doubt there is a house vacant in YOUR PARTICULAR BLOCK. If so, name yourself a committee of one to find out why it is vacant—what is needed to make it habitable. Report your findings to the Committee on Housing. They will contact the owner and endeavor to correct undesirable conditions. Perhaps the owner is a former NEIGHBOR of yours. If so, endeavor to make a personal contact and advise that owner of our work and to them the importance of keeping their properties occupied, particularly now when the elements begin to play havoc with unoccupied properties. It is to their interest and yours. Theirs as property owners, yours as a GOOD NEIGHBOR. For we are all unanimous in our desire to have GOOD NEIGHBORS.

Have you had a BLOCK MEETING in your Block? If not, won't you try to hold one this week or next. Talk among your neighbors and arrange for a meeting when all can exchange ideas for improvement in YOUR BLOCK. If there are no vacancies, perhaps there are other conditions open for improvement. Violation of sanitation laws, noisy or undesirable business places, disorders of any kind can be removed by concerted action. But the facts must be gathered by those who KNOW of them. And that means, the particular residents in a block where such disorders exist.

The next time you go out take notice of the general improvements going on about you? Houses being pointed—painted—new roofs going on—new plumbing being installed—new steps being laid—WHY? Because these GOOD NEIGHBORS have been encouraged to take heart by the activities of the organization and are contributing their share to help us realize our aims.

Many threatened nuisances have been prevented—many GOOD NEIGHBORS have been brought back to our parish—many GOOD NEIGHBORS have pledged themselves to remain GOOD NEIGHBORS and all are co-operating to make this GESU PARISH once more the pride of the city.

Have you been a GOOD NEIGHBOR? Have you realized that an organization of GOOD NEIGHBORS is the best insurance you can have on maintaining your property values? Together we stand—divided we fall! But we are determined to STAND—STAND TOGETHER to make this a GOOD NEIGHBORHOOD of GOOD NEIGHBORS—the NEIGHBORHOOD which will be the pattern for GOOD NEIGHBORHOODS everywhere.

Join your GOOD NEIGHBORS on Thursday evenings at St. Joseph's High School at 8.30 P. M. GOOD NEIGHBORS are Happy Neighbors, Helpful Neighbors, the kind of Neighbors we all desire to have and aim to be.

Be there at 8.30 Thursday evening. Let each MAN in the Parish pledge himself to attend this meeting. Your suggestions are welcome and we hope to have them. WE ARE GIVING OUR BEST! ARE YOU? See you at the meeting Thursday.

Sincerely,

Gesu Parish Improvement Association.

Our Lady's Novena

The novena in preparation for the Feast of the Immaculate Conception stands, of course, pre-eminent in the Catholic year. It is indeed, if we may borrow a phrase from another most popular devotion, our novena of grace. Dedicated to the study of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, we may well look to it as a source of graces without name or number for the faithful clients of our Blessed Mother, while at the same time it furnishes fresh incentives to imitate the many virtues of her whose glorious life was portrayed by the archangel Gabriel in those words, "Full of Grace." It is not surprising, then, that this novena has always held a place quite its own in the hearts of our parishioners. The same will be true again this year, and we may rest assured that many wonderful favors, both spiritual and temporal, will be its outcome.

To us it is given in every true sense of the word to look to Mary Immaculate, the Queen-Mother of the King of Kings, not merely as a spectacle to be beheld with rapturous gaze, honored by God's "cloud of witnesses" and glorified above all creatures, but as a most loving Mother, meek, gentle, kind and considerate and worthy to be loved in turn with the most filial affection.

It will interest our readers to know that the services of the novena for the Feast of the Immaculate Conception will begin on November 30 and continue to December 8. The time of the services will be at 4 and 8 P. M. The novena will be conducted by Father James L. Maguire.

Ember Days

Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, December 16, 18 and 19, will be Ember Days and, therefore, fast days of obligation. These days of fast and abstinence and of fervent prayer were definitely prescribed for the entire Church in the eleventh century. Coming, as they do, at the beginning of the four seasons, they remind the faithful to thank God for the gifts of nature, while teaching them to use those gifts in moderation and for the assistance of the needy. They are days, also, of extraordinary devotion to the Sacraments of Penance and the Holy Eucharist.

Christmas Eve, Thursday, December 24, will also be a fast and abstinence day of obligation.

The Spirit of Advent

During this holy season of advent the Church exhorts her children to prepare for the solemn feast of the Nativity of our Lord. The vestments of the Advent Masses and the language of the liturgy indicate the penitential spirit of the season and suggest to the devout soul the urgent need of intensive interior preparation for the coming of Christ into the soul on Christmas Day.

Christmas, in the religious thought of Christendom, is more than the mere anniversary of the coming of Christ in the Flesh. The Feast of the Nativity ought to signalize the spiritual re-entry of Christ into the individual soul. During Advent, the Church earnestly enjoins penance and prayer meditation in order that the mortified soul may be receptive to the spiritual influences which abound on the anniversary of the day when Christ was born. With all the eloquence of her liturgy, the Church emphasizes teaching medium the art of man has ever devised, the Church emphasizes that the day "the Word became Flesh and dwelt among us" is unique in the calendar of all time.

The paternal solicitude of God for the souls of men is expressed in the mission of preparation which St. John the Baptist so effectively discharged. This powerful figure of penance was chosen by God as the Precursor of Christ, through whom the men of our Lord's generation should be prepared for Bethlehem. It was not entirely through culpable ignorance that the Son of God was received with so mean a hospitality on the first Christmas Day.

John the Baptist made his appearance in the public life of Judea about the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar. In that soft, gross age, the protesting virile virtue of John the Baptist was strangely and disturbingly impressive. The Sybarites of the nation crowded the banks of the Jordan and listened in a frightened silence to the man whose philosophy sharply denied their own. There is an exalted everlasting drama in that Jordan scene, the prophet dressed in animals' skins, preaching to Jerusalem's silken parasites.

It is certain that, in some instances at least, he prevailed remarkably. The burning sincerity of the man could not be denied. Preaching as none had ever preached before, he pierced the protective crust of self-deception, and showed his congregation the disillusioning, frightening sight of their own souls. There are always souls which, for all their appearance of hopelessness, are eaten by a secret divine discontent. To these hearts troubled by a hidden torment John the Baptist showed the way to peace.

On the first Sunday of Advent the Church repeats the terrifying omens which will presage the world's ending. "There will be signs in the sun, and moon, and stars; and on earth distress of nations, by reason of the confusion of the sound of the sea and of the waves, men withering away for fear and expectation of the things that are coming upon the world. For the powers of the heavens will be shaken. And then they shall see the Son of Man coming on a cloud with great power and majesty."

Nothing in all literature surpasses the terror of the simple sentences Our Lord has employed to describe the scenes which will characterize the world's dissolution. Some brilliant, imaginative literature has been written about this compelling theme. Nothing that has been written rouses the terror and awe which rise spontaneously in the heart at the contemplation of the terrific picture the Sacred Scriptures paint of nature's annihilation.

Yet, as the final sentence in this dreadful word picture, our Lord declared: "But when these things begin to come to pass, look up and lift up your heads: because your redemption is at hand." The end of the world will mark the end of all fleshy joys. In what was once a wide created universe there will be left neither sight nor sound in which the senses may rejoice.

But something better will have taken its place. Now will come the uninterrupted reign of the joy which "eye hath not seen, nor ear heard." It was never intended that man should regard earth as his "lasting city." When the terror and the shock, which will mark earth's return into nothingness from which God summoned it at the beginning, shall have passed, man, the wayfarer, enters at last the portals of his true home. Born of God, in the end he returns to God, and no malevolence of the Evil One may ever thereafter threaten the changeless peace of the Perfect Paradise.

Mistaken Values

Have you ever noticed that people never complain about the price of a movie or show? Therefore, the theatres are very beautiful, not lacking any convenience, and all making money "hand over fist."

On the other hand, have you noticed that these same people, when they go to church (if at all), place a nickel or dime on the collection plate and feel they have done their duty well, and if asked for a contribution for a worthy cause, get quite indignant about it, saying times are hard and they can't afford it?

Which is the more worthwhile institution, the movie house or the church? From which do we derive the most benefit? The churches are having a hard struggle to exist. Why not give at least as much to the church as we do to the movies?

Feasts of the Month

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER—DECEMBER 3

St. Francis Xavier was a lawmaker in the republic of God; he was a captain in the army of the Lord; he was a sailor in the foreign service of Christ. He had no home, he was always under marching orders, with headquarters in the field or on the deck of a ship flying the colors of Christ at its masthead. The story of his life need not long delay us. It is an oft-told tale, and we are as proud of his memory as we are of his name. He was born at Navarre, near Pampeluna in Spain, April 7, 1506, and died at the other side of the world, at Sancian, on the shores of China, December 2, 1552. In 1525, when a young man of nineteen, he was at Paris, bent on making his own the educational advantages of its celebrated university. Captive to the saving influence of his countryman, St. Ignatius, he experienced a change of heart that culminated in the three vows of religion in 1534, and entrance into the ranks of the priesthood in 1537. When five years a priest, he found himself in 1542 at Goa, in the Indies, ready for the ten splendid years of achievement that crowned his labors. Without human hand to minister to his last big sorrow, with a fisherman's hut to shelter his shivering limbs from the winter, he died December 2, 1552, on the island of Sancian, within hailing distance of China, the land of his hopes. The wide empire death alone prevented him from adding to the spoils of war.

And the whole history of St. Francis Xavier's early years and his conversion is summed up in a single word from Scripture, vividly descriptive of worldly ambition's emptiness, the word God inspired Ignatius to shout into his ears, "Xavier, what doth it profit a man to gain the whole world, if he suffer the loss of his own soul?" This word from Scripture was a grace of God, and in an instant it changed Xavier from a man of the world to a man of God, from a literary enthusiast to an enthusiastic apostle. This word was the mustard-seed in the gospel, that towered into the air a colossal tree, able to overshadow the earth. Xavier took the word to meditate and ponder it till it effected secure lodgment in his heart, and the word became responsible for a hero of zeal and holiness, whose fame can never die. But study out the still and silent process by which the change was effected. Xavier was a man of the world with ambitions like ours, with passions as strong to evil, with a will as weak in good. What we call chance whispered the word into his ears. He took it and sowed it in his field, and it grew, and grew, and grew. Each succeeding day marked a new addition to its growth; and, when it came time to die, Xavier was but a short journey from God. Are we minded to follow his example? The thing is in our power. God pursues us, as He pursued Xavier, with His grace, and God plays no favorites. He wants our souls. In the eyes of God souls are more precious than bodies, and God is infinite wisdom. The word that converted Xavier came warm from the lips of Almighty God Himself, and the same God has a word of the kind ready for every reader of these lines. He passes nobody by, and everybody had better listen, everybody had better determine with himself to cherish the word God sends him, and shape his whole future life according to the wisdom it contains.

THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION—DECEMBER 8

We are doing theology no violence when we conceive the Son of God, the Second Person of the Adorable Trinity, voluntarily offering Himself for the Sacrifice of Redemption. His consent was free, His knowledge of Redemption's cost was full, and His acceptance of the trust was a miracle of generosity, a miracle of obedience to His Heavenly Father's wishes. "He humbled Himself, becoming obedient unto death, even to death on the cross." We can, therefore, consider the Immaculate Conception a favor done the Blessed Virgin in view of her divine Son's heroism. It is, in fact, an article of faith that this privilege of immunity from original sin was conferred on her by virtue of the merits of Jesus Christ. She was as truly redeemed by Christ as any son or daughter of Adam, and nothing prevents us from regarding this stupendous favor as the Son's willingness to suffer and die for mankind so worked on the Father's sense of justice that He reckoned no smaller gift a fitting reward, and needed no other motive to exempt Mary from an otherwise universal law. The thought will serve to recall the debt of gratitude we owe the world's Redeemer, and will help us to appreciate the esteem in which God holds generous self-sacrifice. When we reflect that the degradation and pain Christ suffered for our sakes appealed so forcibly to the Father's admiration and sense of thankfulness, we can well feel ashamed of our own forgetfulness and ingratitude. Oh, the generosity; oh, the magnanimity wrapped up in that act of acceptance, by which the Son of God sealed with His Father the bargain of Redemption! All the world were too inadequate a reward! Something new had to be introduced into creation to save divine justice from the shame of defeat; and that new being was our Mother Mary, immaculate in her conception!

Could we but acquit ourselves of heroism in God's service resembling in the faintest way this glorious achievement of the Son of God, we, too, should deserve at the Father's hands some marked intervention of His omnipotence. But we cannot! We are not sturdy enough to forego self in the commonest affairs of life. We shrink from suffering, we shrink from pain with an instinctive dread, and we break down the barrier of God's law to escape trifling hurts. But let us take courage from this mystery of the Immaculate Conception, considered as God's tribute to generosity. Let us derive from it the strength needed to meet like men the sacrifices our post in life demands. Let us not run away from humiliation, or sorrow, or fatigue; and perhaps, God, pleased with these small beginnings, will pour out upon us some of the graces He lavished on His saints. God is as jealous of His reputation for generosity as He is of His dignity. He will allow no man to outdo Him on this score; and we never yet denied ourselves a gratification for His love without receiving in return a magnificent reward. One sacrifice has often made a saint; and, if God is now whispering to any heart of a holocaust He wants made, that heart had better arrange terms for a surrender.

This then is another lesson we derive from our Mother's Immaculate Conception, the hard lesson of self-denial, the difficult task of generosity in God's service, the martyrdom of obedience to God's law. The small gifts we have to offer cannot weigh enough with God to urge a like miracle in our behalf, but they can, and they must, influence Him to see to it that, even if we came into the world covered all over with sin, and lived only to add to our shame, we may at least go out to meet Him with clean hearts and clean hands; and that is reward enough, that is reward enough!

"Naked on parent's knee, a new-born child,
Weeping thou sat'st when all around thee smiled;
So live that, sinking to thy last long sleep,
Thou then may'st smile while all around thee weep."

CHRISTMAS, DECEMBER 25—BIRTH OF OUR SAVIOUR

"Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace to Men of Good Will"
St. Luke 2, 14

The words addressed by Gabriel to the astonished shepherds this first Christmas night, and the canticle of glory raised by attendant angels are worthy of reverent and meditative study. Gabriel banishes fear from the shepherds' bosoms with the glad news that a Saviour is born. For sign of the Infant's divinity he alleges the swaddling clothes and the manger. The heavenly army sings, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to men of good will." God is peace, God is joy; and though He sometimes effects entrance into the soul with fear for helper, once inside He drives out dread, and more than compensates for the disturbance by lengthened intervals of peaceful sweetness. On these occasions He is employing the one agency at His disposal to pick His way past obstacles; but this accomplished, He is Himself again, He doffs the disguise of terror and assumes a more pleasing shape. The glad message He always brings has a bearing, not on success, or esteem, or applause, but on some such spiritual and eternal good as the Saviour's birth, progress towards God, growth in holiness. The swaddling clothes and the manger, as characteristic marks of the divinity, can serve for reminder that God's ways are not this world's ways. Swaddling clothes are rags, a manger is a feed-box, and stables are meant for dumb animals; they are no fit dwelling for men, no proper habitation for the poorest of God's children. Crowns and silks, with fine linen and jeweled cribs are signs of royalty here on earth, but these never fall to the lot of God's saints. God reserves their crowns for Heaven. This heavy atmosphere is too poor a Paradise to be a place of reward for God's nearer friends. It is an accursed Eden; and all its joys, even if they had no other disappointing trait, are open to suspicion of loss.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to men of good will." This sublime phrase can be taken as a mere statement, or as a wish. In the first sense it means that the birth of Christ is God's crowning glory, and at the same time man's surest harbinger of peace. God is glorious in creation, but creation pales in splendor when compared with God's birth among men. Redemption, grace and salvation are now possible; and the beauty of the heavens, the orderly march of the seasons, the grandeur of earth are as nothing when weighed in the balance and compared with a single tear or a blood-drop from the eye or the heart of Christ. Peace means the interval of rest that follows war, it means reconciliation between enemies, it means renewal of friendship after years of distracting differences. In the language of the Hebrews it stood for everything good, and comprehended in its wide scope every conceivable delight. And, as a matter of fact, whatever spiritual joy this earth can boast derives life and being from what transpired at Bethlehem this first Christmas night. Every other variety of joy we mortals know hardly deserves the name. With sincere Christians Christmas is and ought to be the happiest day in all the year. The trees in our houses, the services in our churches bear witness to this, and familiar memory of the event could sprinkle all our days with good cheer. But the peace settling round Christmas is lost on sinners. Only men of good will experience it. The heart must be right in its relations with God and the neighbor to verify the words of the angels' hymn. The wicked walk rough ways and are never on terms of intimate familiarity with peace. Taken as a wish or a prayer the expression is an exhortation to the inhabitants of Heaven to praise God's power and mercy, manifested in this transcendent favor, and an exhortation to men to appreciate and cherish the peace it purchases and proclaims.

The Birth of Our Saviour

Christmas, the great Feast of the Incarnation! The name quickens into ardent life the noblest and tenderest of all Christendom's memories. Once again we listen to the glad retelling of the most hopeful and beautiful of all narratives, the Gospel's simple account of our Saviour's birth. "And there were in the same country shepherds watching, and keeping the night watches over their sheep. And, behold, an Angel of the Lord stood by them, and the brightness of God shone about them, and they were filled with a great fear."

"And the Angel said to them: Fear not; for, behold, I bring you tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people, for this day is born to you a Saviour, Who is Christ the Lord, in the city of David. And this shall be a sign to you: you shall find the Infant wrapped in swaddling clothes, and laid in a manger. And suddenly there was a great multitude of the heavenly host, praising God and saying, Glory to God in the Highest; and on earth, peace to men of good will."

That Christmas night of long ago was the climax and the more than adequate reward for waiting and hoping which had lasted during thousands of years. From the time God called Abraham, the obedient, from his ancestral home, his children were expectant of the Messiah, who should redeem Israel. Through the years of the Theocracy and the long annals of the Kings Israel waited. Exiles in Egypt and Babylon, they were sustained by a strange pride which their conquerors could not understand. But no matter how low they were ground in the dust, Israel remembered that their race was a people apart, destined for a glory different from the glory of Alexander, infinitely higher. From the hearts of the captives was wrung the despairing appeal: "How long, O Lord, how long?"

Then, at last, the waiting and the yearning had their reward. "She brought forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a manger." This is the glory of Bethlehem. And, here is its tragedy: "Because there was no room for Him in the inn." When at the climax of expectant ages the Son of God became incarnate, humanity, represented in the populace of Bethlehem, extended Him the shabby hospitality of a manger crib. "He came unto His own, and His own received Him not."

Yet, this remembrance of our ancient discourtesy ought not to dim the joy which lightens the heart on this most joyful of days. It should serve only the purpose of warning, lest we commit the errors of our fathers. Nothing of the past, nothing of the present, nothing which may conceivably happen in the future, should be permitted to ruin or diminish our Christian happiness.

We have here—let us remember—a spiritual fact which no temporal fact should be permitted to affect. Since Christ was born, that Heaven, which is our destiny, is nearer and the road, which leads to it, is clearer and easier. Emphasize as the pessimist may the difficulties of the nation and the world, Christmas brings to all of us something which no whim of circumstance can alter; that on the day the Saviour was born the ancient debt against us, contracted by our first parents in the garden, was extinguished, in the Incarnation all humanity was exalted, and hope has grown brighter that after the trials which now loom disproportionately large peace and rest will reward those who have borne them patiently.

Christmas, the bells, the chimes, and the pealing anthems, all the thousand and one manifestations we associate with the season, are all derived from the memory of the manger scene. Since it is the Feast of our Lord, it is also the Feast of His Mother. She was His Mother; hers was the first of the wide world's rejoicing "that a Child was born into the world." It is, too, the feast of St. Joseph. He was the foster-father of the Child. To him God entrusted the well-being of Mother and Child. Since his was the responsibility, he must share the world's gratitude for all that Christmas has meant to the world.

This feast of Jesus, Mary and Joseph is the great festival of the home. As Christmas draws nearer, the thoughts of the wanderers are drawn home—compelled by the nature of their business to remain abroad, feel at this time more keenly than ever the sacrifice they have made in the interest of "success." In Catholic homes parents and children unite in building the "crib," or small altar of commemoration. Over the face of the earth the spirit of Christ Who begged, "Father, forgive them," burns brighter. The spirit of forgiveness moves rulers to grant men in prison one more chance. Man's lamentable inhumanity to man softens, even though it be for only a day.

Hope shining through despair, comfort healing the heart of sorrow, a brilliant light gleaming in the world's midnight—may we never lose Christmas! Yet, lose we shall, let us face the danger squarely, if we ignore the theological fact which endows Bethlehem with significance. Christmas is the Feast of the Incarnation. The Word became Flesh and dwelt amongst us. Vague poetizing about Bethlehem, if it ignores the fundamental religious fact which gives life and substance to the scene, can never solace the aching heart, or answer those questions of the soul which, especially in the hour of sorrow, clamor for answering.

God became Man. The Second Person of the Blessed Trinity assumes human nature. In a definite geographical situation and on a definite historical date a human mother held God in her arms. That truth, and nothing less, will satisfy as an explanation of Christmas. Given faith in that truth, the whole world brightens, and man becomes heir to the peace the angels sang.

Peace on earth to men of good will! It is this peace, the peace of brighter supernatural hope, and a firmer supernatural faith, that each and everyone of us should wish to and pray for one another. "Christ is born in Bethlehem of Juda; let us adore Him!"

A Conference for Christmas Eve

Christmas with its joy for old and young is near at hand, and one of the thoughts that ought to occupy all our hearts is not only what token of affection we can offer to our friends and dear ones, but most of all what gift we can bring to the dear little Infant of Bethlehem. Ah, what indeed! What have we that is worth bestowing? Words are so meaningless. Our good actions are so imperfect. Our hearts—yes, He asks for our hearts—but these feeble, irresponsible hearts of ours are not so much of a tribute to lay in the straw of the manger.

Well, we have one gift that we can make to Him without dismay—a priceless gift even in His eyes. It is a gift that we have ready at hand, and would that we appreciated it as highly as He does. It is the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. The Mass is our Christmas present for the Infant Jesus.

Just think for a moment. We wish to lay before the feet of our new-born Saviour the tribute of our adoration—do we not? Venite adoremus in Bethlehem, we sing in the Adeste, fideles. Then, when we feel, perhaps, that adoration is above us, that only the angels understand how to perform so celestial an act, let us remember that the Mass is the greatest and sublimest act of adoration it is possible to conceive. Why, if all the white-winged angels together and our Blessed Lady at their head united in one great canticle of worship of the Child that is born, less honor and praise would be given Him than is wafted to His throne from a single Mass offered in the Gesu in the obscurity of some side altar. So there is a gift of adoration to offer to the Infant Jesus, a better gift than even our Blessed Lady had for her Divine Son.

We know, although the Mass is above all a reminder of our Lord's Passion and Death, yet the saints and devout writers associate it in a very special way with the Nativity. And rightly so. Does not the Gloria in Excelsis overshadow the Mass from its very beginning, taking up the court of sung to the shepherds on the hillside? Do we not know that the court of heaven is invisibly assembled around the altar at Mass, just as really as it gathered in worshipful adoration in the stable with Mary and Joseph? Do not the poor and humble of heart have the best share in the Mass as the lowly shepherds were the first visitors at the crib?

The Mass has three principal parts. the Offertory, the Consecration and the Communion. See how they all remind us of the mystery of Christmas. For, when the priest offers to the Eternal Father "this immaculate Host" for the innumerable sins we have committed, are we not drawn to the thought of the Son of God offering Himself to the Father to become man to redeem us from our sins? The Consecration in turn brings Him down to earth upon the altar, even as He appeared in Bethlehem, the same silence brooding over all things, the same concealment of His divinity, the same helplessness in the hands of the priest as in the arms of Mary—with the altar for His stable, the paten for His manger, the sacramental species for His swaddling clothes. But the Nativity is not complete without the Holy Magi, and what more like unto their visit than the Communion, when we like the Magi, leaving our homes, guided by the star of faith, come to kneel at the altar-rail before His Infant Majesty with our gold of charity, our frankincense of prayer and our myrrh of self-sacrifice for His dear sake.

This is the spirit of our Christmas Mass. Will we not offer this gift to Him with all our hearts, not once, but often, during this Christmas season, knowing that, though we have nothing else, this is a gift beyond price, a royal gift, a gift divine to lay at the feet of the Divine Child who is born for us.

Prince of Peace

In prophecy the promised Redeemer was announced as the Prince of Peace. Thus Isaiah hailed Him several centuries before His advent. "For a Child is born to us, and a Son is given to us, and the government is upon His shoulder; and His name shall be called, Wonderful, Counsellor, God the Mighty, the Father of the world to come, the Prince of Peace. His empire shall be multiplied and there shall be no end of peace." Indeed such shall be the tranquillity of His reign that "the wolf shall dwell with lamb; and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; the calf and the lion and the sheep shall abide together, and a little Child shall lead them. The calf and the bear shall feed; their young ones shall rest together; and the lion shall eat straw like the ox." In other words, human ferocity shall become tamed and give way to gentleness and kindness. Men shall be changed, so to speak, from wolves into lambs, and from lions into calves.

Peace on earth was also part of the message brought down from heaven on the very night of the Saviour's birth. "Glory to God in the highest; and on earth peace to men of good will" formed the burden of the angel's refrain. Has that blessed pledge been fulfilled? Did the coming of the Redeemer inaugurate an era of earthly peace and serenity? Some may be inclined to doubt. Nor will they experience difficulty in finding examples that seem to bear out their misgivings. Even after the lapse of nineteen centuries there are not lacking among professedly Christian people glaring examples of brutality and savagery. Is the divine promise, therefore, a myth or a mockery? By no means.

The peace foretold by the prophet and proclaimed at Bethlehem is no illusion. Thousands upon thousands have known its blessedness in the past and thousands still continue to enjoy it. Not to all was the promise made. A condition was appended thereto. "On earth peace to men of good will." Peace is for those only who fulfill that condition, who cultivate in their souls a spirit of good will. Such as despise the law laid down by the Prince of Peace and refuse to submit to His guidance, are not men of good will. Living beyond the pale of His benign influence, they cannot expect to reap the benefits of His coming. They and their ilk cannot hope to be transformed from leopards into lambs. The fault lies not with the divine promise, but with themselves. There will be no peace for them, the while they decline to tread the path of peace that has been clearly marked out.

Christ has shown us the way to peace. He came into the world as the Prince of Peace. He still abides with us as the Prince of Peace. Wherever He is esteemed and His councils honored, there peace reigns and reigns in abundance. This is true of nations and communities as well as of families and individuals. But when men forget Christ, when they flaunt His saving precepts, when they abandon the fountain of living waters to quaff from the cesspools of iniquity, then peace quickly vanishes. In its lieu will be found misery, distress and bitterness.

The peace whereof the angels sang is a gift from on high. It is not of this world. It is not a commodity that may be procured in the market place. All the wealth of Midas could not buy it. Neither is it to be identified with pleasure, honors or any other material advantage. It is not born of earth or anything on the earth. Though every human ambition and fleshly craving be sated to the limit, peace may still be wanting. Those who make the mistake in seeking peace in things mundane are doomed to disappointment. Flitting from pleasure to pleasure they may find a few moments of satisfaction here and there, but they will not come into possession of that enduring peace which "surpasseth all understanding."

The peace that the Babe of Bethlehem brought with Him into the world is of celestial origin. Though it be a free gift, unmerited by man, it will be denied to none who desire it. But we must ask it of Him and we must be prepared to meet His terms. It is open to all without distinction, that is, to all who are of good will. The needy may enjoy it no less than the rich, the sick no less than the healthy, the downtrodden no less than the mighty, the obscure no less than the great. Indeed the circumstances attending the Saviour's birth indicate that it is more easily obtainable by the poor, the lowly, the forlorn, the suffering.

During the hallowed days of Christmastide we should fix our minds on the Prince of Peace. We should make ready for Him a place in our souls. We must cast forth from our hearts all works of darkness, for Christ and sin cannot dwell together in the same heart. Then shall we experience the blessedness and joy of that heavenly peace heralded to the shepherds on the night of our Lord's Nativity.

The Christmas Crib

On Christmas the crib at Bethlehem is the center of the world's thought and worship. As we kneel with the whole world at the crib of Christ, we should be conscious of only four persons, Jesus, Mary, Joseph, and ourself. We should ask ourselves, "What does Christmas mean for me?" Does Christmas mean nothing more to me than a mere name, conventionally accepted, conventionally repeated, but conveying no such living meaning as say, the last great public event? Christmas is the hinge of history, the turning point of the world by which is opened a new leaf of life in a fallen world. A King is born: He of Whom Daniel prophesied; "But in the days of those kingdoms the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that shall never be destroyed, and His kingdom shall not be delivered up to another people: and it shall break in pieces and shall consume all these kingdoms; and Himself shall stand forever." (Daniel II. 44). Yet His coming was not announced in thunder, His mission was not illustrated by flashes of lightning; His arrival on earth was told in the solitude of the night in a peaceful and lonely song to the shepherds abiding in the mountains. Emmanuel, God with us, and yet He comes in the lowest form with which miserable humanity could be invested. It was at a period when mankind was raised to the highest point of civilization, in the full noon of imperial glory that Christ appeared. Rome in all her majesty presented an expanse of towers and domes and temples not less bright and golden than those of our own city, and yet we do not find Christ in a gorgeous palace nor in the porticoes of princes. He, whose coming was the expectation of the nations, the star that was to rise out of Jacob, the scepter that was to spring up from Israel, who shall save the children of the poor and shall humble the oppressor, who shall continue with the sun and before the moon, throughout all generations, He who was to rule from sea to sea and from the rivers unto the ends of the earth, has a stable for a throne-room, a manger for a cradle, swaddling clothes for His robe of royalty.

Because He did not come as an earthly king, with all the pomp and royalty, the Jews rejected Him. And yet, after all, although He did come as a child, in the weakness and infirmity of our nature, He did come as a king, and with greater splendor than ever attended the approach of any of the sovereigns of this world. An illustrious train of prophets were His more immediate heralds and ambassadors to the Jews. By a star in the east He was manifested afar off to the Gentiles; for, led by it, the Magi came to have seen His star in the east and have come to adore Him? Nay, the angel of the Lord appeared to the shepherds keeping watch over their flocks by night; and whilst the glory of God shone around them, said: "Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy that shall be to all the people. For unto us is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, Who is Christ the Lord." And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying: "Glory to God in the highest; and on earth peace to men of good will." Thus was Heaven itself subservient to His dominion, and lent its glory to proclaim Him Lord and King of both heaven and earth.

Maker and Ruler of the Universe, the beginning and end of all things is swathed in bands in the feeding trough of beasts. The face of that Infant Child, warmed in that cold stable by the kindly breath of an ox and ass, is the face before which the prophets tell us the mountains melted as wax. He, whose seat is the heavens and the throne of the Cherubim, lies in a manger. Here on the blood-stained earth, at the world's darkest hour, with trouble behind and terror before, between the sword of Herod and the iron heel of Rome, between the ox that had perished age after age that man might be fed, and the ass that had bowed for centuries to blows and burdens that man might be at ease, in the very flesh that had so long endured bruises and stripes, the scourge, the sword, and the spear, the little Babe lay in a hillside stable, born of the Virgin Mother, the Son of the Most High God, Christ the Lord. He who is the splendor of glory and the figure of the substance of the Father, is shivering in the winter blasts. God sends Himself to us in a form that meets our wants. In those tiny hands which He holds out to us, we have what our own can grasp. In those eyes bent on us bedewed with tears, yet beaming with affection, we see divine love in a form we can feel and understand. The same voice that spoke in Sinai's rolling thunder, wails on Mary's chaste breast; the same arm that rolled back the gates of the sea and stopped the wheels of the sun, hangs in feeble infancy around Mary's neck. If He had come to Sinai's splendors, the glory would have so dazzled our eyes that we could not have endured to look upon Him. So He laid aside His mantle of glory beyond the skies and came to us in the sweet, gentle, beautiful human form of a Babe.

So what does the Crib mean for me? It is the fountain of kindness and forgiveness. He is our Peace. From that crib shines a light brighter than that of moon or stars or sun, the light of love, streaming into cold and lonely hearts, kindling all other lights that sweetly cheer.

The Struggle in Spain

At the present hour in Spain, there is being fought out to the bitter end a civil war that has convulsed the Spanish peninsula for the past three months. It is more than a local affair. Rather it has acquired an international aspect, as we all know from a daily reading of the newspapers. Indeed much of the confusion that exists in the public mind regarding the issues in Spain is due to a large extent to certain news agencies. I do not wish to say that all the members of the Fourth Estate are unintelligent and partial in their writings. Yet when the facts are known about Spain, certain ones of them must be judged to be so. Why are the Nationalist forces in Spain adjudged to be Rebels? Rebels against what? The so-called Loyalist Madrid Government, which has betrayed its Republican Constitution and surrendered totally and completely to Moscow. Is this government Democratic and if so to what depths has Democracy descended, when churches may be burned, priests placed before a firing squad and nuns assaulted and then put to death. Why are the forces of Generals Mola and Franco called Fascists. Both leaders have emphatically declared that they are not so. If the Madrid Government is the defender of Liberty, then the word has lost all meaning and Despotism is its proper substitute. It is the misuse of such terms in certain of our newspapers that has confused the whole Spanish issue. Properly understood, these issues tell us that there is being fought out in Spain today, a struggle between Communism and all its deadly forces and the rights of a people to call itself free and work out its own destiny unhampered by Moscow.

Certain issues, then, stand out in the present Spanish struggle, which must be known, if the truth is to prevail. The first act is that not all the workers and peasants of Spain are supporting the Red cause. This struggle is not the Revolt of the Army, backed by aristocracy and church, against the common people. In the forces of Franco and Mola are 100,000 volunteers, gathered from 28 of the provinces of Spain. These volunteers, a well-ordered and disciplined force, are fighting that Spain may be saved from the Red menace. To the Nationalist cause, they are contributing not only their money and their jewels but also their wounds and their lives. Loyal to the Spain that was and shall be yet, their cry is VIVA ESPANA—long live Spain. Long live Christian Spain which wrote such brilliant chapters in European history of the past centuries, and which shall write them again. United-

Great-Free—that is their cry. For it is a travesty on truth to ignore the past history of Christian Spain and to say at the same time that enlightenment only came to Spain in 1936, when the writings of Karl Marx and the tactics of Stalin set out to destroy all that was best. Madrid and Barcelona represent one Spain today. Seville and Valladolid and Burgos stand for quite another. There you will find wild scenes of enthusiasm as Nationalist troops prepare to leave for the battle lines, with crowds of ten, twenty and thirty thousand bidding them God-speed and wishing them quick victory. These crowds too represent the proletariat and the peasantry of the villages of Spain, who have risked all that anarchy and rule without law shall not prevail in their land.

A second misconception about Spain is that the matter of bloody reprisals both sides have been equally guilty. No question but that in the deaths of non-combatants this Spanish civil war has been particularly brutal. Yet the foreign correspondents writing their stories from the provinces and cities held by the Nationalists forces are witnesses to the fact that restraint is the rule and not anarchy the law in such regions. If non-combatants have died at their hands, it is because they have ceased to deserve such a title by their sniping, guerilla warfare. No such truth can be told of the thousands of hostages taken by the Reds and Anarchists. How many of these have died in Madrid and Barcelona. I do not know. I dare say there is nobody who knows. But this we can say that in the territories held by the Leftists, the mere tittle-tattle of a housemaid or a groom has been sufficient evidence to jail so-called Fascist sympathizers. Once they are arrested, they disappear, only the Communists know. Since the struggle started three months ago, "death-wagons" have been nightly visitors to certain homes in Madrid. Red justice that follows is singularly forceful. A drum-head trial, a firing squad and then the charges of arson and bodies into a yawning trench. How many Rightists have died in this manner. Some say as high as 40,000. Add to murder, the charges of arson and pillage, of sacking and looting the most prized artistic possessions of Spain. Nothing has been sacred in their hands. For when the very skeletons of the dead can be torn from the grave that they may be mocked and insulted, surely there is a fiendish madness in Communism that makes it diabolical. All Fascist sympathizers must be terrorized, is the cry of the Reds. But this is a mild word to describe brutalities that range from the violation of contemplative nuns, who have no political views at all, to crucifixion and burning alive.

Truthfully did Largo Caballero, the Red chieftain, say in January of this year: "If one day things should change, the right must not expect mercy. We shall not again spare the lives of our enemies. If they do not let themselves be defeated by ballots, we shall have to defeat them by other means." "The other means" are evident in Madrid, where Anarchist seeks to outstrip Communist in showing his bloody hand.

Thus we come to a third misconception—that the popular Front government in Spain stands for Liberalism. What we understand by Liberalism is criticism, even of the minority, within our Democratic system. Our Liberalism stands for the justice and validity of individual opinion. We Americans are not of one voice in everything. Difference on political and social matters belongs, we say, to the very soul of free and progressive government. Is this the Liberalism that exists in Spain? Hardly. So-called Liberalism there for the past 150 years has been most viciously anti-God and anti-religious. By terrorism whether of word or deed, it has sought to humiliate the Christian faith in Spain. Through power that has come to it in a series of Cabinet formations, it has attacked the Church, first covertly and secretly, then openly and boldly. Bound by no code of morality save the furthering of its own vicious ends, it has wrung from the Church concession after concession. It has appropriated its buildings, destroyed its corporate life, interfered with its educational system and all this while the Church hesitated to move into the political arena to protect its God-given rights. If Liberalism means the shackling and destroying of religious forces, then thank God we are spared this spurious kind in the United States, where tolerance for all is our watchword.

I give you the word of Don Miguel Unamuno, Rector of the University of Salamanca, that the Democratic Liberals in Spain today are not deceived by the Red terror that seeks to rule there. In a recent statement, this great writer, neither a Monarchist or a Christian Liberal, had this to say: "Now we are looking at a fight between Civilization and Anarchy. Madrid does not really represent Democracy. It is Anarchy in its most perverse form. The old Russian Nihilism is not dead. It has just migrated to Spain. All good and honest elements are now ignoring party politics. They are fighting against Communism and Anarchy."

All of which is the solemn truth. Lenin and Trotsky said years ago that one day "Europe would burn at both ends." They were quick to name Spain as admirable seeding ground for Communism. It has been proven that before the elections in February of this year, 40 of the ace agents of the Communist International were sent into Spain to stir up rebellion. They were led by Bela Kun, notorious for his Communistic activities in Hungary in the nineteen twenties. Under his leadership, the United Front was organized: local and general strikes were carried on; reprisals were enacted against the followers of the Right. No means were left untouched to terrorize those who disagreed with Communistic ideas. How well they have succeeded is evident to all. From a minority party in the Cortes, the Communists have taken over the complete operations of the Leftists in Spain. The technique of Moscow is everywhere present; nor could it be denied from the very beginning, despite the fervent attacks of Communist diplomats that Italy and Germany were violating the Neutrality pact, while they were piously standing by and doing nothing. Now Soviet Russia has thrown off the mask. If and when Madrid falls to the Nationalists, they are preparing to make a last stand in Catalonia. Food, plans, munitions and soldiers are being hastened there by Soviet Russia in the vain hope that all may not be lost in Spain.

We who live in a free land must understand Spain and what is happening there, if we would guard our liberties. Mr. Earl Browder may have the effrontery to say that when Communism comes to the United States, it will show itself, by some magic, in democratic forms. Such a statement is sheer nonsense. Mr. Browder deceived nobody—least of all himself, when he makes such a statement. Communism is the very contradiction of Democracy. It stands for a despotism so cruel that Democracy and Freedom die the very moment it is born. If we doubt that, look at Spain today. What was in theory a Republican Government has ceased to be a Government and has developed into a hostile force that murders its own citizens and flings their rights, whether political or religious, to the four winds. Because they fight for these rights, they are called Rebels. I should be glad to be called a Rebel in such circumstances. For it means that I love my home, my family, my religion, my political freedom and for these I would rather die than submit to the rule of Moscow. Spain, therefore, is everywhere today. It is everywhere, because the Communistic International is everywhere. As Americans, let us not forget that.
